DEDICATION

To the patrons, who by sacrifice of their resources and time, and by their loyal support to this institution, have made it possible for us, the students of Fairmount High School to obtain a creditable high school education, with sincere gratitude we wish to dedicate this Memory Edition of our school paper, "The Breeze".

BREEZE STAFF

With our final contribution, we, the Breeze staff, trust that those who have been receiving "The Breeze" for the past year will be sufficiently supplied with "breezes" to tide them over until after "dog days".

Starting out as novices in journalistic writing, we feel that we have benefitted by this year's training and experience and have developed a keener "nose for news."

Our dependable editors Ruth DeWeerd, editor-in-chief and Wilma Maple, her assistant, have toiled endlessly throughout the year to make the weekly editions of "The Breeze", "newsy", interesting and entertaining.

Our outstanding columnists this year were Mildred Compton, who wrote as an observer "Up and down the Halls", and Margaret Gailbreath who was responsible each week for "Personals", and for a time edited the column "Der Musiker".

Marthene Rigsbee has been very preposterous this year by being head lady in the writing of that most cherished column "Miss Probe's Propaganda".

Maurice Pernod and Glen Woolen with their racy sport style have furnished a volume of very interesting and valuable material during the entire athletic season.

Gertie Bryan, the Exchange editor, by using the scissors very industriously on the columns of other papers, contributed to our paper the column "From Other Ink Pots".

Ed Linvill has not only proved his ability in supplying "The Breeze" with humor, and wit, but also in his persistence in braving the positive refusals of business men as advertising manager.

Lillian Smith has been an outstanding feature writer this past year and also has edited the weekly column "Aunt Molly says".

Nettiebell Bush and Floyd Smith functioning principally as inquiring reporters have helped to gather in "The News" for the weekly issues.

Miss Rhoads, as copy advisor and censor, has done her best to pound journalistic style into our "canogans" and the "proof" of our accomplishments as student reporters is in the reading of the columns.

"Little Elmer" with his speedy peck-peck has hammered out most of the long-hand copy for the printer. Mr. Wilbern, as business advisor, has saved us from the hazards of bankruptcy and Gaynel Cooper, as circulation manager, has been our "newsy".

As student reporters we sign our 30 to our last Breeze publication.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1926 the halls of F. H. S. were crowded with many green but lovable Freshmen. Eventually a class meeting was held and officers were elected. Russell Brown was elected president; O. M. Bevington, vice-president; Maxine Albert, secretary; and Pauline Albert, treasurer.

The upperclassmen must have realized our greenness and frailness and desiring us to thrive until maturity spared us by treating us with comparative mildness at the Freshman Reception. However, judging by the scanty refreshments they served we think that they must have believed our stomachs had shrunk considerably since our graduation from the eighth grade. Our kind treatment when Freshmen both by upperclassmen and our sponsors, Mr. Aldred and Mrs. Agnes Wood, has enabled us to go forth triumphantly and become an outstanding class.

After our faithful president had scoured the country and finally found in Indianapolis, material of fuchsia color suitable for a Freshman flag our primrose and fuchsia banner was unfurled. In its original form it was of short and sweet existence but some members of our class still hold in their possession cherished remnants of that glorious flag among their souvenirs. Two parties, one a hamburger fry at Midway Park and the other a party held in the gymnasium and Home Economics room featured the social activities of that first honorable year.

The next year found us registering in the ranks as useful Sophomores, and for some miraculous reason again we chose Russell Brown for our president. Other officers elected were Ruth Bevington, vice-president; Opal Ellingwood, secretary; Paul Leach, treasurer. In this second year we were honored by having Miss Mildred White as one of our sponsors and Miss LaVonne Maish as the other. When Miss White left Miss Marie Johnson filled the vacancy. Under the leadership of our kind sponsors we were prepared in great style to become the junior class of tomorrow.

The main social activity of this year was a Hallowe'en party held in the grove at the home of Russell Brown.

By the time our Junior year rolled around we considered ourselves "The Class" and could look the Seniors straight in the eye and challenge them to deny this statement. At this time we felt that our president who had served us so faithfully for the past two years needed a breathing spell and period of rest from the strain of leading our class, so we elected Paul Leach for our president; Robert Lee vice-president; Mary Jane Nottingham, secretary; Opal Ellingwood, treasurer.

We scratched our heads time and time again—until we were almost baldheaded—in an effort to decide some way to raise money to "blow in" on food for the Seniors to masticate at the Junior-Senior Reception. To acquaint you with the fact that along with our extreme pride we also had a certain degree of humility we wish to inform you that we were humble enough to even consider letting our aristocratic boys be "rag men" and gather up paper in order to obtain money for the reception. Our pride would not permit us to feed the Seniors bread and water so by some hook or crook which remains for us to keep a secret we gave a scrumptious reception for the Seniors. A play entitled "The Empty House" was also given this year, but don't be deceived and think that our stage was empty.

The social activities of this year both proved successful. The first was a bob-sled party after which members of the class present at the party returned to the home of the Albert twins where a number of games were played and delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The second was a hamburger fry held at Hubert's Park, which afforded one whole evening of leisure and entertainment to all present.

The next year it was with great dignity and joy that we welcomed ourselves as quiet, reserved, tranquil, sophisticated Seniors. Feeling that by this time Russell was of strong enough physique to be our president, we again placed him in that position. Other officers elected were Ernest Wood, vice-president; Ruth Bevington, secretary; Opal Ellingwood, treasurer.

Much to our satisfaction we were permitted to "pass out" of the auditorium first and above all others. Oh! how this did nurture our dignity, cause our hearts to throb, and make us feel quite respectable.

As you have probably observed by this time, our parties were never in harmony with our refined natures. The big bang of the first semester was a "hay-ride". After being jolted and jostled about for more than an hour we welcomed the weiners and buns in a very receptive manner. We were all very much surprised that "Sharkey" lived to tell how many weiners and buns he ate. If you would really like to know call at his private office at some other time than office hours so that he will have plenty of time to figure up just how many it was.

At this point in the history we wish to pay due respect to Miss Lucille Lewis and Mr. Wilbern for their faithfulness as sponsors of our class during our Junior and Senior years.

Our class can boast of furnishing some real basketball players, four of whom helped capture sectional honors last year, some good track men, the Hi-Y president, the Tri-L president, the Boys' Club president, the president of the Art Club, the president of the Honor Society, the Editor-in-chief of "The Breeze", and six members of the Breeze Staff, an office assistant, the student manager, several members of the Honor Society, some good wrestlers, some efficient commercial students, members of the band, orchestra, and library staff. Then last but not least we would not forget to mention the efficient yell leader from our class who has served in that capacity for the past three years.

The Senior play given this year entitled, "The Goose Hangs High", was well attended and proved a worthy attainment and success for our class.

As we depart from immediate and close relationship with F. H. S. we wish to express our appreciation of what F. H. S. and its principals, superintendents, and teachers have meant to us and wish to remind you that F. H. S. will always be held in highest esteem by members of the graduating class of 1930.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

The class of 1930 of Fairmount high school held a party and reunion on the tenth anniversary of the wedding of the first member of the class who was entangled in the nuptial knot, Floyd Smith. The party was a glamorous affair, being well attended and well directed. The host and hostess of the evening, by the way, were Charles Lloyd and Pauline Albert, who are to be married as soon as he can borrow enough money for the license. The toast-master was William Smith, the bond salesman. He made many witty remarks, including, that Harry Havens, who smuggled the spirits from Canada, surely knows his pre-war, and that Elmer Jay was now the World's Champion Typist—and on the right end this time!

The tasty cakes were baked by our own Ossie Bevington who bought the bakery in which he worked as a dignified Senior. The cakes were made of flour ground at the Jervis Milling Company by Donald Jervis (in person). Even before this the grain was raised on the farm of Albert Blair, the master farmer, and graduate of Purdue. This almost concludes the story of the bakes, except that you should have seen William Caskey and Paul Dickey eating them (that is, most of them).

Marabel Payne gave a very gruesome interpretation of one of the newest song hits. His song was deeply abhorred by everyone. (Kenneth Scott thought that they were going to take up the collection and fainted. He was carried out by Howard Kerr and James Karnes, who thought the same thing).

Everyone was very much depressed when the secret marriage of Robert Lee was announced. He was remembered as the bashful, girl-shy youth in his high school days. The fortunate lady was Miss Ruth Reasoner of our own class.

Of course Opal Ellingwood and Ernest Wood were happily married. And surely you knew Opal Ellingwood-Wood!

The many pretty flowers were furnished by Ellis Jervis and his bitter half, the former Gertie Bryan. The flowers inspired the famous male-quartette to sing that favorite, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart". The members, Russell Brown, our president, Eugene Kierstead, Earl Retz, and Glen Woollen sang this sweet ballad until the tears were streaming down their cheeks (and the cheeks of most of us, in fact) and their voices broke, making the song even more pathetic than it really was and bringing sobs from Lois Miller and Lillian Smith. Yes, and from Marabel Haisley. The song touched the depths of their hearts (they had never married when they had the chance). Esther Jervis cried piteously, as she had lost her husband but a month before in an automobile wreck. Don Jervis, who had made a fortune in the milling business told her not to cry, and gave her a bottle of gin as a pacifier.

Naomi Phillips wiped away a tear or two in spite of the fact that her fourth husband was still paying his alimony regularly, and leaned her head on Louise Leach's shoulder and swore that if she was ever married again, she would stay in the bonds of wedlock even if it were Eugene Beuoy she was tied to.

Everett Horine and the former Nettibell Bush were there and chatted with Glen Elliott and Charlotte Carter quite as if they had never met before and were on the best terms possible. Matthew Hall was there looking down on the whole procedure and wondering at the laughing remarks about Mary Mill-Hall. (He failed to see that the name was humorous in its sounding, as he always called her Mary). We also saw that Ethelyn Broyles had succumbed to the ardent attentions of Russell Smalley and they had been married by Rev. LeRoy Bowman, who, being slightly amazed at seeing them with a marriage license, read the Lord's Prayer instead of the correct passage and pronounced them man and wife.

As the party was about to end, Gaynal Cooper and Margaret Kimes strolled in to say that they had decided almost too late that they wanted to be present and that they had luckily found Paul Leach willing to bring them in his new cabin-plane, if he might bring Mary Jane Nottingham along.

When asked what she was doing for a living, Maxine Albert merely replied, "Eating", and went on eating.

A cablegram was read stating that Ruth DeWeerd regretted being unable to come, but was too much occupied at solving the international problems at Geneva, Switzerland. Howard Payne, Ruth Bevington, and Gladys Lees staggered in late and explained that they had been chased by some cops for the last forty miles and had drunk some of their own booze during the chase and needed immediate medical attention. They soon forgot this in the excitement and started singing that wonderful melody, "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

At this, everyone got all their belongings that they could find, and started for the door, only to find that the place was surrounded by cops. Immediately I, Thurlow Knight, led them to a secret tunnel which Floyd had shown to me earlier in the evening and allowed them to depart, taking the booze with them for safety.

Everyone said that they had had a wonderful time (they had their fingers crossed, because they, being of the class of '30, wouldn't lie to anyone) and promised to come again some day, if it didn't rain.

OUR FAREWELL TO F. H. S.

The friendly halls of Fairmount High
Seem to us Seniors dearer,
As we see graduation day
Drawing nearer and nearer.

We'll miss the noise of the halls;
We'll miss our friends—their laughter.
But we'll try to hold them as our friends
For then, now, and hereafter.

We'll go on and live our lives,
To many places scatter.
But we'll be the same in one point—
We'll love our alma mater.

BY THURLOW KNIGHT.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The class of '30 distinguished itself by the splendid production of the play "The Goose Hangs High" by Lewis Beach—a splendid portrayal of the real strength of character of modern youth beneath their indifference and irresponsibility.

The roles of the parents were played by Glen Woollen and Ruth DeWeerd whose love and devotion influenced them to sacrifice "to give their children a fine start in life, to educate them and let them know what was good and true". Ruth DeWeerd made an understanding mother and sympathetic wife. Glen Woollen will be remembered for his fine interpretation of an indulgent father. Marable Payne and Russell Brown really lived the part of the twins whose buoyant and carefree spirits cover fine characters which result from good home training and education. Maxine Albert gave a fine impersonation of the grandmother whose aristocratic air and criticisms of the modern generation, and curt remarks amused the audience. The part of the sophisticated aunt was played with great dignity and feeling by Mary Jane Nottingham. Charles Lloyd cleverly represented Leo Day, a social aspirant. Robert Lee as Ronald Murdock was a dutiful son and a handsome suitor. Eugene Beuoy as Elliot Kimberly, the bold politician, roused the sympathy of the audience for the father. Lois Miller was an efficient and lovable family maid. William Smith, in a quiet way, played admirably the genial friend of the entire family. Ernest Wood portrayed beautifully the unselfish character of a wise elder son. Opal Ellingwood was his charming fiancée, who won everyone's admiration by her understanding and helpfulness in the situation. The play was directed by Marie Johnson, assisted by the class sponsors, Miss Lucile Lewis and Mr. Leslie Wilbern. Other members of the producing staff whose work helped greatly in success of the play were: Gaynal Cooper, stage manager; Pauline Albert, house manager; Paul Leach, business manager, and Russell Smalley, advertising manager.

JUNIOR CLASS

The officers of the class elected at the beginning of this school year have proved themselves worthy of this honor. They were: president, Maurice Pernod; vice-president, Mildred Payne; secretary, Fay Wimmer, and treasurer, Herbert Ellingwood.

The first semester the Juniors gave a theater party. This proved to be quite a success as it was somewhat different from any party held by that class previous to this time.

An event in the activities of the year of which the class may be proud was the class play. "Tweedles", a three-act comedy, by Booth Tarkington was chosen, and a very efficient cast was picked to produce it. The cast was: Winsora Tweedle, Mildred Payne; Julian Castlebury, Billy Couch; Mr. Tweedle, Fred Wood; Mr. Castlebury, Paul Rigsbee; Mrs. Albergone, Mary Lois Martin; Mrs. Castlebury, Wilma Maple; and Armbrose Tweedle, Maurice Pernod. The play, presented Thursday and Friday night, March 20 and 21, proved to be a huge success.

A spring class party in the form of a picnic was held at Wawanaissa Glens. The girls furnished the eats and the boys paid the transportation and entrance fees.

Probably the most important event of the whole year was the Junior-Senior reception, the second event of the coming week. The event was in the form of an "air-port party". The gymnasium was very cleverly arranged to represent an air-port. All decorations were in cream and crimson, the Senior colors. Bobbing balloons fastened to the tables and waving crepe paper decorations gave the reception hall a very festive aspect. A delicious cold lunch was served. Between courses several very clever toasts were made by Juniors, Seniors and members of the faculty.

This event in honor of the Senior class received unrestricted effort on the part of every member of the committees appointed to represent the Junior class. We wish to congratulate them in behalf of their accomplishment.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

LIBRARY

Who does not recognize the library whether or not they know any other room in the building? We feel that our library is one of the most beneficial and attractive institutions in our school. A wonderful selection of magazines are daily available to the students of F. H. S. The magazines are bound semi-annually thus adding another feature to the efficiency of the library. Two thousand, three hundred and thirty-seven volumes of books are placed on the shelves of the library for the convenience of the students.

For the past two years Mrs. Nettie Huston has held the position of librarian. We will all agree that the conduct in the Assembly room is much more perfect because of Mrs. Huston's honorable assistants: Stanley Kesler, Ethlyn Broyles, Ruth Jones, James DeWeerd, James Karnes, Ruth Meyer, Ruth DeWeerd, William Little, Marabel Haisley, William Caskey, William Smith, Jean Stout, Frederick Wood, and Mary Jane Nottingham.

In no other institution of the school are more humorous utterances heard and spoken. Such statements as these may be heard if you just tune in at the right time:

"Give me the 'Soul of Abe Lincoln'."

"Too bad—but it's passed on."

Perhaps one calls for a copy of Guiteau's history. When told he cannot get one he reaches out his hand and says, "I'll have a Fite, then."

"Do you have 'The Virginian' in here?"

"How dare you insult us like that? We're all Hoosiers."

"Hey, I want 'Freckles'!"

"You have plenty."

"Give me 'Seventeen'."

"Seventeen what?"

"I want to look at 'Uncle Sam's Modern Miracles'."

"Look me over," says the librarian.

"I want 'Your Job'."

"Why, you impudent student—go to Mr. Crain's office as fast as your legs will carry you."

HONOR SOCIETY

"Oh, Dad! I'm a member of the Honor Society now. Isn't that great?"

"Honor Society? Now what kind of an organization is that?" he asked.

"Why haven't you heard of it before? Our school has had this society since 1925."

"I suppose," he said, "it is some kind of a club."

"No, not exactly. Just certain individuals can become members of this society."

"Well, well, I'm learning more every day," he said, "tell me more about this society. It does look as if it were a very good thing."

"To become a member a student must be a Senior or a second-semester Junior and maintain a place on the honor roll. He must have evidence of high scholastic work and qualities of good school citizenship. A student has to work to attain membership in this society. Although talent plays a part, yet enthusiasm in your work is the essential thing.

"Our purpose is to promote fellowship and encourage continued effort for high attainment among the members and to further high standards of scholarship, athletics, citizenship, and worthy extra-curricular activities.

"Dad, you don't realize how much it means to me to be a member of the Honor Society. It is to me as the Phi Beta Kappa is to a college student.

"Our officers are: President, Ruth DeWeerd; vice-president, Pauline Albert; secretary, Esther Jervis, and Treasurer, Maxine Albert. D. J. Crain is our sponsor.

"Our membership is fifteen. Those members are: Maxine Albert, Pauline Albert, Ethlyn Broyles, Ruth DeWeerd, Orpha Doherty, Esther Jervis, Eugene Kierstead, Matthew Hall, Frank Marine, Wilma Maple, Earl Retz, Evalyn Smith, Russell Smalley, Clyde Seeley and Lura Watts.

"If I'm still in the Honor Society at graduation, I'll become a life member."

"Well, daughter, I am glad to hear that you are a member of this society. My best wishes are that you will always attain this high standard," replied Dad.

TRI-L'S

At the beginning of the year the new officials took their places and worked as follows: President—Pauline Albert; Secretary—Maxine Albert; Program Chairman—Lois Miller; Social Chairman—Ruth Bevington; Service Chairman—Mary Lois Martin; Breeze Reporter—Lenore Maine.

There were several new girls in the club this year and at the first meetings a very successful fourth period was spent in getting acquainted and eating fruits and cookies furnished by the old members of the club.

A Hallowe'en party was given October 31 by the Tri-L girls for the entire school. Prizes were given to the best dressed after the parade. Refreshments of pumpkin pie, milk, and apples were then served to all. Every one had a good time.

On Armistice Day the Tri-L's were fortunate enough to have a war mother, Mrs. Hobbs, as their speaker. Mr. Elliott also gave a speech. Then the school went to the monument erected at Main St. and Henley Ave. in memory of the boys who lie in Flanders Field. At the monument Rev. Hile gave a brief talk and taps were sounded as the flag was raised.

The girls have entertained the boys several times and likewise the boys have furnished the girls entertainment. A radio program and several wrestling matches were given by the boys. Moving pictures on sunshine and health were given by the girls for the entire school.

The girls have been very fortunate in having as their speakers the following folks: Mr. Crain, Rev. Hadley, Rev. Hile, Rev. Hawkins, Supt. Galey, Rev. Jones and also Miss Wilheight and a Ladies' Quartette from Rigdon.

The girls have given a tea for the mothers of the Tri-L girls for Valentine Day, a day for convocation and the most successful style show ever attempted by the school. These entertainments and pleasures were made possible by the sale of Eskimo Pies and by two markets given by the girls. So far the girls have come out on top financially.

During the year the girls have had many pleasures but the greatest of these was the awarding of money and a medal to Mary Margaret Foard, presented by the National Highway Society for an essay written by her. It has taken the state and is now on its way to the national. Everyone wishes M. M. all the success needed.

Another feature which the girls have accomplished this year is the Tri-L orchestra consisting of Dorthea Dale, Evelyn Smith, Olive Johns, Margaret Gilbreath and Mary Roth.

The girls have had a very outstanding year to be recorded in the history of the Tri-L's of Fairmount high school.

GIRL SCOUTS—Troop I

"Attention! I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all.

"At ease. Next, we will review the scout laws:

"First: A girl scout's honor is to be trusted.

"Second: A girl scout is loyal.

"Third: A girl scout's duty is to be useful and to help others.

"Fourth: A girl scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other girl scout.

"Fifth: A girl scout is courteous.

"Sixth: A girl scout is a friend to animals.

"Seventh: "A girl scout obeys orders.

"Eighth: A girl scout is cheerful.

"Ninth: A girl scout is thrifty.

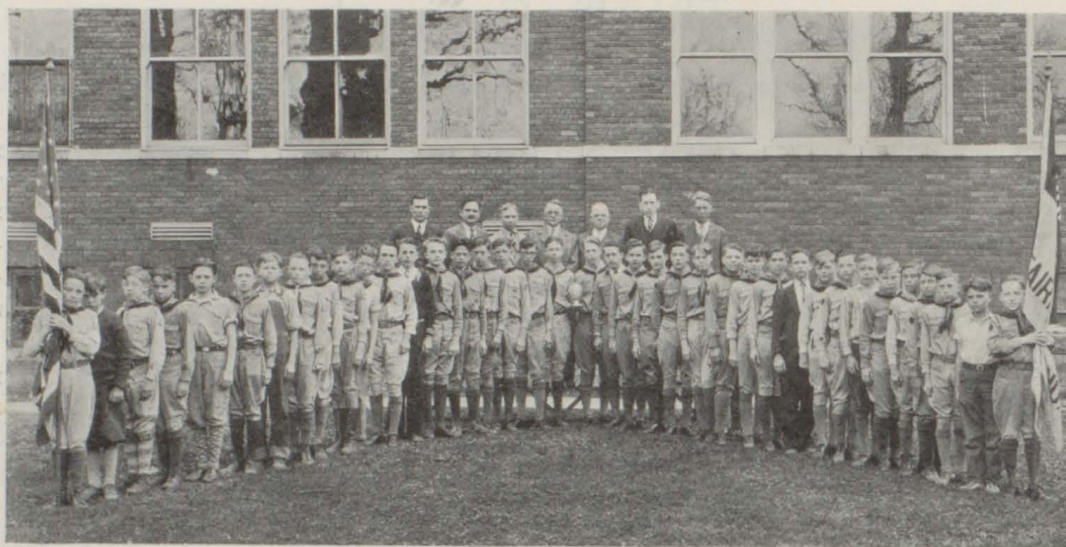

"Tenth: A girl scout is clean in thought, words, and deeds.

"You may be seated. We will now have the roll call to which every girl answers present. We will hear the minutes. Are there any corrections to the minutes? If not, they will stand as read. Is there any business to be brought before the meeting?"

This is a sample of the way the girl scout meetings are carried on. Girl scouts are as follows: Ethelyn Broyles, Esther Brown, Catherine Curry, Hazel Relfe, Harriet Ribble, Idris Harvey, Helen Hackney, Josephine Laffer, Pauline Rybolt, Mary Titus, Wilmuth Pernod, Margaret Rush, Marcia Seale, Delene Florea, Maxine Florea, Betty Segel, Ruth Moon, Jean Naber, Ruth Kimes, Josephine Knight, and Helen Grunden.

The captain is Miss Lucille Lewis; the first lieutenant Miss Helen Hile, and the second lieutenant, Ethlyn Broyles.

The girl scouts have two patrols between which a contest is now being held. They have had a few parties and hikes. The troop has been just organized the past school year, but hopes to interest many other girls in the work. Their object is a better community.

Second Row: D. J. Crain, F. S. Galey, L. H. Ribble, A. F. Dreyer, C. A. Hile, O. M. Mitchell, H. E. McCartney.

BOY SCOUTS

Among the many organizations within our school, none rank higher in efficiency than Troop 20 B. S. A. This is sponsored by the high school and is directed by a real live troop committee as follows: A. F. Dreyer, chairman; F. S. Galey, H. E. McCartney, Lafe Ribble, and Carl Zollman. Our court of honor functions faithfully: Donald Crain, N. C. Coryell, Raymond Elliott, Dr. G. N. Jones, and Victor Selby. The Meshingomesia Council is represented by Deputy Commissioner, Conde A. Hile. The troop is officered as follows: Scoutmaster, Conde A. Hile; Assistant Scoutmaster, Omer M. Mitchell; four junior assistant Scoutmasters, Maurice Pernod, Joseph Seale, Robert Dulhanty, and Burl Adkinson; senior Patrol Leader, William E. Hile. Our four patrols are led by John Renbarger, Wade Dreyer, Donald McCartney, and James DeWeerd. Roger Thomas is scribe, and William Ribble is treasurer.

Each Tuesday is scout day. Each member is expected to wear his uniform and attend regular scout meeting from 7 to 9 p. m. Once each month, the court of honor meets from 8 p. m. after regular scout meeting. Our scouts are rapidly advancing in rank, and many have merit badges in number one to sixteen. We hope to have one or more Eagle Scouts a year from this date.

In the great field meet at Butler University, last fall, our troop won first honors among 5,000 scouts in personal appearance. We were in camp last summer at Meshingomesia Camp and hope to attend a week or more there this season. We were pleased to see our efficient leader, Howard Patton advanced in scouting to Scout Executive of the Bloomington Council. Two of our year's high lights on our social program are Father and Son Feed, and Our Mother and Son Banquets.

We lend our aid at County Fairs, memorial services, Armistice Day, Policing, Ushering and caring for Memorial Park. Our troop numbers forty-one members.

ATHLETICS—Continued

JUNIOR HIGH TEAM

When Mr. Crain issued the call for junior high basketball players, there was a large number who responded. A few of them had a little experience but most of them were green, but willing to learn.

They played eleven games during the season and won six of them, including Marion and Anderson. The boys worked hard and practiced almost every night after supper. The boys have done well and deserve much credit. The next thing we know, some of these boys will be holding down a berth on the varsity. Those who did exceptionally well this year were C. Frietal, A. Pettiford, E. Martin, R. Watts, C. Oatley, E. Smalley, F. Partridge, and others.

TRACK TEAM

TRACK

The call for track brought out about 27 boys most of whom stuck. The squad is strong in such individuals as Brown in the 100 and 220 and broadjump; Kesler in the hurdles and polevault; Dickey in the shot-put and 440; Harry Bush in the dashes, hurdles and broadjump. Our big weakness is in the half-mile, mile, and high jump. However, many boys have been working on the half and mile until our hopes are high concerning next year. Alpha Titus has developed to such an extent that he placed third in a hotly contested half-mile at the county meet. His time was about 2:14.

In a dual meet with Swayzee, the first of the season, we won, 51-48. The meet was so close that it was decided by the final event, the high jump. Our six points in this event gave us the meet. On April 12, we won a quadrangular meet in which Alexandria, Jonesboro, Gas City and Fairmount participated. The final score was F. H. S. 33; Alexandria 31½; Jonesboro 23½, and Gas City 18. Our boys displayed splendid strength and determination all through the meet.

In the county meet, April 19, we did not do so well, getting third place. Rain and cold kept us idle all week. Kesler failed in his best event, the polevault, and Brown was not in his best condition. The big surprise of the meet was Titus getting third in the half-mile. This youngster ran a game race, and inexperience only kept him out of second place. F. H. S. placed second in half-mile relay, and third in mile relay.

On April 26 we journeyed to Montpelier to take part in a Triangular meet. The final score was Montpelier 42; F. H. S. 39; Gas City 18. Fairmount got five firsts, four seconds and two third placings. Our weakness in the longer events held us down. "Stan" had an easy time in the polevault. Pernod and Linvill could have added four points in the polevault had they been able to make the trip.

Coach Crain has turned his gym classes into track teams. The quality of the performances being turned out is remarkable. Some of the boys are turning in excellent results. All have increased their power to do twenty to thirty percent. This bids fair for a strong track team next year.

Points scored in all meets up to date: Brown 45; Bush 26; Dickey 14; Kesler 45; Titus 2; Pernod $\frac{1}{2}$; Linvill $\frac{1}{2}$; Little 1.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Our forty-piece Fairmount high school band of 1929-30, accomplished several very successful undertakings under the direction and leadership of its director, Glenn A. Stepleton.

The band as a whole has proven itself successful in several ways. At all the basketball games the band was present with its snappy music. It was also present at both the Grant county and sectional tourneys held in the coliseum at Marion.

Appearing in a series of three concerts the band gained great popularity due to the fact that their neatness in appearance, ability to produce the harmonical music and their general attitude toward the organization, had its effect upon well attending crowds.

During the Grant County Corn Show the band also appeared in a number of concert programs which gained much praise from the rural residents.

At the Centennial celebration the band was a feature entertainment for the great crowds which swarmed the streets. The entire band took part in the parade, which was held during the afternoon.

Probably the most colorful entertainment which the band presented was the "Suwanee River Minstrel", in which only the band members took part. The entertainers consisted of a double quartet and a very well chosen cast for an old southern plantation scene, called "Suwanee River Nights". A matinee was given for the benefit of the students and the main performance was given in the evening before a full house.

The student body enjoyed numerous concerts presented by the band at convocations.

Second place in Class B bands was awarded our group when they played at Muncie in the central district music contest on April 19. This honor entitled them to enter the state meet on May 2 and 3 at Elkhart.

ORCHESTRA

First Row: Dorthea Dale, Margaret Gilbreath, Mary Roth, Olive John, Mildred Todd, Doris Morris, Margaret Kind, Harriet Ribble, Ruth Moon, Ruth Retz.

ORCHESTRA

Although our orchestra has not grown noticeably in numbers this year, the instrumentation has been much better balanced than in preceding years. This year we have three first violins; four second violins, two clarinets, two trumpets, three trombones, one bass, one flute, one cello, two drummers, and a piano, making a total of twenty pieces.

Besides playing programs which have been prearranged we have served many times just as filler on very short notice. The orchestra always stands ready to furnish music for school or community and programs of every sort.

During the past year the orchestra has played for the magician's performance, the Senior play, the Junior play, corn show, commencement and baccalaureate besides for numerous convocations. We played for three of the programs of the corn show. One of which was the banquet, which was the climax of the show. There were 300 people present.

There have been several new pieces added to the former collection of orchestra music.

This year we have studied several different types of music, classical, semi-classical, popular, music from the romantic period and descriptive music.

With the close of this semester we are losing three members of the organization who are Seniors. This leaves the organization practically intact for next year. With the promise of a part time violin teacher for next year we are confident that our string section will be greatly strengthened.

Since this has been the first year for Mr. Stepleton as music teacher in the Fairmount schools he has hopes of making really great progress with the orchestra next year.

CHORUS

The chorus was first organized by R. L. Bird in the fall of 1926. Since then this school has maintained the organization.

This year we had a new director, Glenn Stepleton. He has proved a very successful instructor because of his extraordinary talent and ability in this work.

The first semester our chorus was composed of seventy-nine voices. This was too large a membership to give individual work and accomplish much.

The second semester a new plan was tried. Each voice was tested. Students receiving a certain grade in the test were admitted into chorus. It is now composed of forty-eight members. Much work has been accomplished. We have appeared in the Community Christmas and Good Friday programs.

The officers for the year are: President, Ethelyn Broyles; Vice-President, Maurice Pernod; Secretary-Treasurer, Wilma Maple; Pianist, Martha Julian.

The personnel is: Soprano: Irma Beuoy, Helen Bevington, Gertie Bryan, Ella Mae Dye, Dorothy Felton, Ima Jean Gilbreath, Helen Hackney, Josephine Knight, Dorothy Laughlin, Ruth Moon, Doris Morris, Kathryn Pernod, Elizabeth Wilson; Alto: Ethelyn Broyles, Ida Marie Carey, Dorothea Dale, Mary M. Foard, Ruth Himelick, Janis Knight, Wilma Maple, Lois Miller, Norma Nickolson, Harriett Ribble, Maxine Riley, Mary Roth, Frances Smith, Delores Stroup, Mildred Todd, and Mary Williams; Tenor: Harold Bowman, Eugene Kierstead, Edwin Linville, Frank Partridge, Maurice Pernod, Carlos Reed, and Carleton Smith; Bass and Baritone: Eugene Beuoy, Phillip Comer, Billy Couch, Herbert Ellingwood, William Hile, Cedric Little, Albert Norton, Earl Retz, Paul Rigsbee, Everett Shane, and Fredrick Wood.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club was organized at the beginning of the school year 1929-1930, by Miss Maish, sponsor of the club. The officers elected by the club were: President, Reba Corn; vice-president, Elizabeth Wilson; secretary, Doris Rogers; treasurer, Mildred Davis; Breeze reporter, Pauline Titus.

The club was divided into groups each group being responsible for one program. One of the programs was given over to a talk on tie and dye work which was very interesting, as well as helpful. Other features of the programs were readings, games, and contests.

At Christmas time all enjoyed a social. Each girl brought a gift for exchange and also sandwiches and fruit for a pot luck dinner.

The work done the first semester was embroidering, each girl working on whatever she cared to.

When the club was organized the second semester so many of the previous officers had withdrawn their membership that it was decided to elect new officers. The officers were: President, Reba Corn; vice-president, Dorothy Hayes; secretary, Agnes Keller; treasurer, Dorothy Laughlin; Breeze reporter, Beatrice Pearson.

The program committee, Leatha Mason, Dorothy Laughlin, and Beatrice Pearson furnished many interesting programs consisting of vocal solos, games, contests, stories, and readings. The social given this semester was an April Fool party sponsored by the social committee—Mabelle Holloway, Pauline Holloway, and Marian Bliss. Games and contests were enjoyed by all. At noon a lunch was served to the club.

The majority of the club made oil cloth pillows which were in the shape of a basket and were very pretty. Other members either worked on their class sewing, or embroidered.

The club is very interesting as well as a club in which to gain useful information.

SENIOR DRAMATIC CLUB

First Row: Titus, Mann, Sloderback, Ricks, Pernod, Pemberton, Kimes, Gaddis, Sellers.
Sixth Row: Hall, Payne, Wood, Bryan, Woolen, Dye, Little, DeWeerd.

SENIOR DRAMATIC CLUB

Due to the large membership of the Senior Dramatic Club this year it was necessary to divide it into two sections. Group 1, with Miss Marie Johnson as sponsor, and Group 2 with Miss Ramona Rhoads as sponsor.

The officers of Group 1 were: First semester, president, Frederick Wood; vice-president, Ruth Meyer; secretary and treasurer, Margaret Jean Stout; Chairman program committee, Ruth DeWeerd. Second semester: President, Glenn Woollen; vice-president, Ruth Meyer; secretary and treasurer, Stanley Kesler; chairman program committee, Marabel Payne.

The officers of Group 2 were: President, Russell Brown; vice-president, Mildred Compton; secretary and treasurer, Lois Miller; chairman program committee, first six weeks, Maurice Pernod; second six weeks, Orpha Doherty; third six weeks, Martha Julian; fourth six weeks, Margaret Gilbreath; fifth six weeks, Margaret Gilbreath; sixth six weeks, Elizabeth Wilson.

Many very interesting programs were arranged by the program committee and the members of the club were very willing workers. Programs were often made even more interesting by the two groups entertaining each other. Also the music club exchanged programs with the entire club.

During the year two very interesting demonstrations were given by Miss Rhoads. Several good plays and stories were read to the groups. Also articles on the association of movie actresses with one another in Hollywood, the modern movie, and the evolution of dramatic art in the world were presented.

Although the impressive play "Why the Chimes Rang", which was effectively presented at the Christmas convocation, was not specifically a dramatic club production, it is interesting to note that all of the cast were members of either the Junior or Senior dramatic clubs.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

THE TYBOSH CLUB

The Tybosh Club was organized at the beginning of the school year of 1928-29 and is composed of commercial students taking typing (ty), bookkeeping (bo) and shorthand (sh). The first year the enrollment was 14, and now it boasts of 23. We feel this is a growing organization and a benefit to the school.

The first semester a keen party was pulled off by means of which we all gained the pleasure of seeing the new Paramount Theatre at Anderson but we do wish they would light their "Lanterns" to show we commercial students the way about in a strange town.

The president for the first semester was Elmer Jay and the second, Robert Lee.

The commercial club sponsored the commercial contest held here April 1. The winners in this contest were: Typing I, Lois Miller, Mary Agnes Kimes, and Edwin Linvill; Typing II, Ethelyn Broyles, Margaret Kimes and Elmer Jay; Shorthand, Mary Jane Nottingham, Lura Watts, and Mary Lois Martin; Bookkeeping, Ethelyn Broyles, Margaret Kimes and Charles Lloyd. These people composed the commercial teams which went to Anderson for the district meet April 12. The beginning typing team placed first and the bookkeeping team won second place. The beginning typing team represented us at the state meet at Muncie.

The commercial club sponsored a picnic for the department May 13 at Hubert's park after which the commercial club had a real party with ice cream and cake at the home of our worthy sponsor, Mr. Leslie E. Wilbern to whom, due to his untiring efforts in respect to his work with us, we owe the success and good name of the club.
