Two Faces

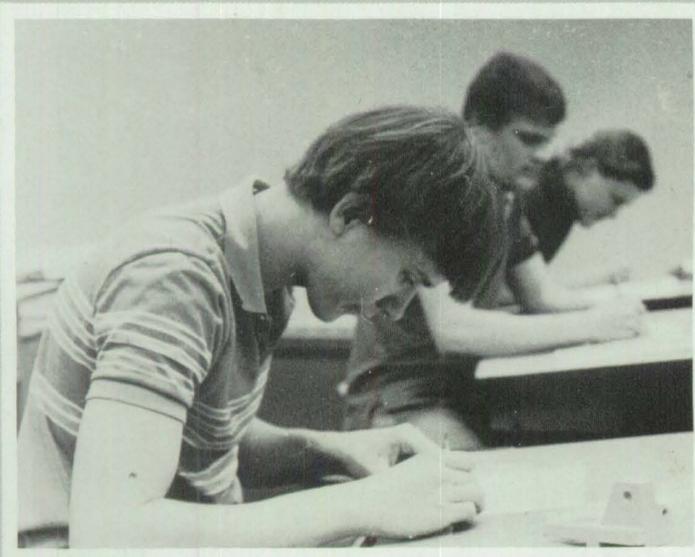

The students at Madison-Grant, like those at other schools, have two personalities: the humorous and the serious.

The TWO FACES of M-G are shown in many ways throughout each day. In the mornings, friends gather together and walk around the halls. Other students can be found in first hour class doing last minute homework.

During the school day, the TWO FACES of M-G are evident in many varieties also. One moment a student is learning a zany word of the day. Next, he may be balancing a chemical equation.

When three o'clock arrives, the TWO FACES of M-G appear once more. Some students run to their cars where they are headed for work, home, or somewhere to meet friends. Other students who choose to take part in the school's sports and clubs, find that they must remain at school for many more hours.

So whether it be a person offering a bar of soap to gain admission into a basketball game, or friends gathered for an all night study session, Madison-Grant students add excitement to each school day.

More Than Books and Grades

Although it may seem like it, students do not spend their whole life in school. Many students spend a lot of time after school for sports, clubs, or for make-up work. However, these students usually find time throughout the week to manage a social life too.

After practices and meetings are over, students may attend the school's athletic events, choir programs, or school dances. There friends can meet with each other, relax, and enjoy themselves.

During the weekend, Madison-Grant students may be found going to movies, shopping, or cruising around the mall. Many students hold part-time jobs and spend numerous after-school hours working to earn extra money.

As the weekend hours disappear, and the inevitable Monday morning creeps closer, students find time to do homework and get ready for another busy week of school and friends.

STUDENT LIFE

School Pride

It was "M-G Argylls, the best" as enthusiastic fans cheered the Argylls throughout exciting athletic seasons.

Many of the activities scheduled during the year were meant to promote school spirit. Neither rain, sleet, nor snow stopped the crowds as they backed the teams with their loyal cheering.

Argyll spirit was also reflected as students wore outlandish clothing on spirit days. Styles ranged from new wave to nerds. On different occasions students wore garbage bag outfits, flashing sunglasses, and purple hair.

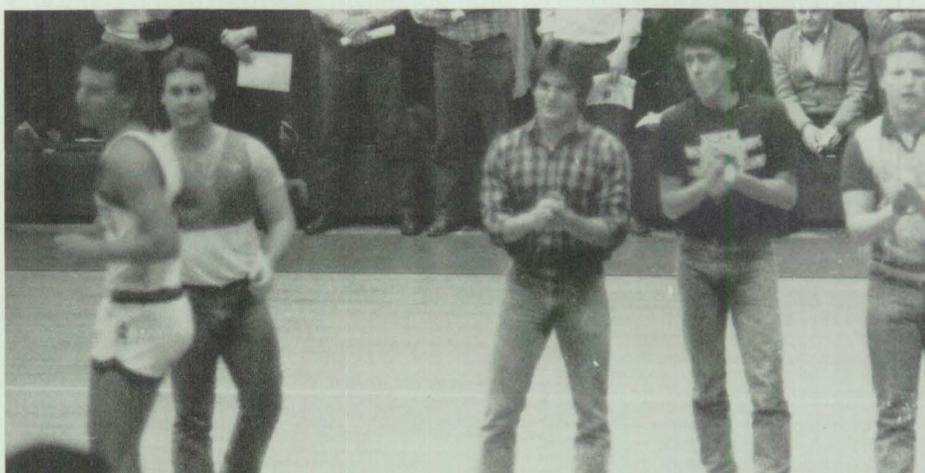

Whether winning or losing, the Argyll teams were supported by these dedicated fans. Through Argyll enthusiasm and school pride, team members were given that strength to endure long grueling practices.

Spirit keeps our school alive and compels each to strive to prove his excellence in all areas.

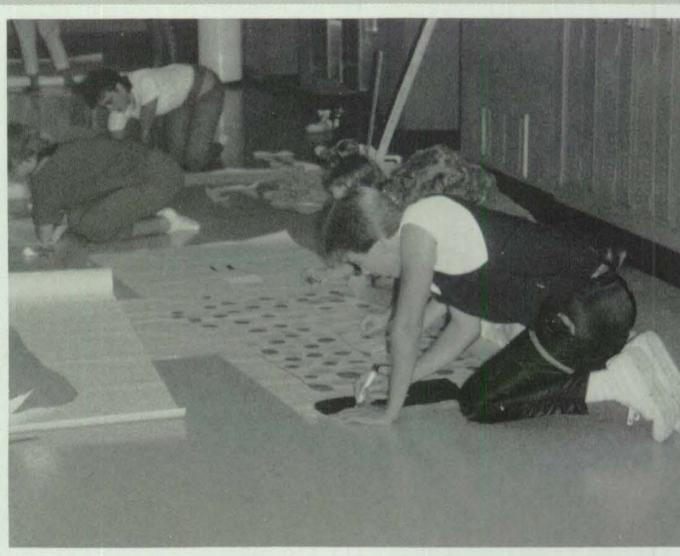

The M-G fans, team members, coaches, cheerleaders, and student body helped to MAKE SPIRIT AT MADISON-GRANT HAPPEN!

Crowning Events

Competitive. Busy. Exciting. These words described Homecoming Week 1984. The battle between the classes was fierce, but the senior class overcame the obstacles and captured the Argyll Horseshoe.

Throughout the week, students were very active. Many, working on the hall decorations, came to school early and stayed long after school was dismissed.

The hallway decorations were elaborate. The senior's hall, decorated like a Barnum & Bailey circus, won first place. Its theme was "Argylls, Masters of the Ring." The banner theme of the same title was won by the senior class also.

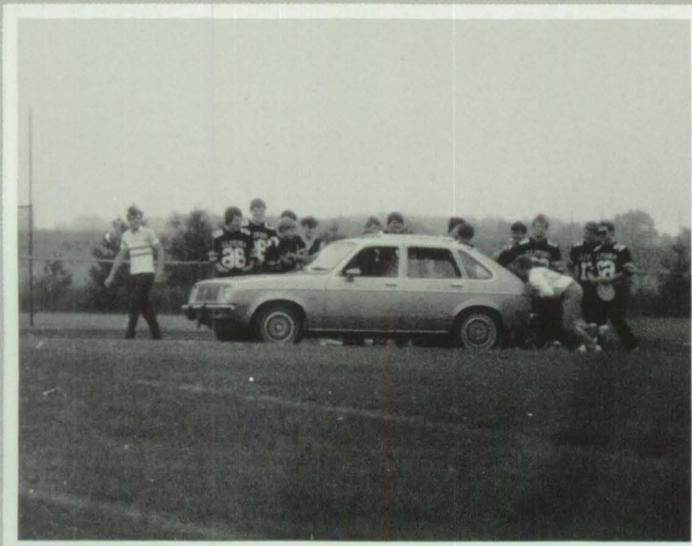

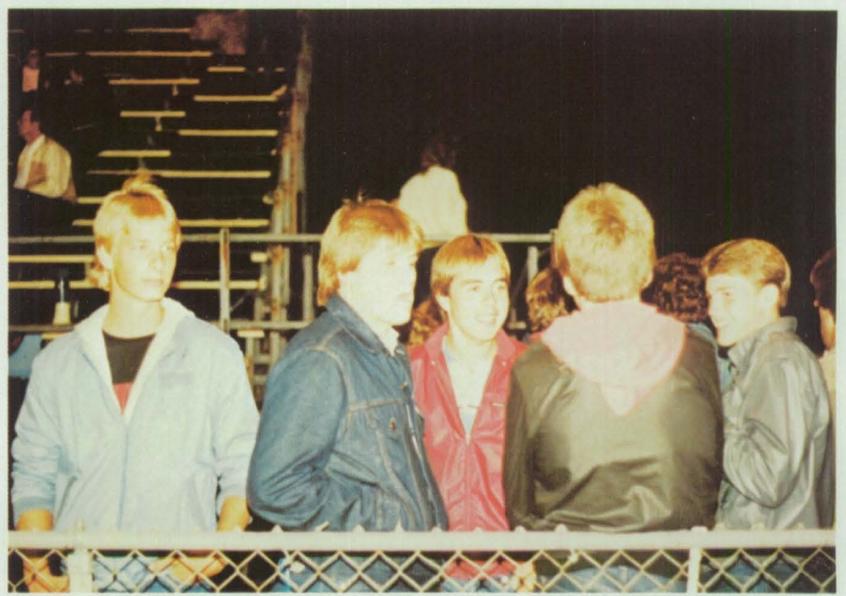

The week's activities ended with Friday night's game and half-time. The Argyll football team surged ahead in the fourth quarter. Down 26-7 in the last seven minutes of the game, the Argylls made three touchdowns to bring the cheering Argylls to a 27-26 victory over the Peru Tigers.

During half-time events, Seniors Charisse Fox and Keith Callahan were named Homecoming Queen and King. The other candidates were: Jamie Eastburn, Shelly Smith, Andy Hoppes, and David Short.

Argylls had a good reason to be proud of the team and of the many events in this 1984 Homecoming year.

Recently, students had the opportunity to vote for their favorite interests. The votes for favorites were close in some categories, while almost unanimous favorites were found in other categories. Some favorites among the students were even surprising. The survey questions ranged from such items as naming favorite cars, to selecting favorite comic strips and cartoon characters. These were the results of the survey.

ACADEMICS

Math

Mathematics is a course especially helpful for those students in technical fields. Engineering, accounting, or medicine careers require extensive knowledge in math areas. Mathematics is also important in everyday living. A good math background provides fundamental tools needed for tasks such as balancing a checkbook or determining the area of a room.

Included with the math department are computer classes. For only $895.00 a 64K Apple IIe terminal monitor and disk drive may be purchased. Presently, the computer room has several computers. Any person with expertise in handling a computer may use the terminals from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each school day. Various student aided learning software and math practice programs are available.

M-G students are required to take a minimum of two semesters of math. These semesters may be scheduled at any time during the high school years. There is no particular topic requirement, the choice is left to the student.

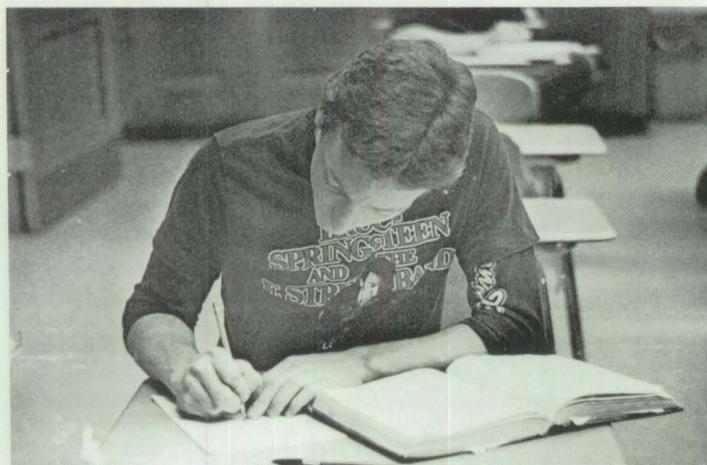

TRACEY Morgan, sophomore, works on her math assignment.

SCOTT Hanes and Marla Jessie work on their algebra homework during class study time.

MR. Bach helps senior, Kim Coder, work on a computer program.

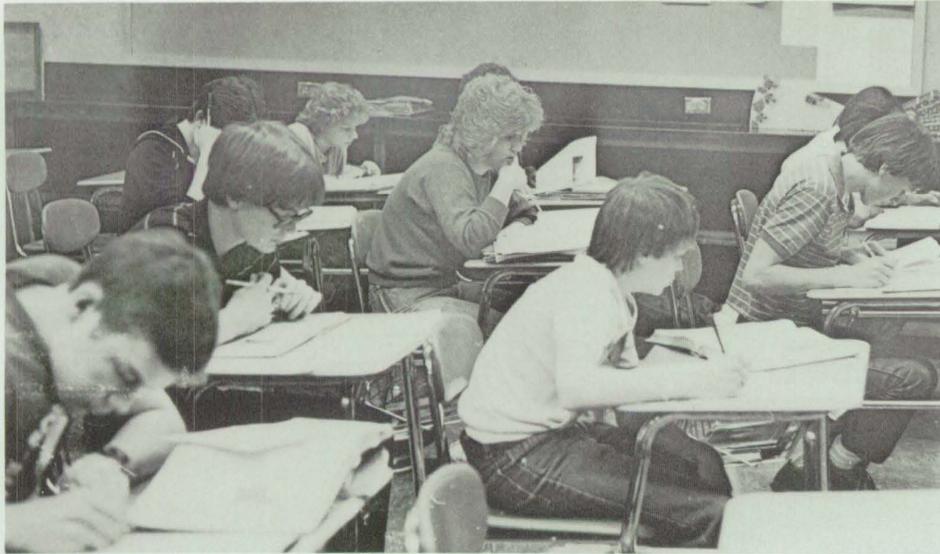

JUNIOR, Billy Robbins, concentrates on his math.

THE camera catches junior, Christian Fox, by surprise.

FRESHMEN biology students answer some tough questions.

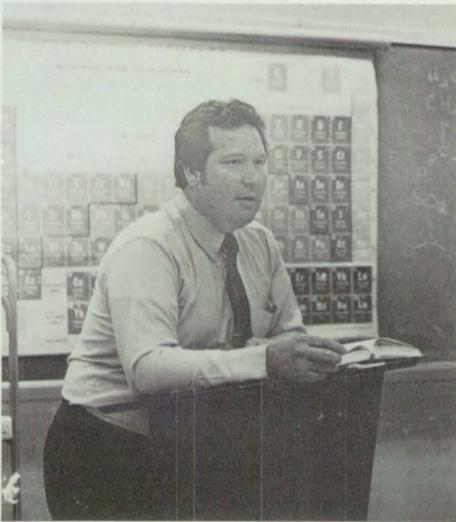

Science

Students who take science classes have the opportunity to learn about the natural world. Topics range from chemistry to the dissection of different animals.

Science activities include making such items as plexiglass, rubber, ether and batteries. Demonstrations add excitement to class, especially when contact explosives are used. Hydrogen sulfide with that memorable rotten eggs smell is also frequently used.

Learning also takes place outside the classroom. Over Teacher's Institute, six seniors and Mr. and Mrs. Earnest went to the Great Smokey National Park. Students spotted five bears and hundreds of deer in the wild. The highlight of the trip was Cades Cove — a mountain valley of spectacular beauty.

Biology is the only mandatory science class for M-G students.

ERIC Wise and Brent Small listen to some interesting facts about chemistry.

MR. Earnest expresses his opinion about a comment in class.

CHEMISTRY students watch an interesting experiment.

STUDENTS in Mr. Martin's microbiology class gather for a group discussion.

BIOLOGY students review with each other before the test.

English

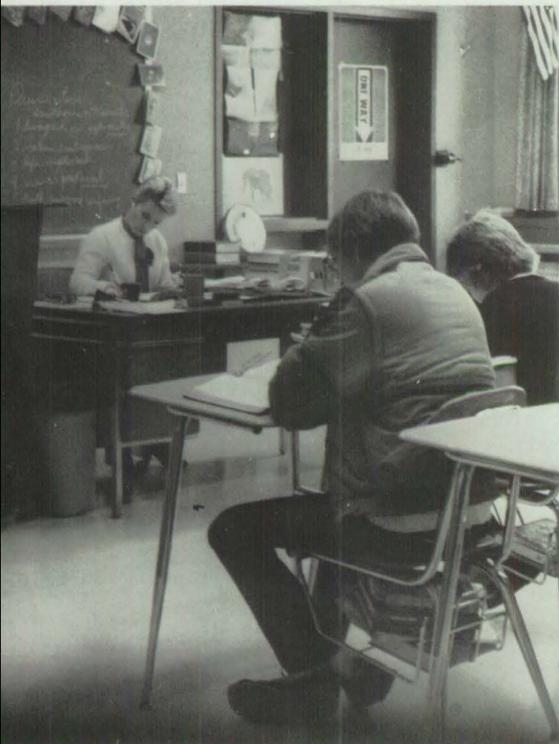

Students at Madison-Grant are required to take three and a half years of English. Students are exposed to topics such as grammar, composition, vocabulary, and literature.

This year the English Department selected new textbooks. The literature books provide a variety of poems, essays, plays, short stories, and novels. Supplementary material is also used. Freshmen may find themselves reading SOUNDER, or THE MIRACLE WORKER; sophomores BREAKING AWAY; juniors HUCK FINN; and seniors OTHELLO or AND THEN THERE WERE NONE. Many of these works have been recorded on video tape. Mrs. Hull comments that it is important to visualize a work as long as video use is tempered with discretion.

In addition to literature, the basic parts of speech and fundamental composition skills are presented. Principal Martin visited Mrs. Dosh's freshman English class and taught students how to write business letters. In academic junior English, students practiced writing their own epitaphs.

ENGLISH students are engrossed in grammar.

READING time is given for these English students.

MRS. HULL keeps busy during one of her English classes.

LORI Lewis finishes an assignment.

TRACI Bayless listens carefully in class.

History

The history department of Madison-Grant has a wide range of classes one can take to broaden his knowledge. Students learn information from the pilgrims to the ways of present day life.

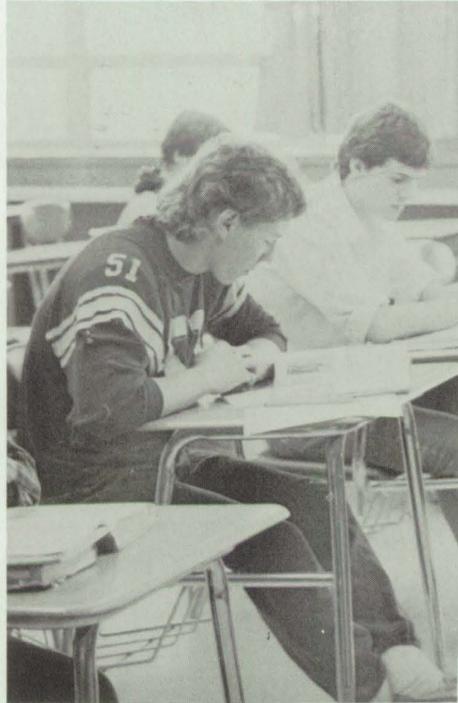

There are many different classes a student may take such as economics, government, introduction to social studies, early civilization, world conflicts, geography, psychology, sociology, and U.S. history.

The seniors of the government class learned how the government is run and learned how to fill out tax forms.

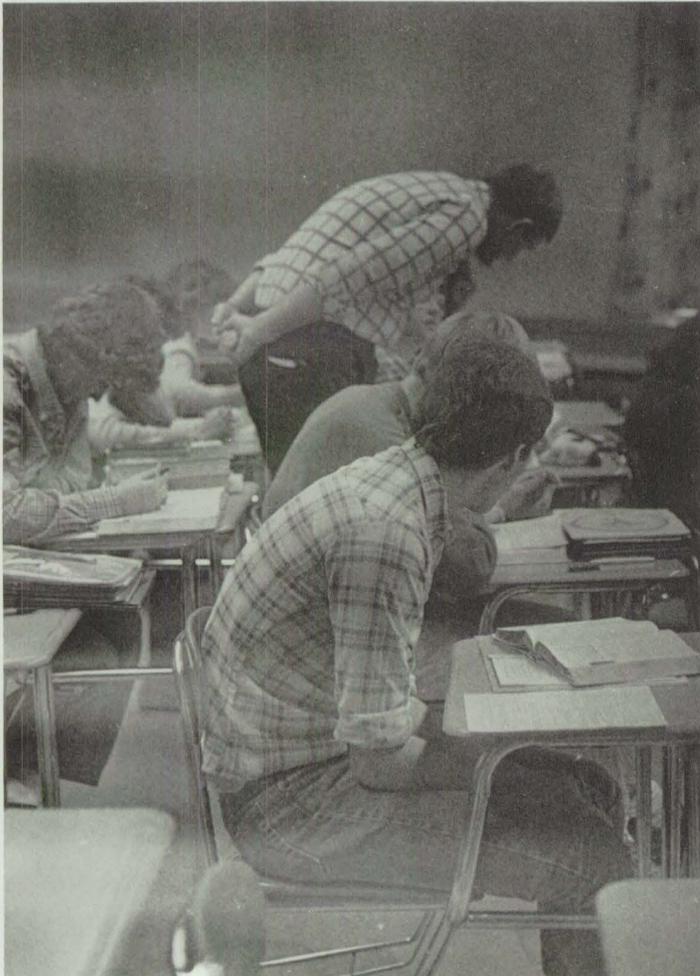

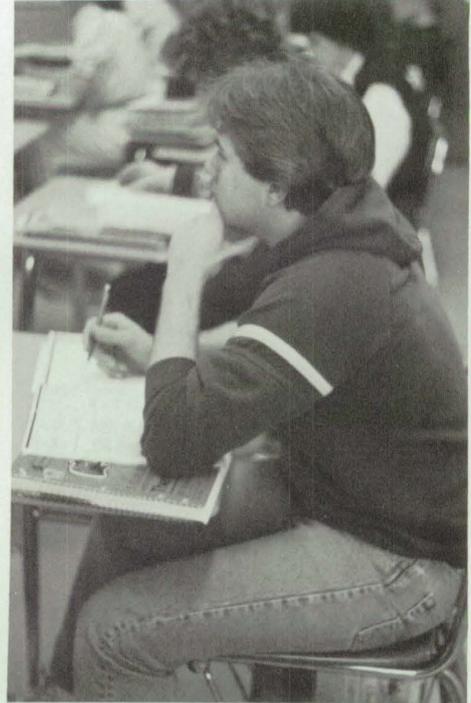

The introductions to social studies class learned first-hand how the court system works. Students acted out a court scene with each student playing a part.

U.S. history students were taught our U.S. heritage. Students had the chance to study the events of the past that have helped to shape what the U.S. is today. These pupils also had chances to use their new knowledge during debates, review games, skits, trials, monopoly-type games, and many more fun, educational classroom activities.

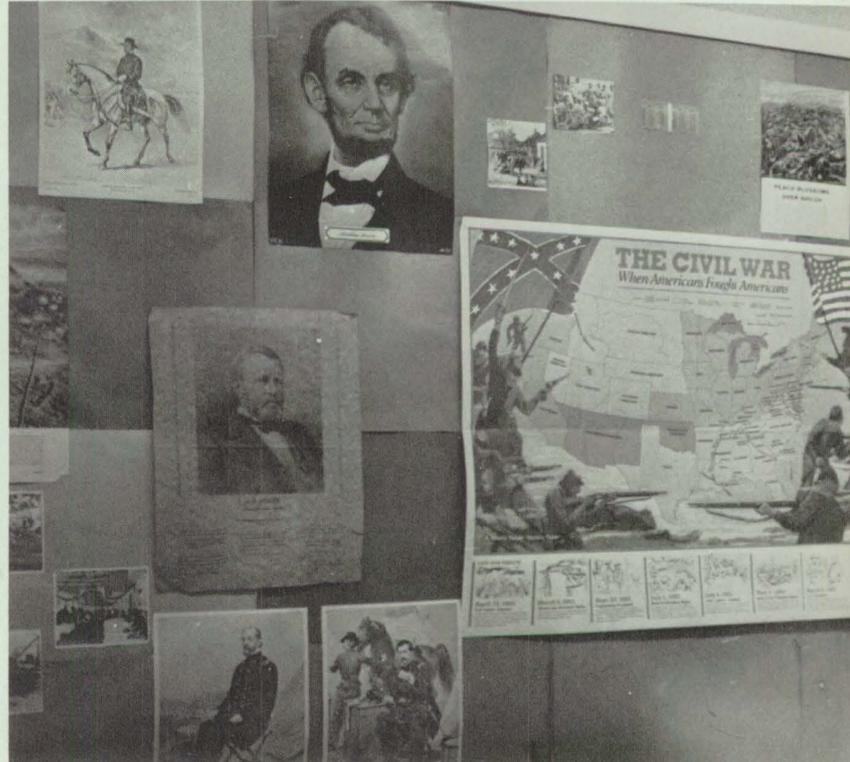

STUDENTS read over their chapter in world conflicts.

ROB Felver listens intently in government class.

MR. Bennett assists his students in U.S. history class.

THIS is one of the many bulletin boards that Mr. Bennett displays in his class.

Foreign Language

The foreign language department offered students a choice of studying either the French or the Spanish language. During these classes, students also learned the different traditions and the cultures of the country.

The French students had crêpe parties, skits, and games. This year, some students had the opportunity to visit France during their spring break vacation.

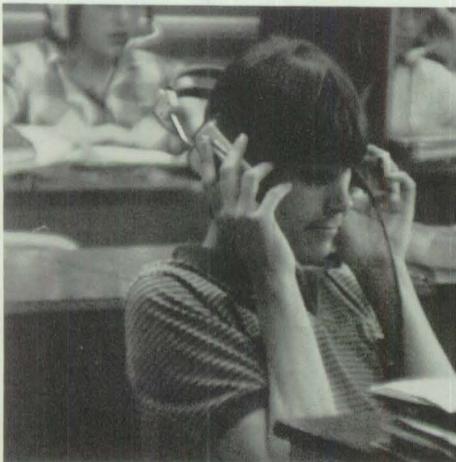

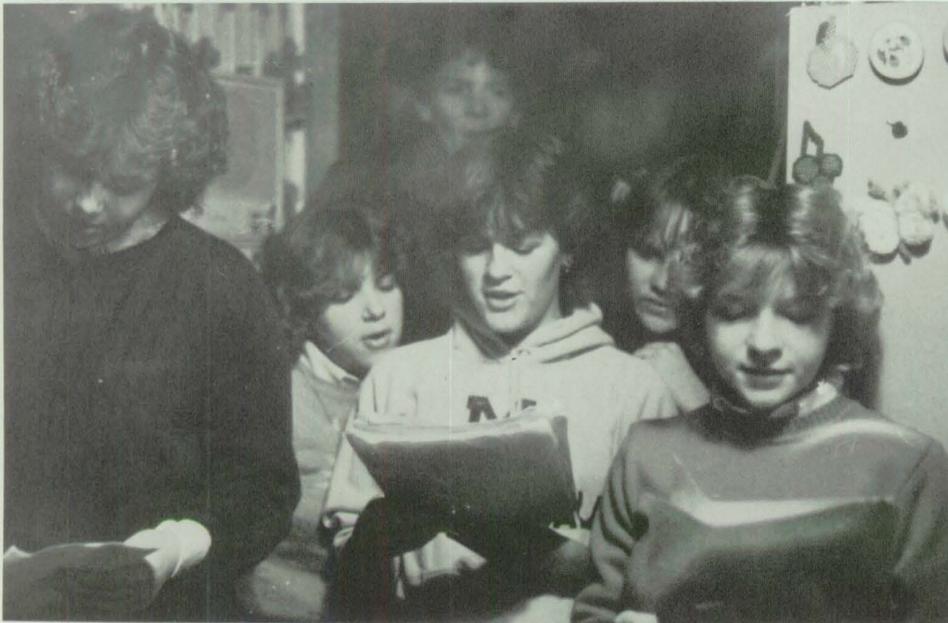

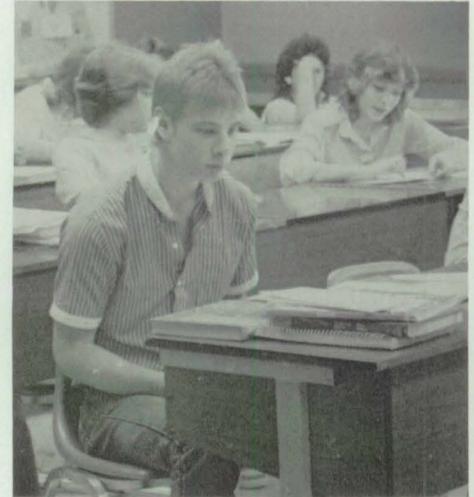

The students who took Spanish classes found themselves both writing and performing commercials and skits and singing songs. In the past, and again this year, some students went on a trip to Mexico.

Both language classes offered viewpoints on different life-styles. These classes exposed students to different customs and value systems different from those found in the United States.

Any student planning to attend college is encouraged to take a foreign language class. Many colleges today require students to have a foreign language background.

BRETT Horine concentrates on finishing his Spanish I assignment.

SPANISH students entertain others by singing Christmas carols.

SENORA Melson uses her hands to dramatize her lecture to her class.

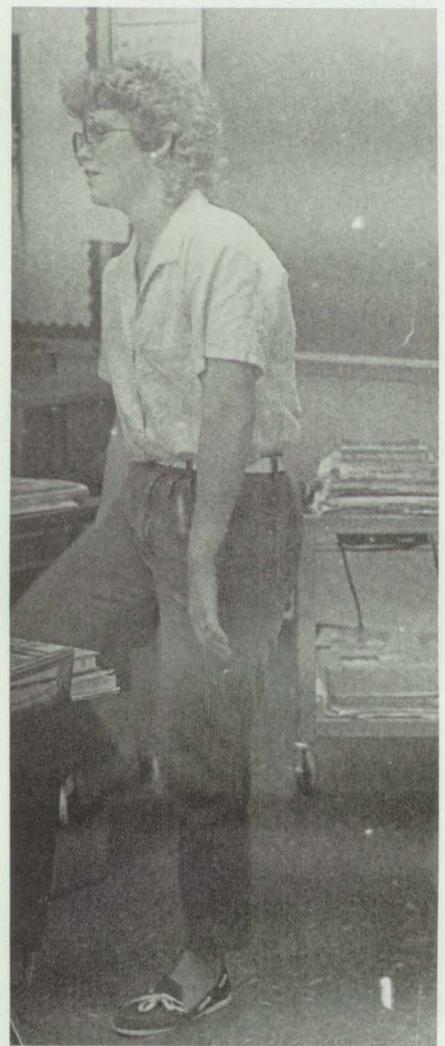

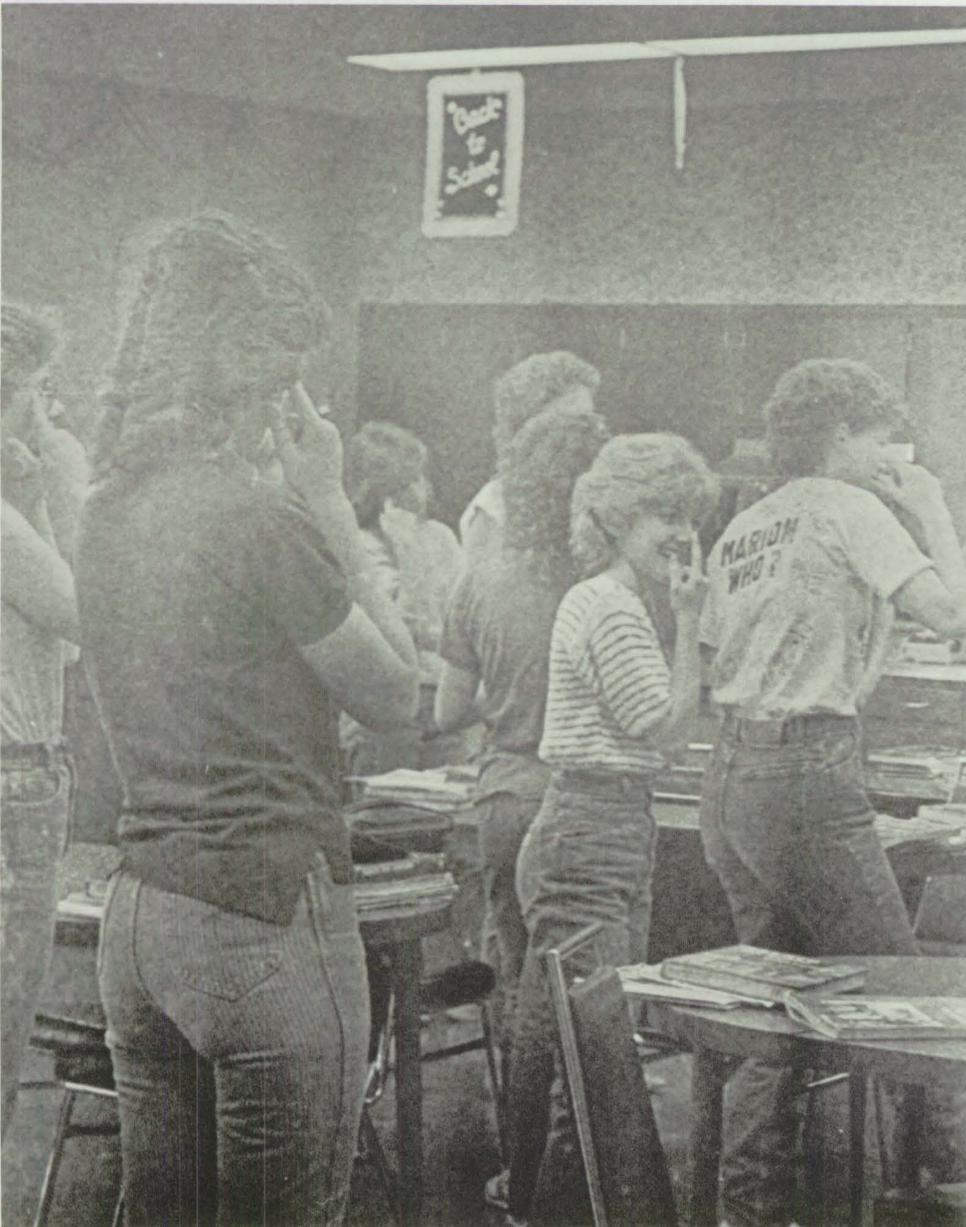

KELSEY Bias listens attentively to the recorder during his Spanish I class.

MADAME Jackson uses an illustration to emphasize her point to her French students.

FRENCH students make and sell buttons during lunch periods.

ALICE Gibson participates in her French class' activities.

FRENCH I students play "Simon Says" in the French language.

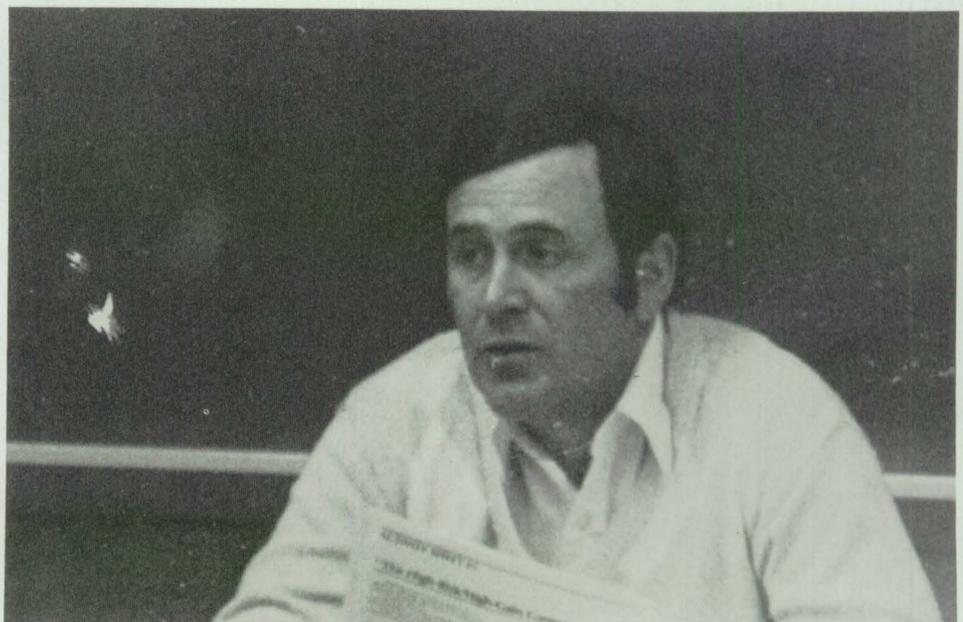

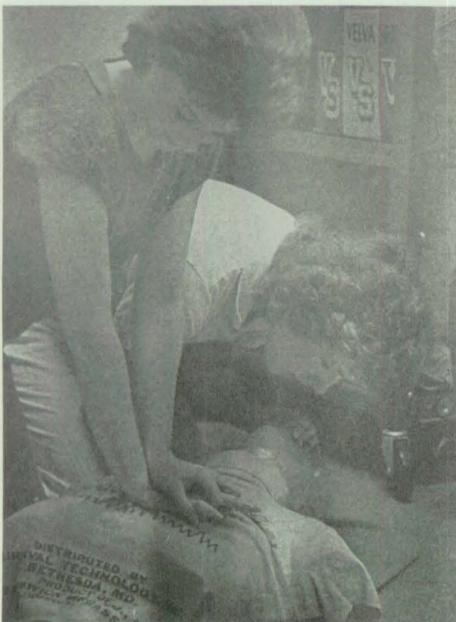

Health

Health class, a one semester course, was required of sophomore students at M-G. Health students learned more about the physical and emotional development of human beings, positive self-concept, clarifying personal values, drinking, smoking, boy-girl relationships, drug use, and first aid techniques. Students watched a variety of informative movies. Students participated in discussions concerning different ways to deal with the pressures of stress.

The health field holds a wide variety of job opportunities while providing fundamental knowledge to those students not entering a health career.

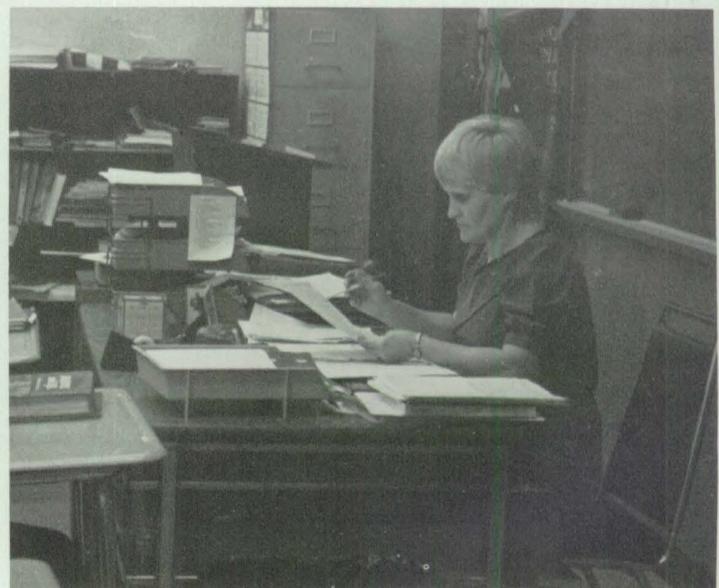

MR. Strasemeier tells his health class the serious effects of drug abuse.

LESLIE Davis listens attentively in health class.

KRISTIE Fruitt and Lori Lewis learn C.P.R. in health class.

HEALTH students study for tomorrow's test.

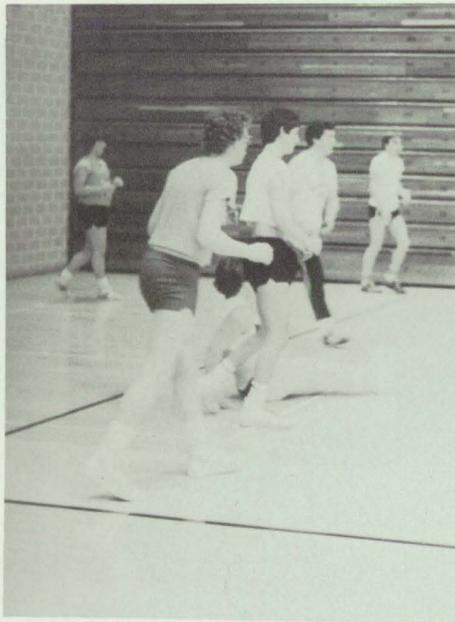

MRS. Mercer catches up on some work while the students do their assignment.

Physical Education

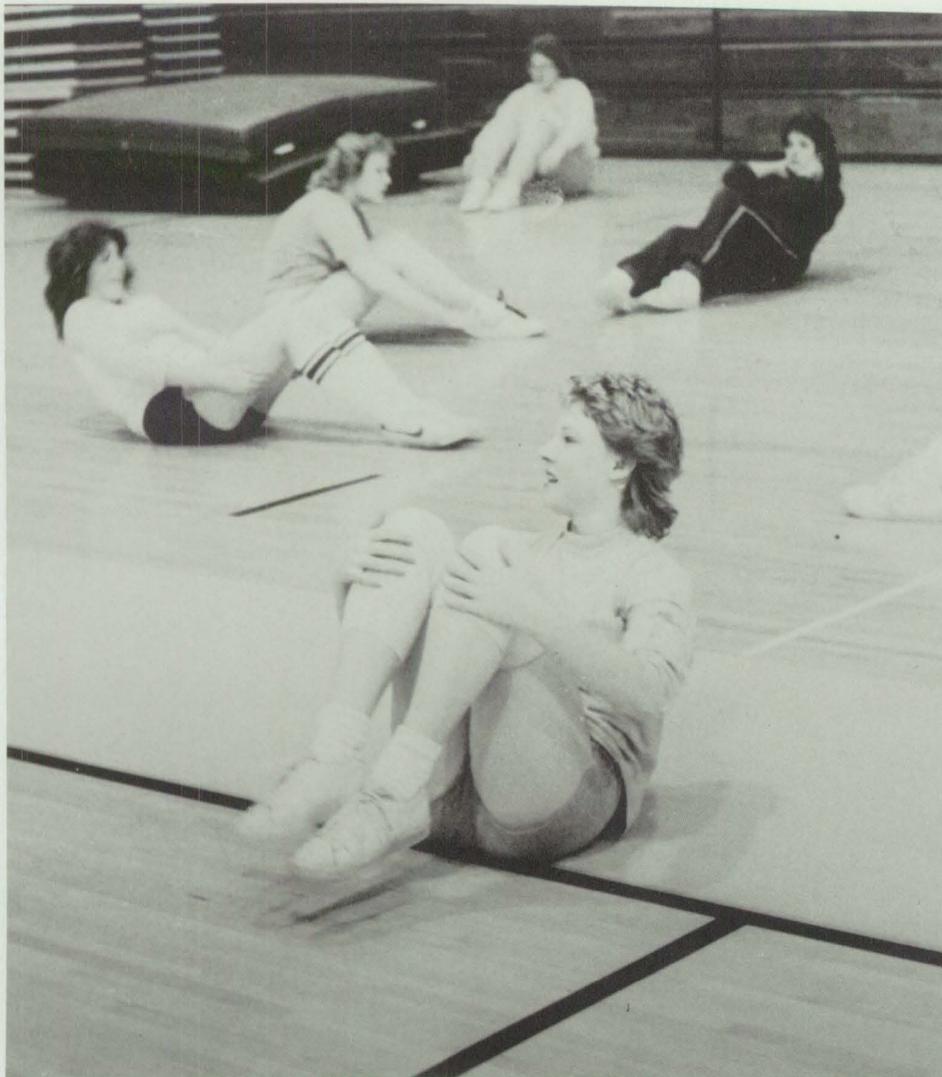

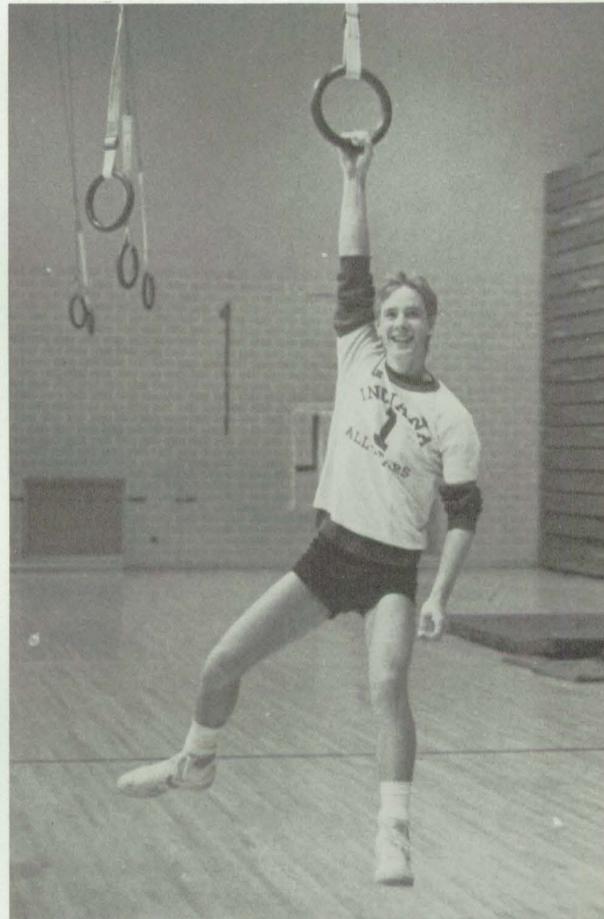

Madison-Grant students are required to take two semesters of physical education. In these classes students gain experience in a variety of activities. Basketball, track, tennis, baseball, gymnastics, golf, kickball, co-ed square dancing, and volleyball games are some of the activities.

While participating in these activities, students learn the strategies of the game and also benefit from the physical effort. Students improve in their ability to think through a process and then execute it physically. A student learns how to play well as an individual and within a team.

BRET Horine practices on the rings in gym class.

AMY Runyan warms up in gym.

ANGIE Thurber and Mrs. Mercer help Kim Wilson on the vault.

Home Economics

The home economics department here at Madison-Grant offered a wide variety of classes. Some of the classes available were foods, clothing, marriage and family, child development, housing, consumer education, interpersonal relations, and family management.

During clothing classes students studied body shapes and designed sewing patterns. They then constructed garments.

In foods classes, students studied the daily nutritional requirements and prepared food. In more advanced classes, students studied customs and prepared the foods of other countries.

While in either marriage and family, child development, housing, consumer education, interpersonal relations, or family management, students learned how to manage a budget and a family. Students also learned the many responsibilities involved in a family relationship.

HOME Ec. girls are amazed by what they can learn by putting their heads together.

STUDENTS listen attentively to the teacher during class.

CLIFFORD Lowe and Jerry Gardner try their skills at baking.

XEN Harvey enlightens the family management class.

Agriculture

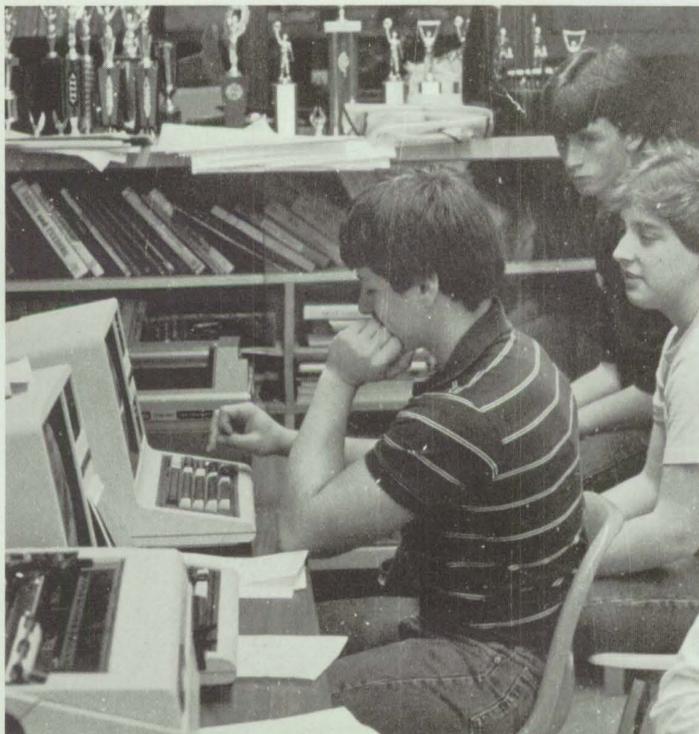

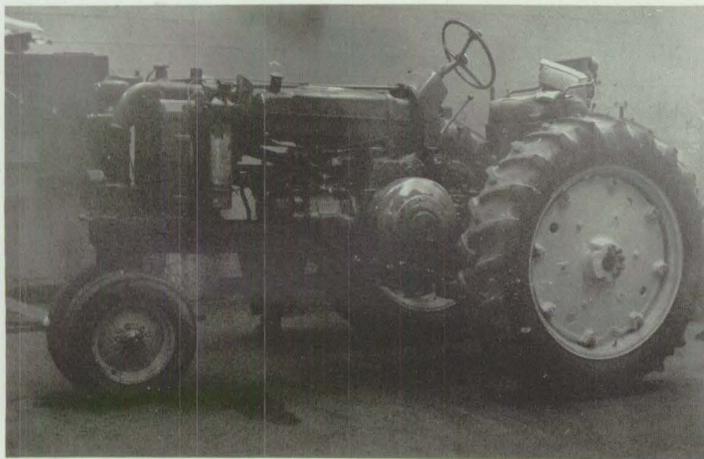

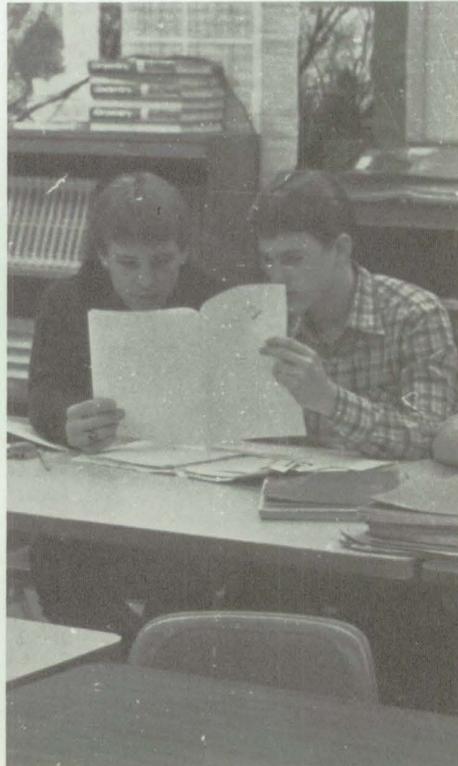

The M-G agriculture department taught the importance of the farming industry. Since both Madison and Grant counties are basically farming communities, these classes were of great value to many students. Some of the classes offered to students were Agribusiness I (introduction to agriculture), soil science, crops production, agriculture construction and maintenance, animal production (livestock), farm business management (agriculture economics), and farm mechanics. The skills which students learned in these classes will help those who plan to be actual farmers. Even if one was not interested in farming, these classes were beneficial. Students learned to keep records, how to manage money, equipment, and much more.

Agriculture students received hands-on experience, not only in the fields and barns, but on the three Radio Shack TRS-80 model 4 microcomputers. The agriculture is the department here at Madison-Grant which offered computer training for freshmen students. Also, any student who takes an agriculture class can be in Future Farmers of America.

BRAD Idelwine works on the identification of cattle, with the help of the slide projector.

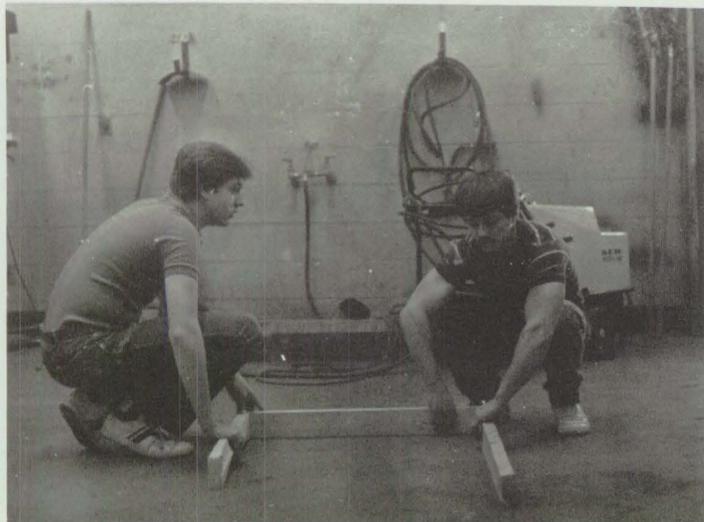

BEN LeCount and Rick Hasty study together in crops class.

DAVID Whybrew works on the computer, which is playing a bigger role in agriculture everyday.

A farmer's best friend is his tractor.

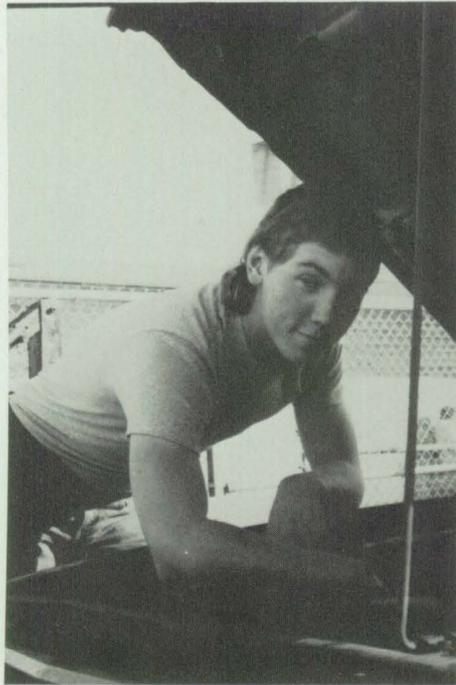

BRAD Idelwine and David Whybrew work together on a project in their agriculture construction class.

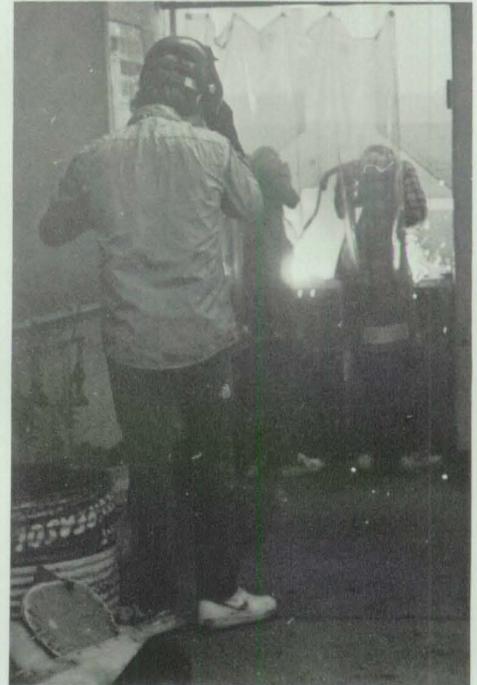

Industrial Arts

The industrial arts department teaches students fundamental skills, terminology, safety procedures, tools, and materials used in the industrial arts area. Beginning students in the introductory classes gained knowledge in different areas such as drafting, electricity, woods, welding, metals, and power. Advanced students made major projects, with the emphasis being placed on quality and workmanship. The advanced welding and woods students built a project of their own choosing and design. Their project was to be one which used all or most of the skills learned in their previous classes. Students benefited greatly from the hands-on experience which they received from their industrial arts classes.

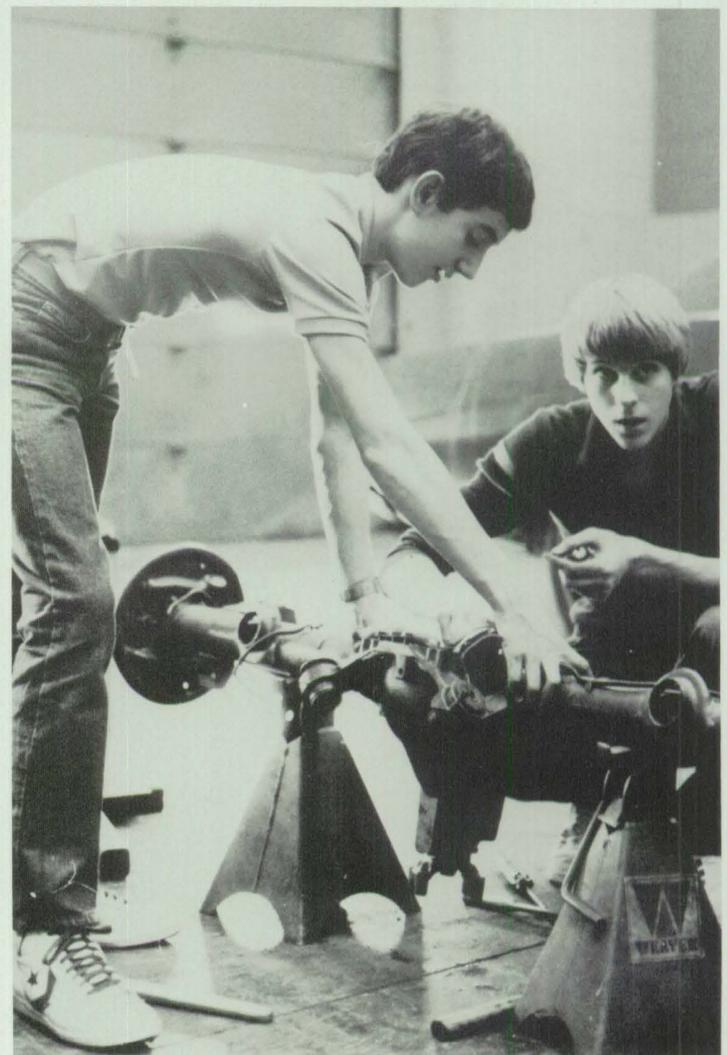

TIM Chapel shows his skills in auto mechanics.

DARRELL Neubauer concentrates on welding.

MARK Rennaker and Kevin Yoder work together in auto mechanics.

Art

KIM King works on her basic art project.

BEN Irving cleans up his work after a busy day.

The art department attempted to expose students to an artistic point of view. Students learned to detect the many different colors, textures, shapes, and shades that are overlooked by the untrained eye. Students tried not to be satisfied with a job done the first time. A student learned that it may take many tries and a lot of practicing before he reached a finished product. Students strove to be more critical of their own work. From the many hours of practicing students found that their hand and eye coordination improved greatly and that their designs and methods improved. Students also developed their own individual techniques. These techniques sometimes varied as much as signatures. Some of the projects included ceramics, painting, sculptures, and drawing.

ANNETTE Karwick uses her talent in a sketch for art.

M-G art students' work is displayed in a show case.

LARRY Head, Skip Wilson, and Dawayne Collins work on an assignment in photography class.

Business

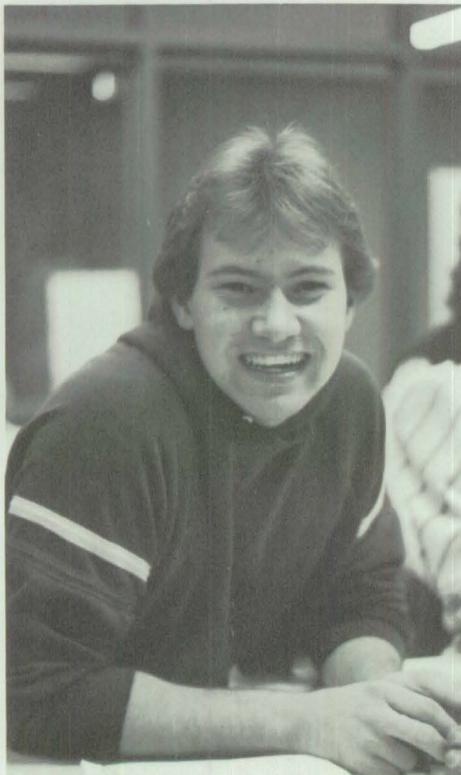

The business department helps students learn to improve economic citizenship. Students had a variety of classes to choose from. Courses included general business, typing, shorthand, office practice, business machines, sales, record-keeping, business law, business communications, and accounting.

Almost every career has some aspect of business to it; the mother and housewife has to manage the family budget; the farmer must buy and sell his products; an artist must buy his supplies and sell his work.

Students who take business classes learn to organize and run a business, keep records, and obtain supplies.

Business skills are also helpful for other classes. Typing alone is used considerably. In English classes term papers must be typed. Some speeches for speech class must be typed. Reports or projects for various other classes must be typed before handed in for a final grade.

ANGEL Moore does one of her many tasks in the office.

STUDENTS in typing class work hard to keep up on their jobs.

CHRIS Kline, Jim Bragg, and J.D. Hunt finish an accounting assignment.

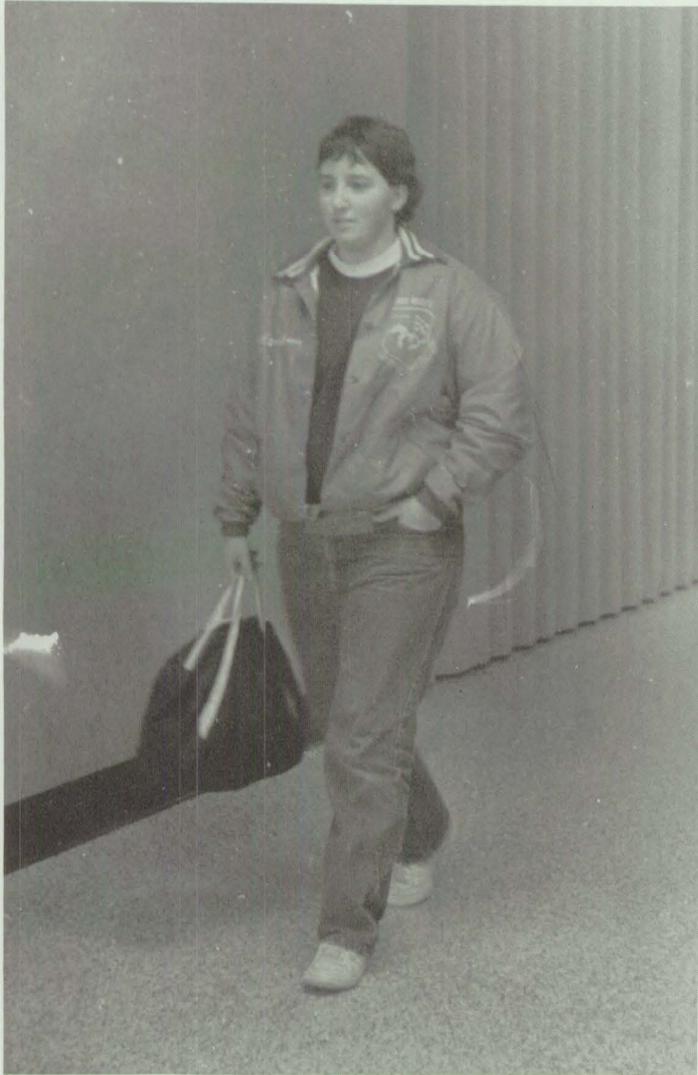

ACCOUNTING is important to our future farmers.

Vocational School

Vocational school laboratory programs were available to most junior and senior students, as well as post-graduates. Vocational Education strived to provide training for the development of students' skills for a career. Students who attended these classes, either at Elwood or Marion, received three credits per semester. Other than books and laboratory fees, and travel expenses, there was no other cost to students. A student's tuition was paid for by the school in which they were attending. Vocational school offered classes in the automotive, machine, mechanics, building, office, food service, health, printing, electronics, and welding fields. Anyone interested in any kind of vocational school training should see his counselor for information.

AMY Simpson enjoys herself at the dinner that was given for vocational school students in Marion.

MANDY Armstrong leaves for H.O.E. vocational school.

BETSY Bright arrives from her C.O.E. vocational school training.

Band and Chorus

Students involved in band met the junior high requirements or passed an audition before they were accepted into the band. In band class students learned not only how to play well in the classroom, but also to play while marching. Besides performing in the classroom and at ball games, the M-G band performed at parades, concerts, banquets, festivals, marching band, solo and ensemble contests, ceremonies, and the Band Spectacular. Students involved in the M-G band found themselves with a very busy schedule.

Chorus classes taught students sight-reading, ear-training, and vocal techniques, with the emphasis placed on voice. Students studied a variety of music and many numbers were performed. The students selected for Ar-Guys and Gals performed in many programs. All chorus students were required to attend rehearsals and programs in which they were involved.

ORGANIZATIONS

Student Council

The purpose of student council was to represent and plan activities for the student body. The student council consisted of fifteen members. These fifteen members ranged from freshmen to seniors. When asked what student council would like to achieve, president Shelley Smith said, "To make the school year a pleasant one for everyone." To help achieve this goal many projects were planned.

The student council was responsible for adding Christmas spirit to Madison-Grant. This year, the student council purchased a Christmas tree which was placed in the school's foyer.

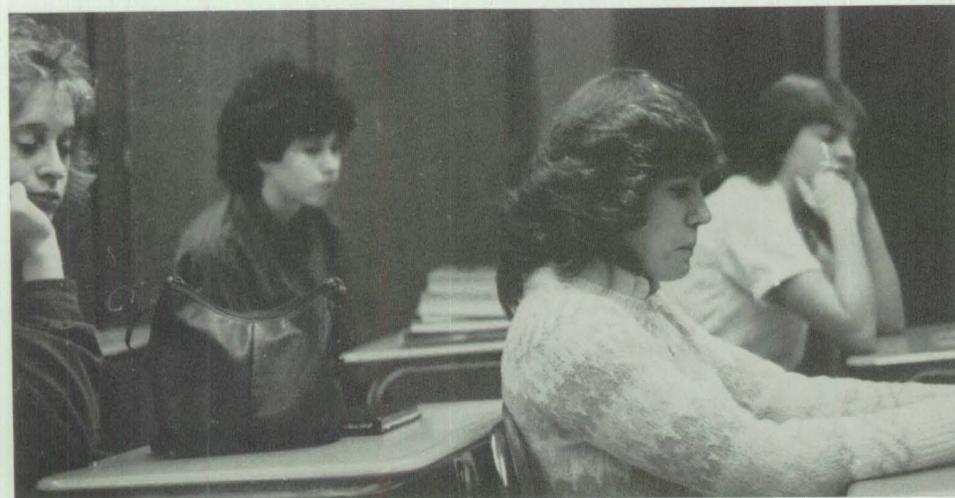

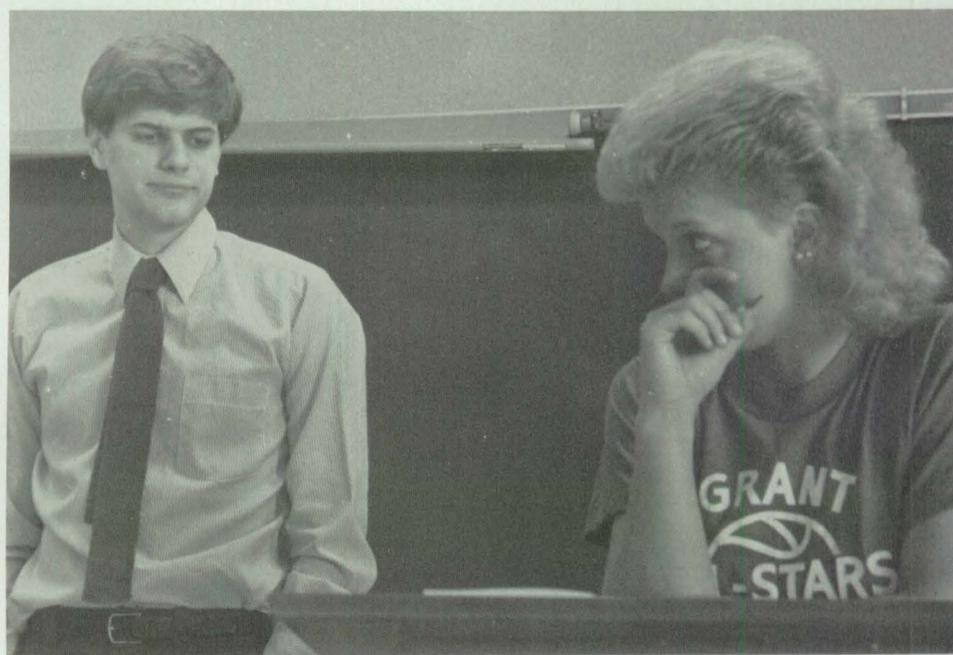

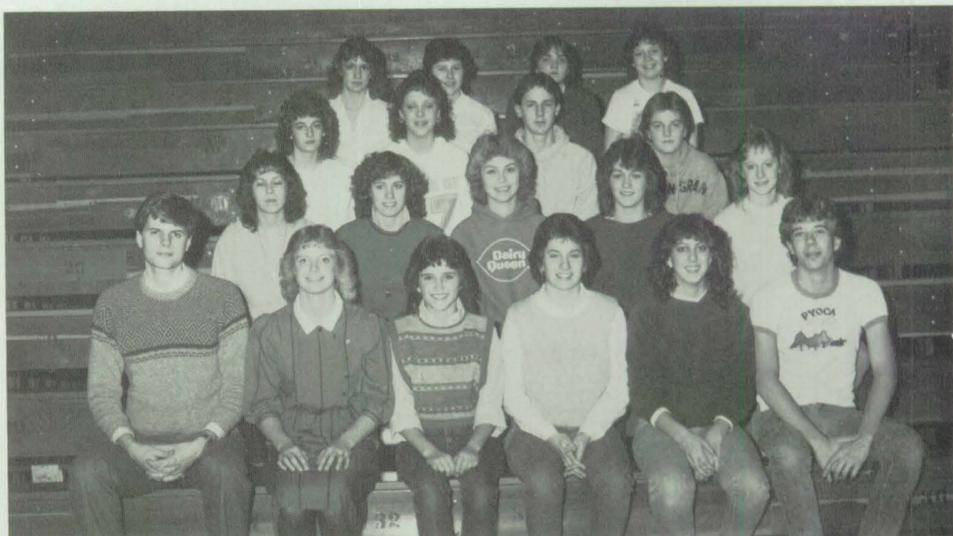

Student council also participated in the student exchange day. Student council members visited another local school for a day. In return, the student council members from a nearby school visited Madison-Grant.

The student council also sponsored dances here at Madison-Grant.

The student council officers were president, Shelley Smith; vice president, Darrin Eaton; treasurer, Michelle Hannah; and secretary, Kristy Hamilton. Mr. Case was the student council advisor.

The National Honor Society inducted twenty-five new members this year.

Membership is based on grade point average, teachers' comments, and the four qualities that the N.H.S. upholds: scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

The group served as hosts and guides at Open House, helped with the Madison County Special Olympics, and compiled a pamphlet for incoming freshmen and new students. Juniors participated in graduation exercises.

The organization met monthly or whenever necessary. The meetings were conducted by the sponsors, Mrs. Burnett or Mrs. Gallo.

The officers this year were president, Kim Coder; vice president, Kristy Hamilton; secretary, Michelle Hannah; and treasurer, Greg Gwaltney.

FFA

Forty-two members made up the organization called Future Farmers of America. The adviser was Mr. Kerkhoff. The officers were: president, Brad Idlewine; vice president, Bruce Leachman; secretary, Reid Retherford; treasurer, Michelle Beckley; reporter, Lynn Barnhart; sentinel, Terry Coppess; and junior advisor, Doug Holder.

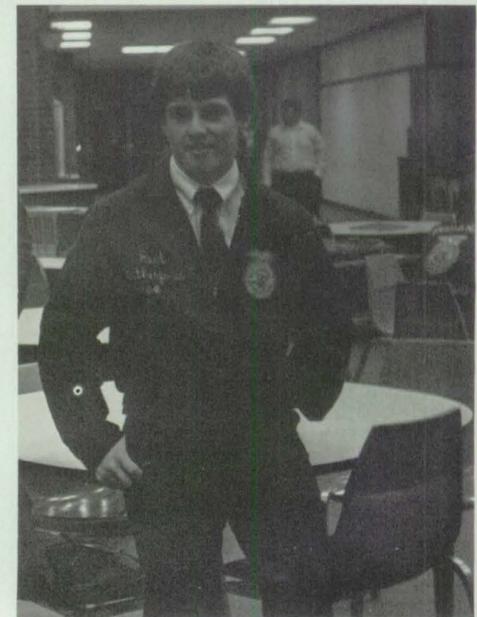

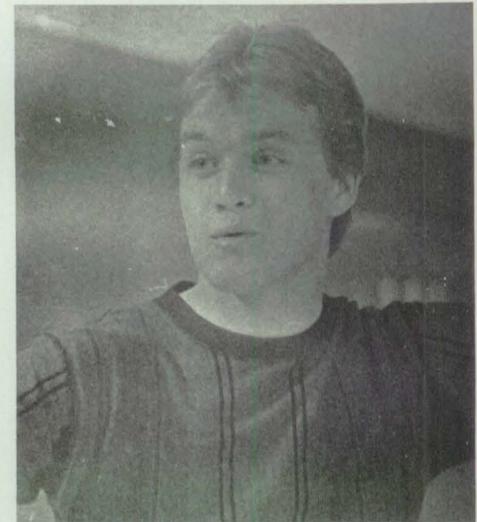

The motto of this group is "Learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, and living to serve." The biggest event of the year for FFA members was the family night banquet.

FFA sponsored a leadership contest on March 14. Other activities consisted of entomology on April 2, livestock — April 3, dairy — April 11, and an area contest on April 19.

The Future Homemakers of America is a service group established to create an interest in the making of a good home. This year the club consisted of thirty-seven members and was sponsored by Mrs. Clevenger, Mrs. Atkins, and Mrs. Reynolds. They met once a month, at the school or at members' homes. Members participated in many activities such as F.H.A. week, a bowling and pizza party, a Mother and Daughter Banquet, and the district meetings. FHA girls also sponsored the coat check at all home basketball games. During the week of April eighth, each member became an Easter bunny. Each bunny was assigned one teacher to whom she bestowed gifts. At the end of the week each teacher guessed who his Easter bunny was.

This year's highlight was the spring trip to Turkey Run State Park for a picnic and horse-back riding.

Officers this year were president, Kem Chapel; vice president, Barb Hammitt; secretary, Dorothy Suttles; historian, Sherry Craib; parliamentarian, Teresa Crull; chaplain, Teresa Hoke; recreation leaders, Brenda Martin, Linda Mason, Michelle Holder, and Cindy Miller.

Spanish Club

The M-G Spanish Club has been in existence for thirteen years. This year, sponsored by Mrs. Melson, it had fifty members. The club was started to promote an interest in the Spanish speaking people and their customs. The club also tried to interest students in the study of Spanish through extracurricular activities.

The club was very busy this year. Members had many meetings before and after school. During one meeting, members learned to make pinatas. There were parties to celebrate Halloween and Christmas. The club took a trip to Indianapolis to eat at Casa Gallardos.

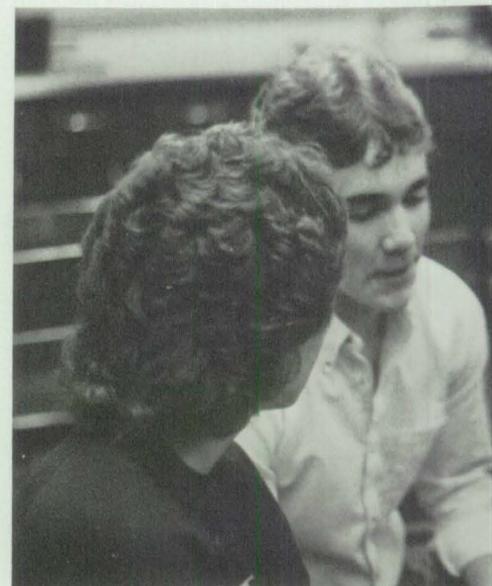

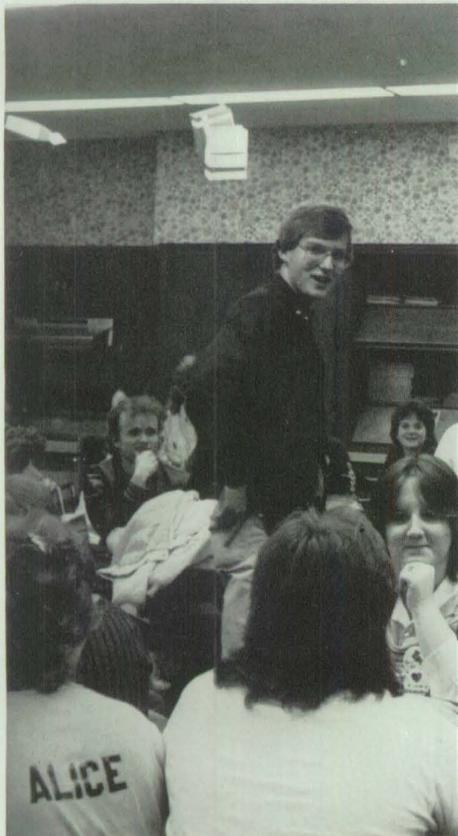

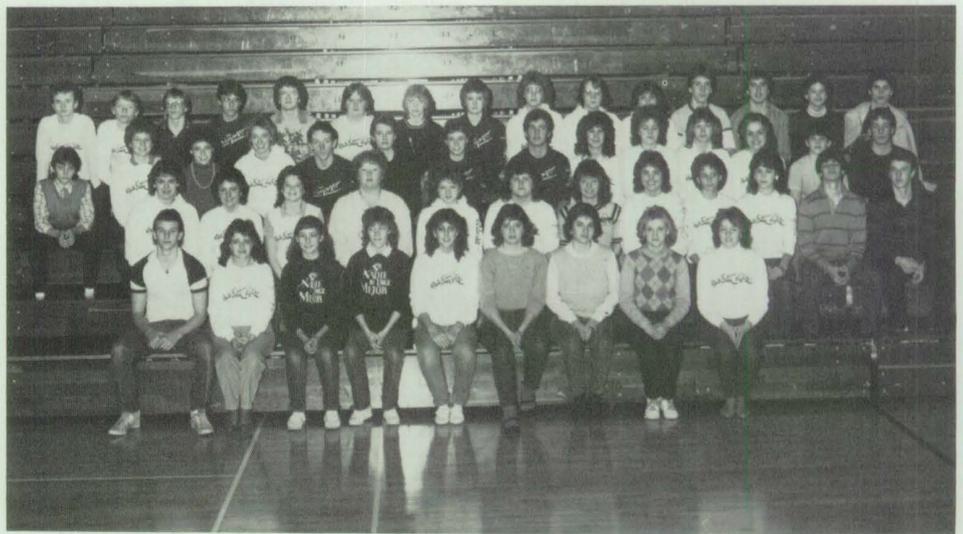

The Spanish Club started something new this year. Service points were awarded to members for such things as cleaning up after meetings, bringing in supplies for club activities, and helping with banners and posters. The person who accumulated the most service points received a paid trip to Kings Island, which is the club's big event of the year.

The officers of this club were president, Shelly Matchett; vice president, Michelle Hannah; secretary, Diana Davis; treasurer, Dawn Hendricks; and recreation leaders, Lora Amonett, Annette Retherford, and Tracy Weller.

French Club

Le Cercle de Francais, sponsored by Mrs. Jackson, had forty-two members this year. The officers were president, Kim Coder; vice president, Glenn Dunlap; secretary, Bill Szobody; treasurer, Amy Fredrick; and social chairman, Craig Cole. The purpose of this club was to further the interest in the French language and culture.

Since homerooms have been excluded from the daily schedule, French club meetings were held before school.

The club has participated in many activities. The year started in September, with the election of officers and a crepe party. During the Christmas season, the club went caroling in the town of Summitville. Other events included the Valentine's Day carnation sales and the trip to La Tour Restaurant. The club also played a large role in foreign language week, March 4-8. Members made buttons, posters, and also did commercials in French over the intercom. On March 6, a joint meeting with the Spanish Club was held and our three exchange students spoke about each of his native country.

Art Club

SHELIA Losure works hard on her art project.

Mrs. McConnell sponsored the Art Club here at M-G. This year's officers were president, Rosie Gibson; vice president, Deb Hardin; secretary, Tonya Rumpfelt; publicity chairpersons, Angel Moore and Sheila Losure; and activity chairman Laura Lenardson.

These members gathered together to encourage and promote art activities within the school and community. The club also encouraged active participation in and appreciation of the fine arts.

The group raised money through candy sales for the annual art exhibit field trip to Cincinnati. The club's major events of the year have been the stained glass window made for the library, and the trip to Cincinnati.

SADD

Students Against Driving Drunk was one of Madison-Grant's new organizations which started this year. In the beginning of the year, five representatives from M-G (Dawn Hendricks, Amy Jenkins, Darrin Eaton, Chad Warren, and sponsor Miss Harris) attended the first Hoosiers Against Drunk Drivers conference. The conference was held at the Convention Center in Indianapolis. The reason for the conference was to make people aware of the number of deaths caused by drunk driving. Another goal was to encourage and establish SADD chapters.

In November, the Madison-Grant and Marion High School chapters of SADD, held their first candlelight vigil march through downtown Marion.

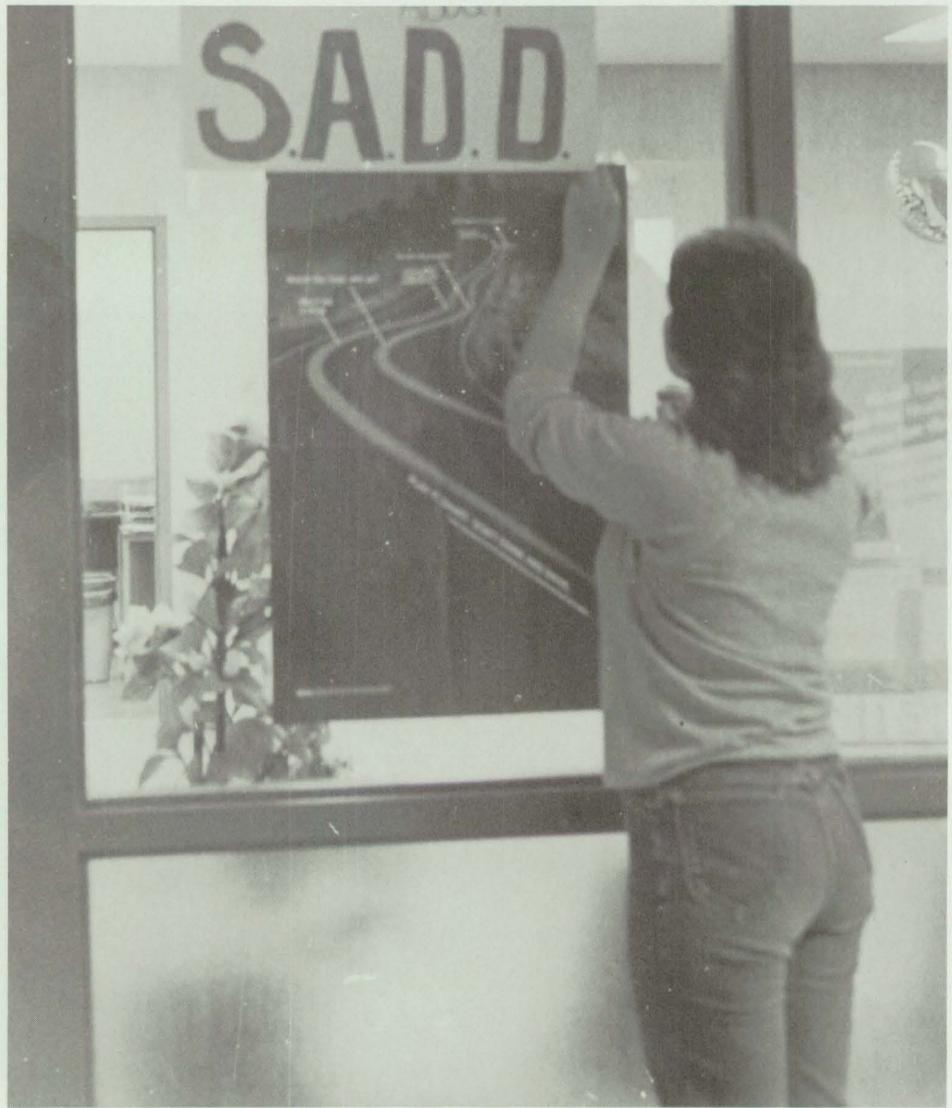

One of the activities in which SADD tried to promote was the "contract for life." This was an agreement between both parents and their child to provide transportation needed in case either had been drinking.

Officers for the organization were: president, Shelly Matchett; vice president, Sherry Stitt; secretary, Jane Huntzinger; treasurer, Dawn Hendricks; and reporter, Linda Sickman.

SADD members of Madison-Grant took a very important issue and united together to state their cases on driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Speech Team

"Can we talk?" The speech team was definitely something to "talk about." This year the team consisted of approximately thirty members who competed approximately sixteen times this year.

The officers were president, Brian McGee; vice president, Greg Gwaltney; secretary, Jane Huntzinger; reporter/historian, Linda Sickman; and co-captains Joel Hunt and Jane Huntzinger. An important event for the speech team was the District Solos — an overnight meet held in Indianapolis. There two top students in each area of competition were picked in the state.

Speech students participated in a speech event entitled Student Congress. Students became senators or representatives, and acted as members of the United States Congress in passing bills and resolutions.

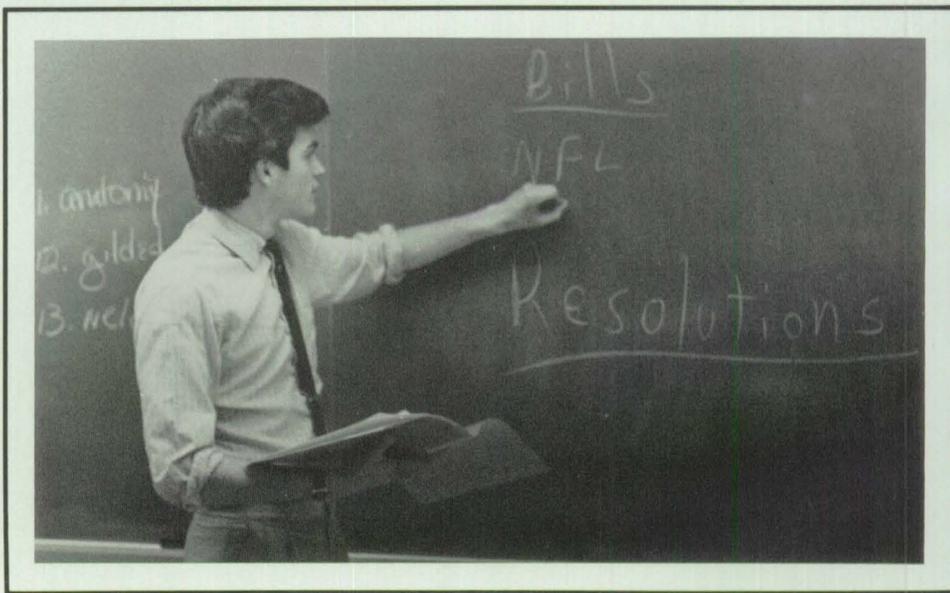

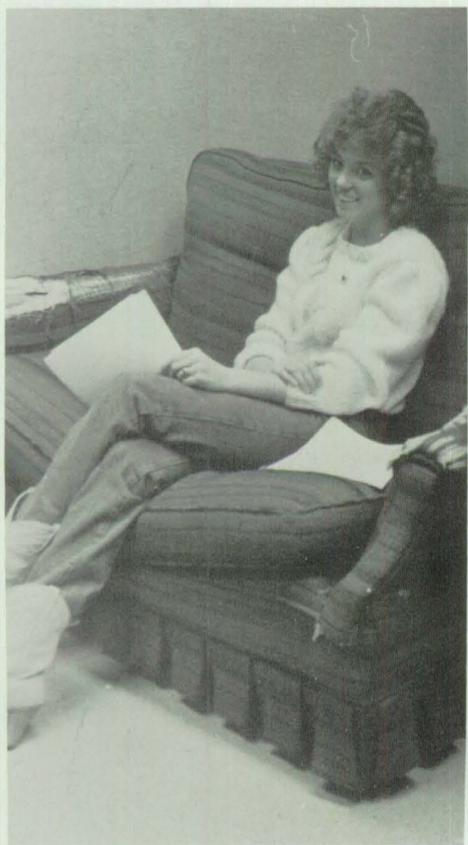

Brian McGee competed in the Indiana High School Forensic state finals, placing second out of 55 participants from 28 different schools. He also won the Eisenhower award which consisted of a $10,000 scholarship. He gave a speech advocating prayer in schools.

The Talking Argylls kept busy this past year and were very successful.

Newspaper

This year the newspaper staff and the yearbook joined forces. With both newspaper and yearbook deadlines to meet, more work was required from those involved. The rewards for these accomplishments, however, more than made up for the long hours.

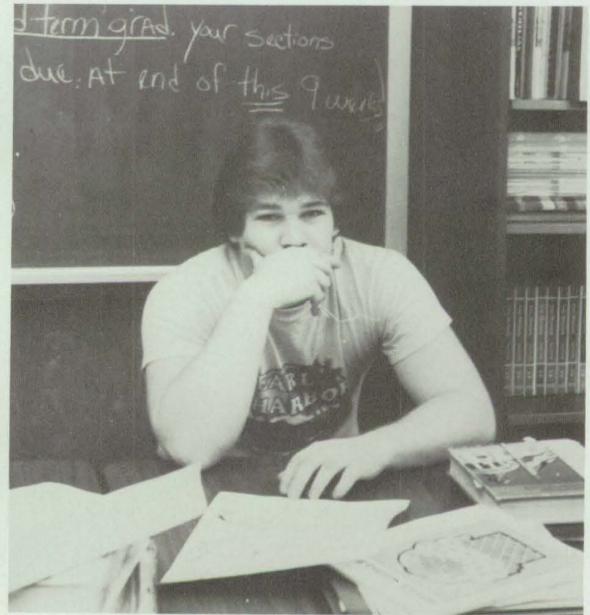

The newspaper staff concentrated on bringing interesting and informative material to the M-G student body.

The staff also let the student body contribute to the paper. M-G students submitted happy ads in the Valentine and Christmas editions. Students also participated by filling out surveys.

This year the staff published four newspapers which consisted of Homecoming, Christmas, Valentine, and Senior Will editions.

Campus Life

With 130 members Campus Life kept active this year. This group met once a week to plan and share activities such as burger bashes and air band contests. Usually, however, members just spent an evening visiting at other members' homes.

The group attempted to introduce teenagers to Christ and Christian living. The members were also able to get insight from their leaders on problems and topics that were important to them.

Pizza sales this year made it possible for members to be a part of the annual Florida trip. Campus Life took in the Florida sun during spring break. They visited Disney World, beaches, and attended informal meetings.

FCA

Fellowship of Christian Athletes consisted of twenty-four students this year. FCA is a nationwide organization. This year at Madison-Grant, FCA members tried to hold meetings at least once a month.

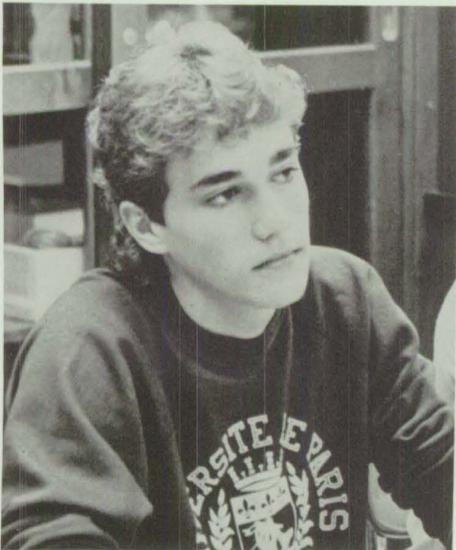

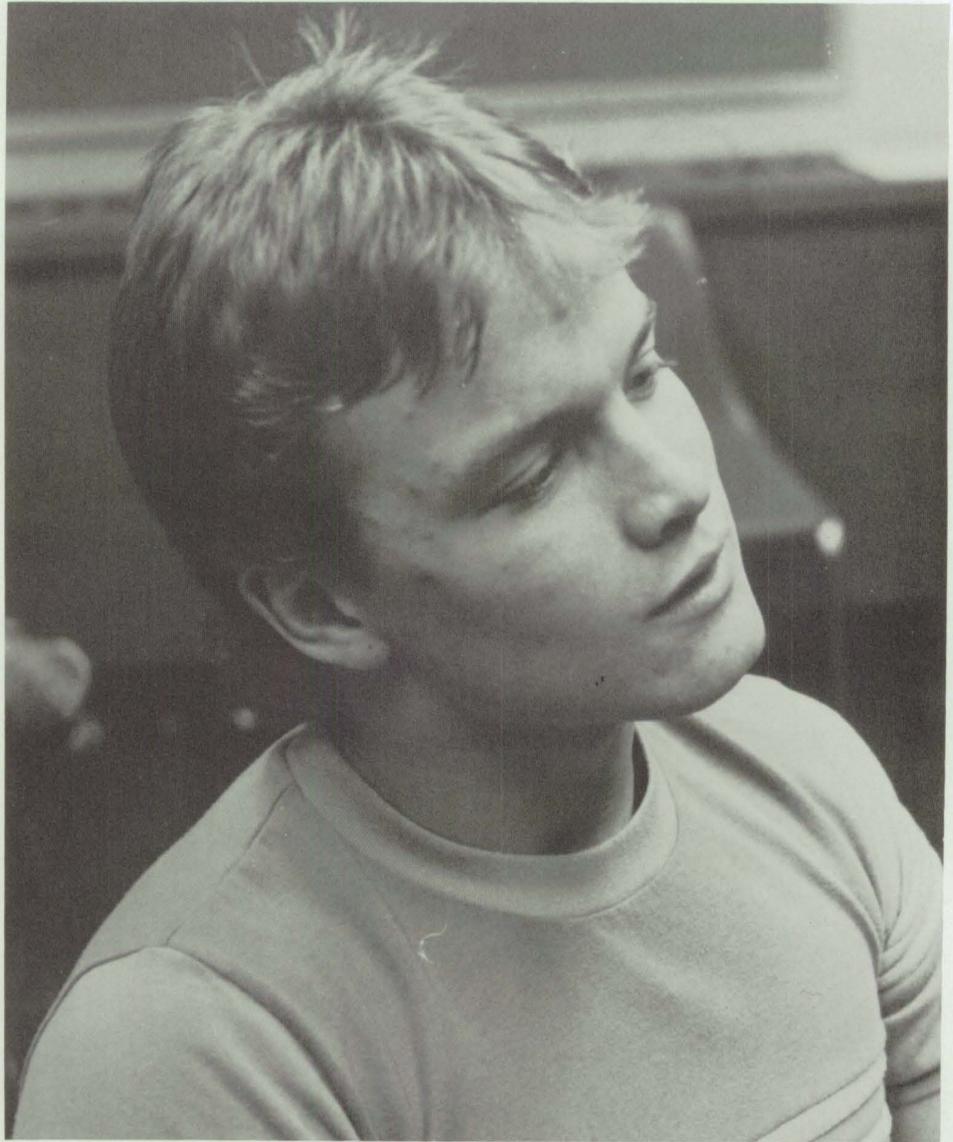

What was the purpose of FCA? It was established for Christian athletes who wanted to share their person Christian experiences with each other.

FCA usually had sponsored a Christmas auction but was unable to do so this year due to the new state laws. Instead, FCA in conjunction with the National Honor Society sponsored a food drive for the needy families in Grant county. Mr. Miller was the FCA sponsor this year.

Pep Band

The Madison-Grant Pep Band helped boost the Argyll spirit. Performing at all home basketball games, the Pep Band provided Argyll fans with a variety of music. With the pounding of the drums and blowing of the horns the pep band added a little excitement to the M-G ball games.

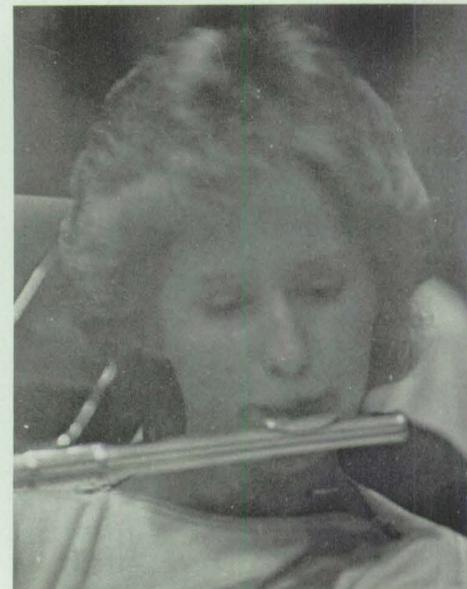

There were twenty-eight members in the pep band last year under the supervision of Donald Lamb.

Jazz Band

The Jazz Band last year was made up of twenty talented students. The primary purpose of jazz band was to expose Madison-Grant students to a different style of music.

The Jazz Band is an extracurricular activity supervised by Donald Lamb. They performed in Madison-Grant's Christmas Concert, Band Spectacular, and Variety Show. They also participated in the Fairmount Community Christmas Sing.

Argyllettes

The Argyllettes, a flag and drill team, helped to entertain the fans of Madison-Grant. They performed at all home basketball games, and with the marching band during the football season. The Argyllettes also competed in competitions in the fall. The annual variety show that was held at Madison-Grant featured the Argyllettes.

The Argyllettes consisted of fifteen girls. Diana Davis and Teresa Brown were the two drill team captains. Donald Lamb was the Argyllette sponsor.

This year, the Argyllettes hired a new instructor named Sonja Detheridge. The drill team also received new uniforms and flags. To pay for these new additions, the Argyllettes sold Christmas ribbons and held car washes.

Cheerblock

This year the cheerblock consisted of thirty-five members. It was sponsored by Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. Reynolds. The members helped make basketball run-throughs and supported the Argylls at the football and basketball games. This year the members did not have designated outfits to wear at the games. Most simply wore black or gold outfits.

Also this year M-G saw an old tradition return. Many of the senior members wore senior cords to the games. These pants were a light color of corduroy with many brightly colored designs on them. Several of the students had designed and painted their own.

Even though the cheerblock was not formally organized this year, the spirit was still flying high for the Argylls.

Seniors

Decisions, Decisions

One's senior year can become very hectic. Many decisions must be made. The small decisions are whether to eat the type A lunch or to get French fries. Seriously, however, there are major decisions to make. Should I go to college or not? Should I get a summer job, or spend the summer relaxing? Should I be a garbage collector, or should I choose an acting career? The choices one makes will affect him for the rest of his life.

Suddenly grades become very important during the last year in high school. Students are ever reminded that college acceptance weighs heavily on high school performance. Keeping that 3.99 G.P.A. can become impossible when one is taking the dreaded college prep.

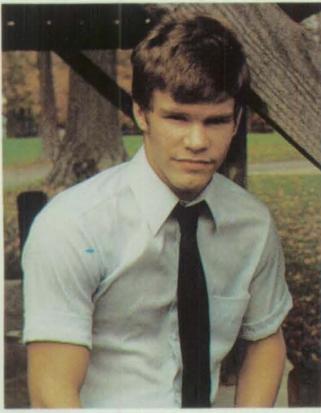

The lighter side to all the seriousness is the crazy, relaxed times one has as a senior. Last year as juniors, the prom had to be paid for and organized, which took tremendous work. As a senior, one is able to stand back and watch while all is being prepared in his honor.

Seniors receive top priority in many departments of the school's activities. They are allowed to schedule only five periods of the school day by asking for release time. Seniors are also released one week earlier than underclassmen at the end of the year. Many teachers give seniors the graduation gift of not requiring a final. After twelve years of hard diligent school work, seniors deserve these privileges.

When looking back after graduation, one remembers the big decisions and life changing experiences. One also remembers, however, the fun times that always accompany one's last year of high school.

Vocational School

If a student wants to further his education in a specific trade, and Madison-Grant does not offer a course for that area, one choice available to the student is vocational school.

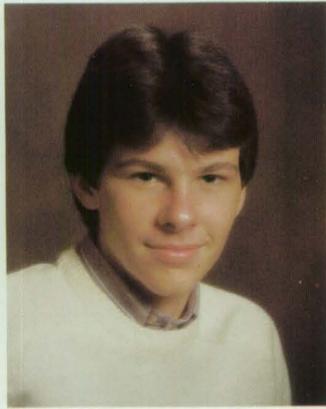

Approximately 20% of the juniors and seniors here at M-G attend vocational school. There are two such schools in the M-G area. The Tucker Area Vocational Technical Center is located in Marion. The John H. Hinds Area Vocational School is in Elwood. The courses offered vary from auto mechanics to marketing.

Limited space in these programs makes placement competitive. To be eligible for the program, students must first fill out an application. Next, students may be interviewed. After applicants have been carefully selected, guidance counselors from the nearby high school bargain for positions available at Marion or Elwood.

What's Next?

The question was asked by the seniors of the past, and the question is asked by seniors now: "What's next in my life?"

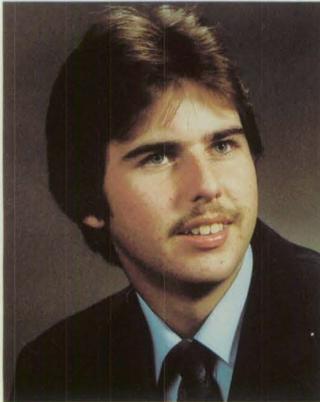

The choice has always been quite clear for many: go to school and get an education. One attended elementary school, junior high, and then high school. One was gradually taught responsibility. Now the big responsibility will be living independently as adults.

A decision must be made on what to do next. Some seniors will change their minds before making the right choice for themselves. Some graduates will go on to acquire more education. Others will find jobs. Some graduates will get married, and others will join the armed forces. There is much to be done after twelve years of school.

Juniors

Plans for a Night to Remember

The Junior class was very busy in 1984-85.

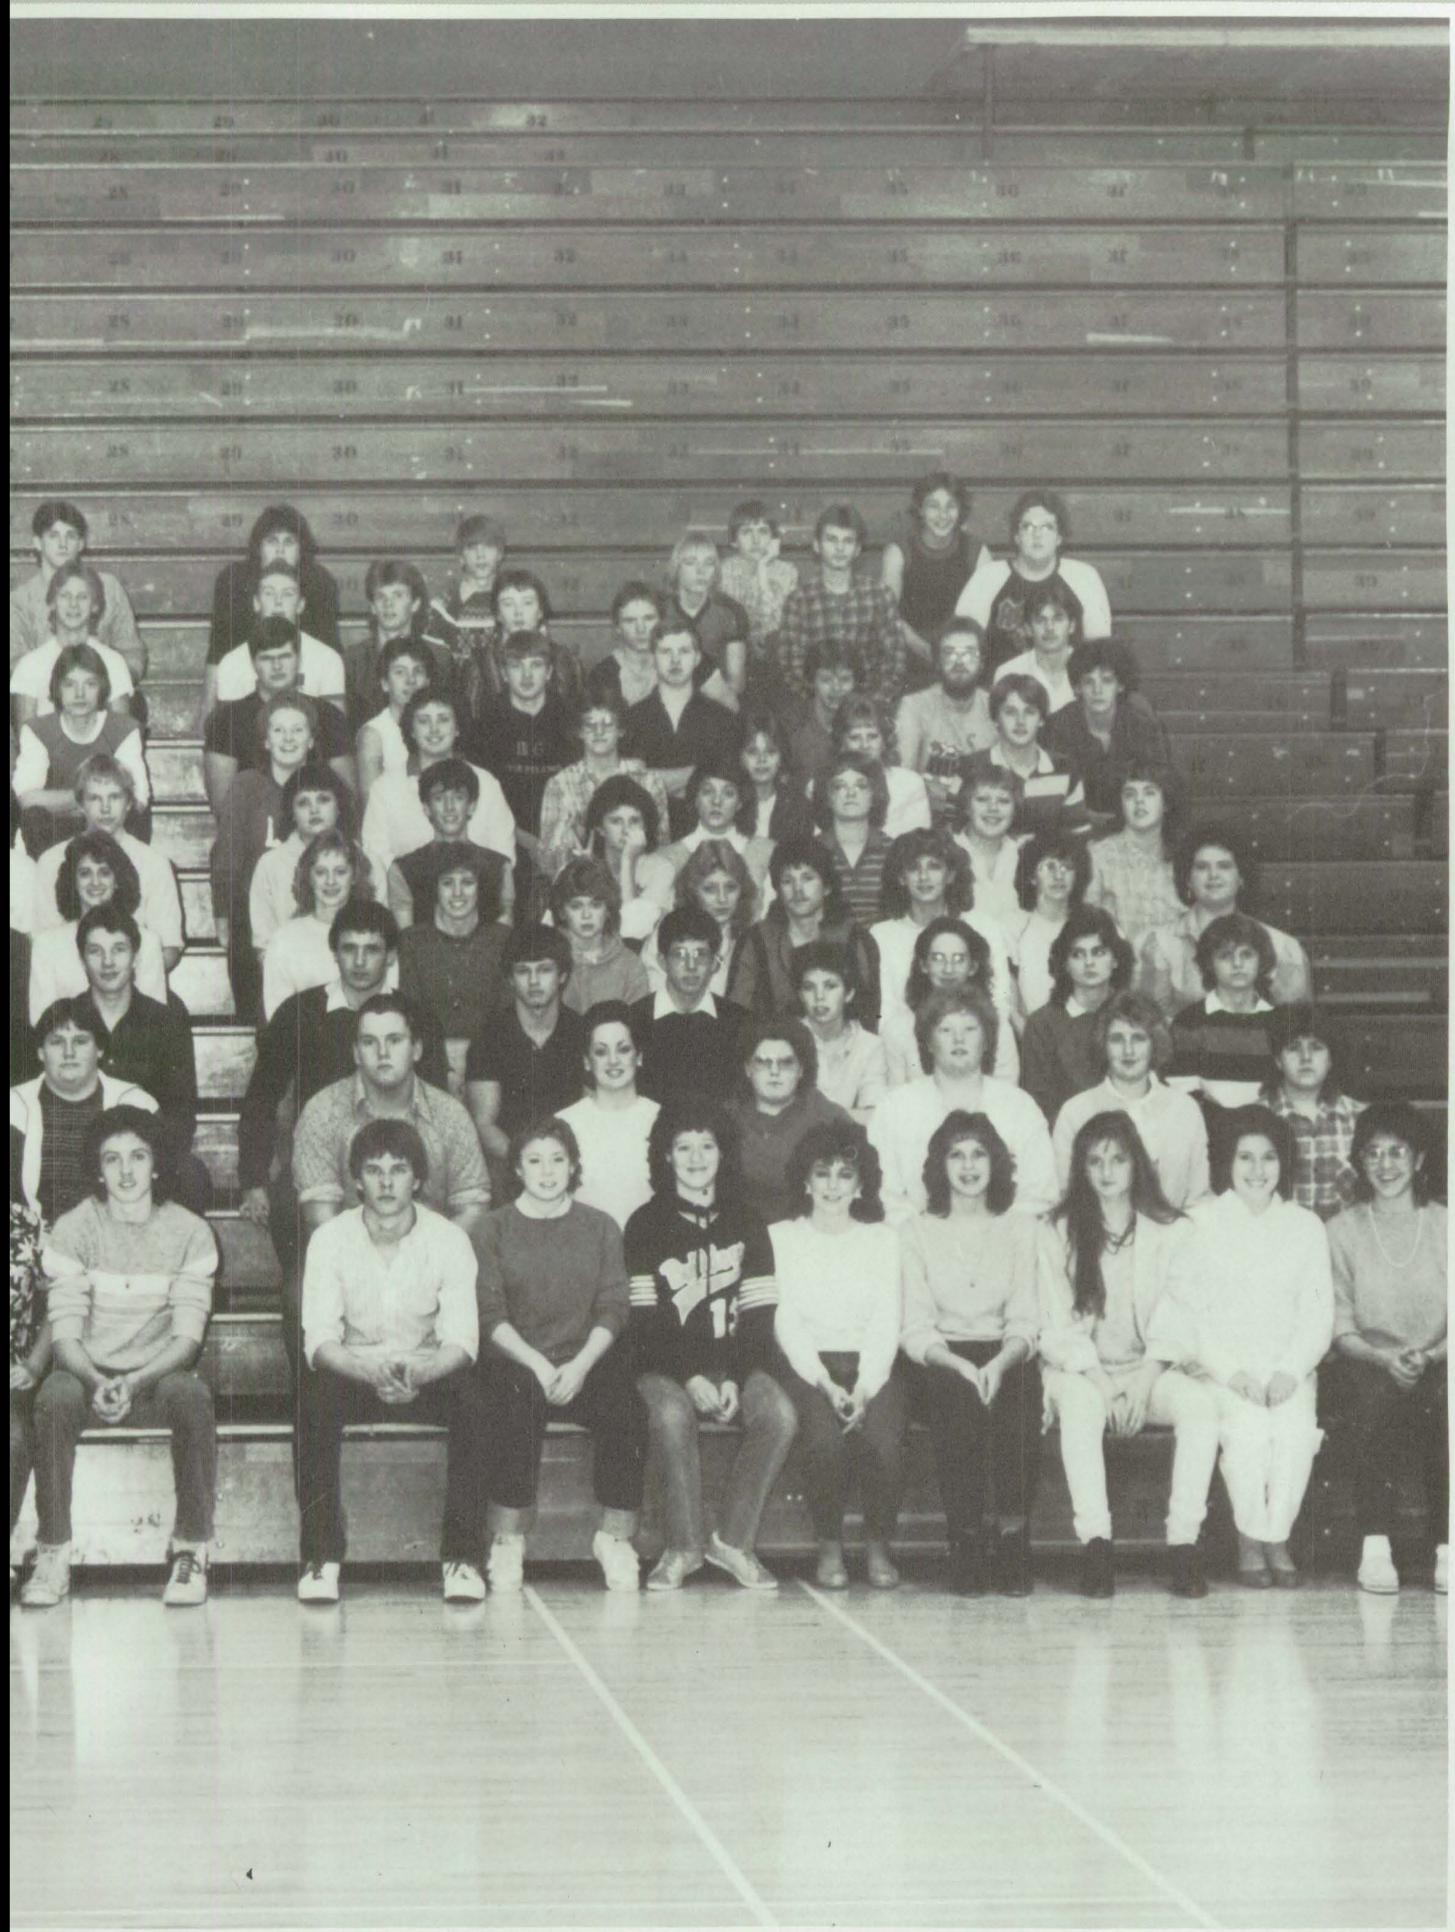

Students sold Kleinhenn products to help raise money for the Junior-Senior prom. Juniors raised $3,800 out of the $5,000 needed with these sales. Prom tickets were $5.00 to help cover remaining prom expenses.

Many junior students stayed after school with the class sponsors, Mrs. Herring and Mrs. Miller. Many decisions were made. Pastel colors were chosen for decorations. The juniors selected the theme song, "You're the Inspiration." King and Queen candidates were also chosen: Jamie Eastburn, Dawn Floyd, Charisse Fox, Julie Hensley, Keith Callahan, John Rogers, David Short, and Brian Stevens.

The prom was held at the Marion Inn in Marion, Indiana. After the formal prom, there was an after prom, which included swimming, dancing, and pizza until 3:00 p.m.

The juniors, under the guidance of Mrs. Herring, Mrs. Miller and Mr. Palmer did a wonderful job making the 1984-85 prom very special.

Madison-Grant Guests

M-G felt honored this year to have three exchange students. Visiting were Jens Johansen from Bredsten, Denmark; Annette Karweck from Tostedt, West Germany; and Anu Trygg from Ikaalinen, Finland. The yearbook staff asked them to share some of their impressions.

"When I made my first step in New York last summer, I was impressed. Whew! This is America!"

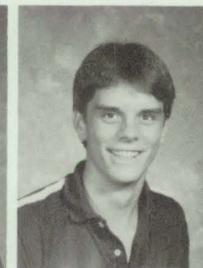

"I started to get to know the Americans. I figured out that everyone is different; an individual with his own opinions, feelings, and ways of seeing the world."

"It is so important to see different cultures and for people to be tolerant, and have an understanding of foreign people."

"At first, I thought a quiz was a game people played to have fun in school."

"I like sports. I liked practice because there I made so many new friends and had fun."

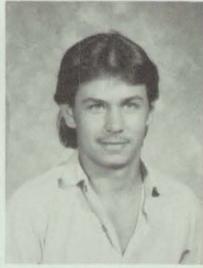

1984-85 new Argylls include Anu, Jens, and Annette.

Sophomores

The Class of '87

The sophomores have realized that they aren't the youngest class in high school anymore. This year, those people involved in sports, were able to play on the junior varsity and varsity teams, instead of playing on the freshmen teams.

For those sophomores who did not have their licenses, some chose to take driver's education. Driver's education was offered in the summer, along with the first and second semesters.

A few sophomores have already started planning their future. Ron Leslie is planning to go into the Army or Air Force. Many sophomores plan to attend college to further their education.

During Homecoming Week, the sophomores showed a lot of pride and support in their class and their school.

The sponsors of the sophomore class were Mrs. Bragg, Mrs. Dunlap, and Mr. Badger.

Blizzard '85

Madison-Grant students saw their dreams come true as the heavy snow cancelled school for five consecutive days. Then President's Day provided an additional day for students to sit home and relax.

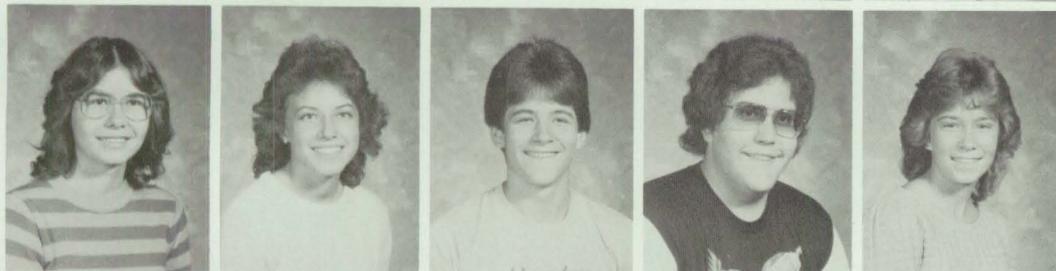

The inclement weather is now but a memory. A memory, however, that will remain special to all as each fondly remembers a radio announcer saying, "There will be no school today for Madison-Grant United School Corporation."

Sophomores Move Up

After a year of getting adjusted as freshmen, the sophomores came out in full swing this year, determined to make the second time around a good one.

Class jackets were received in mid-September. The class of 1987's black and gold jackets were worn with Argyll pride and served to give the sophomores a new sense of unity.

Probably the greatest responsibility first experienced in one's sophomore year was learning to drive an automobile. Although many 10th graders had to wait to get into driver's ed., the lucky ones who did take it as sophomores found it exciting.

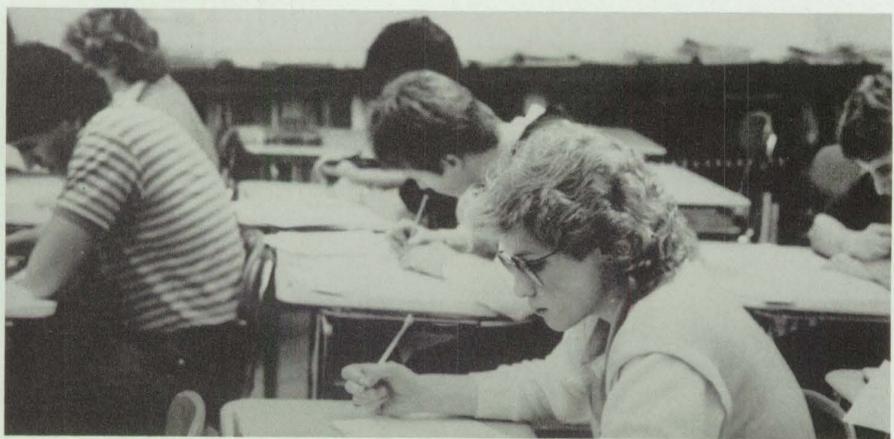

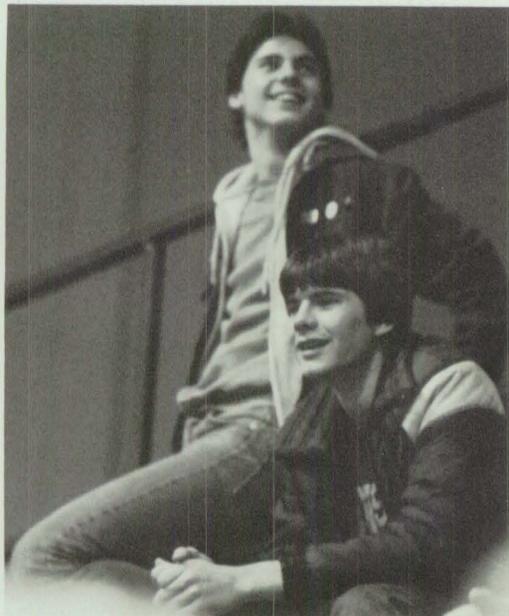

As sophomore Melissa Hill put it, "Driving makes a person feel more grown up."

Freshman

The New Arrivals

The first time in a new place is always exciting, especially starting high school.

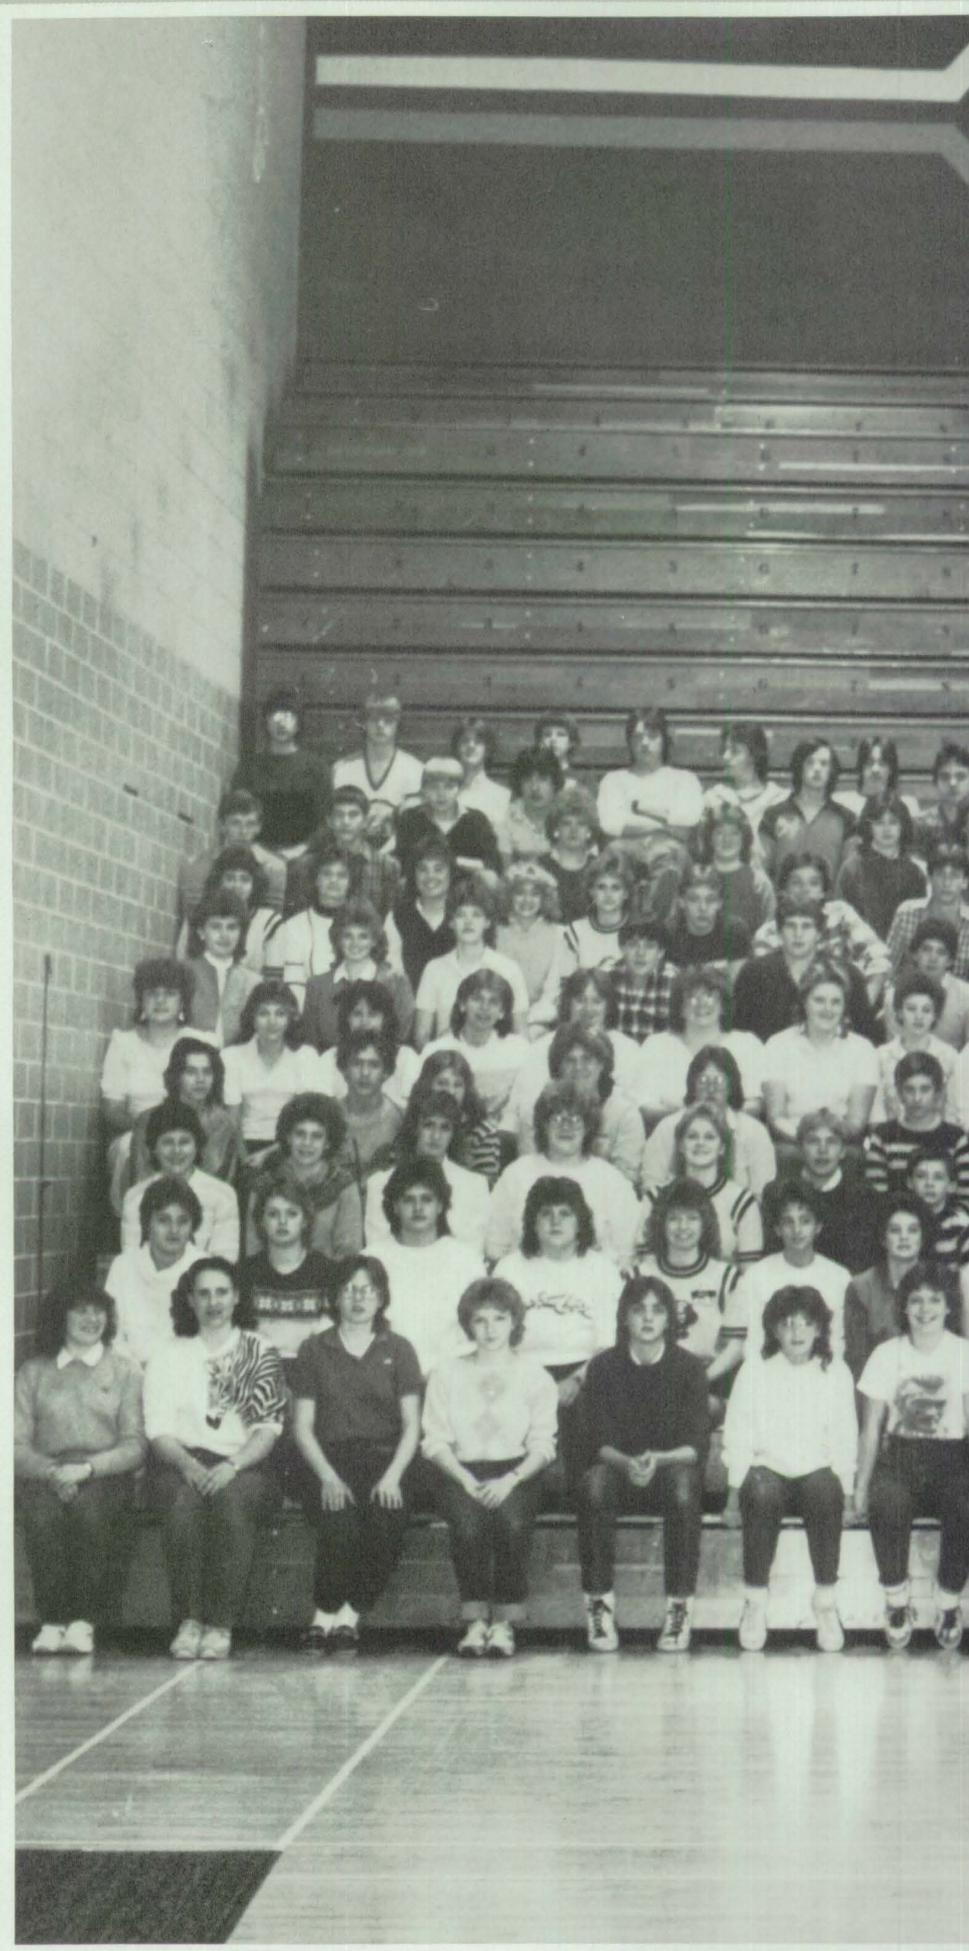

The Class of 1988 took the "big step" from being eighth graders, to becoming freshmen. The first few days, the freshmen walked around and one could hear some of them saying, "Where's my class?", "I can't get my locker open!", "Is A lunch for smart students?", "Boy those seniors sure are big!" Most of the freshmen were worried about getting initiated, by getting set on the water fountain, or taking up lunch trays, or being "go-fers."

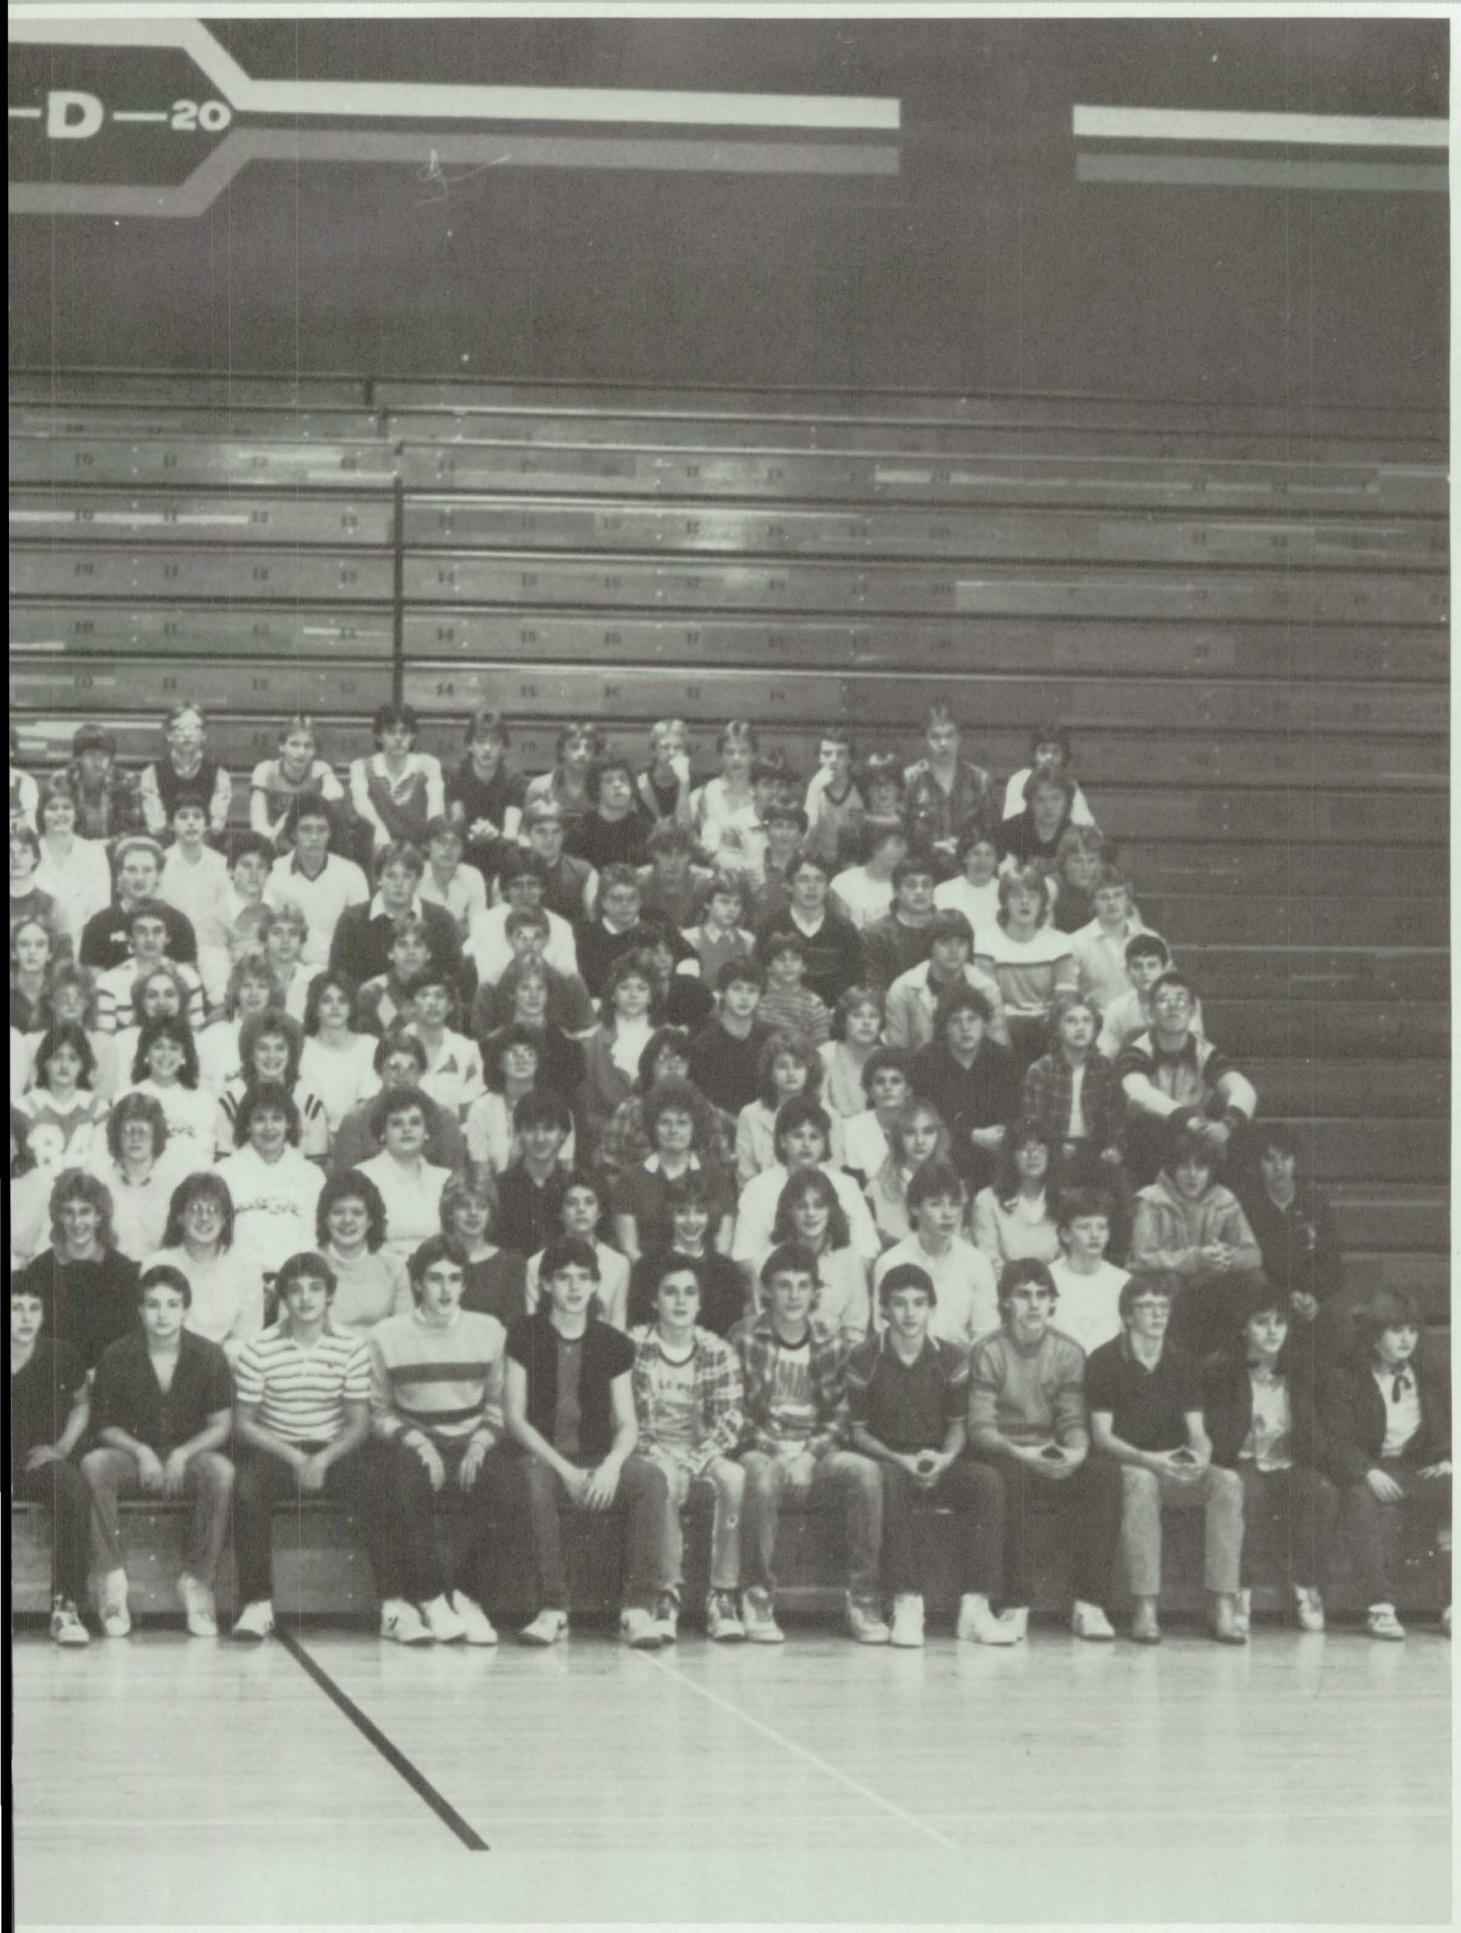

Many freshmen felt uneasy about making new friends and fitting in at Madison-Grant. Once they were here awhile, they realized that it wasn't as bad as they thought it would be.

New opportunities were looked forward to by most freshmen.

Freshmen were required such classes as English, math, biology, and p.e.

The freshman class sponsors were Mr. Martin, Mr. Hackney, and Mrs. Kirby.

To Eat or Not to Eat?

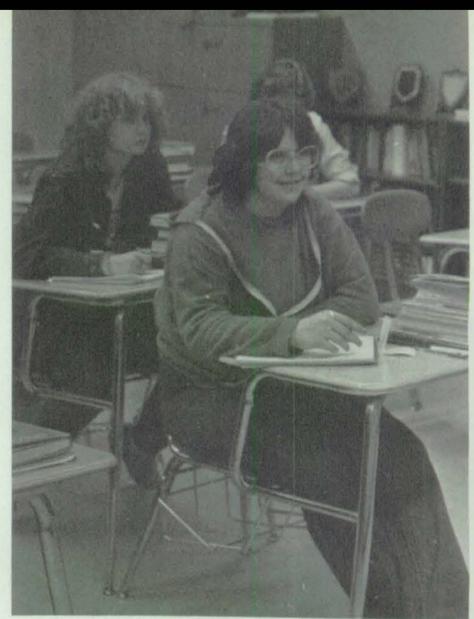

Many students at Madison-Grant asked the question, "To eat or not to eat?" There were several reasons why students were asking this question.

First, a large number of people had been complaining about the poor quality of the food here at Madison-Grant. One common complaint was the greasy pizza. Others stated they would like a larger variety of foods served, and longer time in which to eat their meals.

"To eat or not to eat," also may be sports related. During wrestling season the wrestlers often chose to skip lunch in order to attain a desired weight.

Finally, the library has competed with lunch hour. Many students go to the library during lunch to study or to do some last minute homework.

Faculty

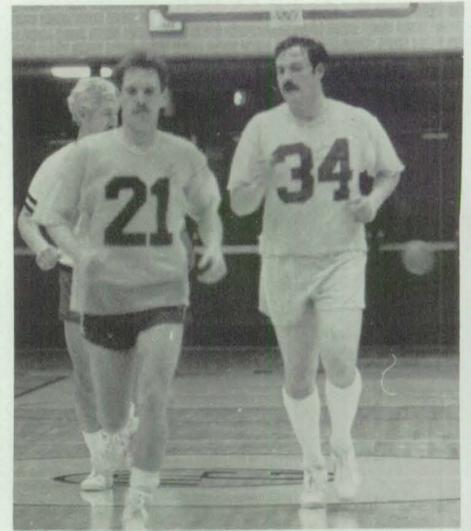

Teachers are an important part of students' lives. Teachers inspire, encourage, and challenge.

The faculty at M-G filled these many roles. After teaching during the day, many staff members sponsored clubs and organizations, or coached teams. These activities demanded long hours after school.

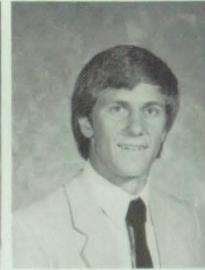

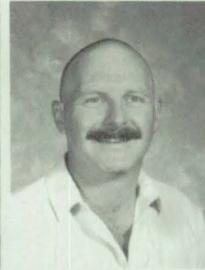

Teachers also served as counselors, disciplinarians, and instructors. Through the dedication to their subjects, teachers shared their knowledge and experience with students. This knowledge will be needed in future careers, whatever they may be.

The 1984-85 teaching staff gained three new members. Mr. Case taught in the social studies department, sponsored student council, and coached cross country. Miss Harris taught in the English department. She also sponsored the NE OBLIVISCARIS yearbook staff and the ARGYLL ACTION newspaper staff. Mrs. Reynolds taught in the home economics department. She sponsored cheerleading, booster club, and FHA.

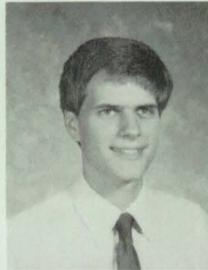

MR. Kirkwood and Mr. Kerkhoff participate in the fund raising basketball game for the 1985 M-G baseball team.

Office

The cooperation of many valuable people is required to make this school function efficiently.

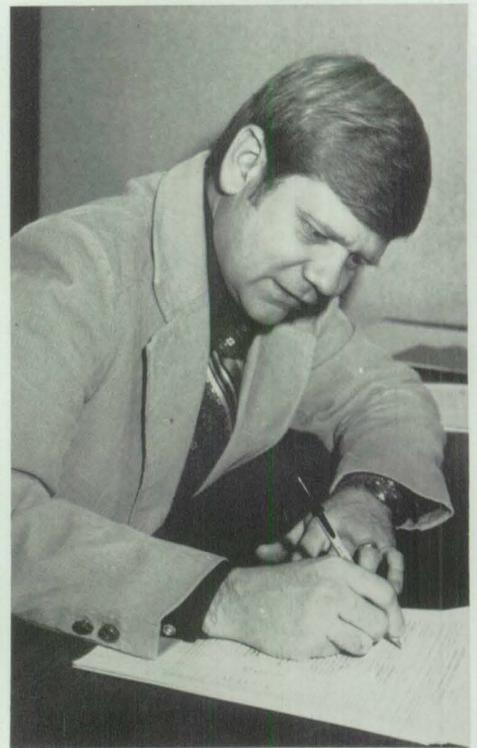

The school is not run by the superintendent and principals alone. The operation of a school is done by the help of board members, counselors, secretaries, cooks, bus drivers, custodians and matrons.

The Administration acts as a backbone of Madison-Grant. It establishes guidelines for curriculum and other school policies, makes decisions about the business of the school system, and supervises the staff.

SPORTS

Varsity Volleyball

The 1984-85 Varsity Volleyball team started its practices in August to prepare for the '84 season. There was a tremendous amount of hard work that went into the fundamentals of the game. These practices proved worthwhile. This season boasted the best record the team has had in four years.

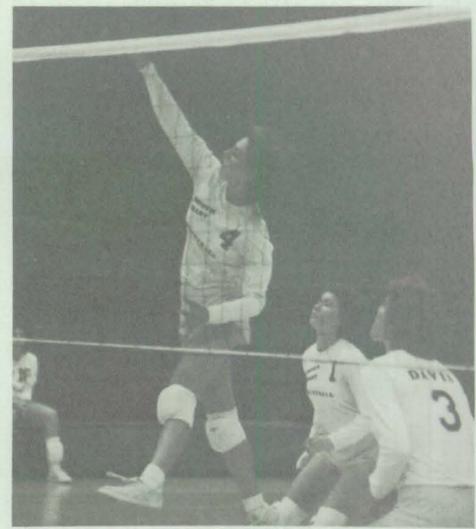

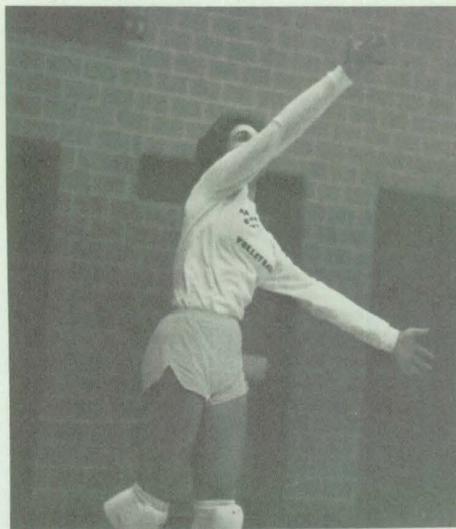

The Lady Argylls ended with a 19-13 record. The girls also won the Grant Four Tournament and the Sectional. The team tied for third place in the CIC record of 5-2.

Three seniors were picked for the CIC team. They were Bev Davis, Kim Grose, and Brenda Kelich. Three team members were selected for all county: Bev Davis, Kim Grose, Brenda Kelich. Shelley Smith received honorable mention. M-G sectional members consisted of Bev Davis, Kim Grose, Michelle Hannah, Brenda Kelich, Dana Rhoads, and Shelley Smith. The varsity was coached by Miss Karen McClurg.

Golf

The Madison-Grant golf team has a lot to be proud of this year. The Argylls have the best record in many years.

The Argylls not only went through the regular season undefeated, but also won the CIC championship and the Grant Four Invitational. The team placed third in Sectional, fifth in Regional and placed seventeenth at the State finals. "Anytime a team wins every meet, one must be extremely pleased with the output. An undefeated season is perfection," commented Coach Robert Bach on the 1985 team.

This year's team broke the M-G low score record of 152 and set a new record of 148.

"Next year we will have three seniors, a junior, and a sophomore from the reserve squad whose record was 6-3. If these boys and the underclassmen from this year's team work hard we will be decent next year," said Coach Bach.

Cross Country

The 1984-85 cross country season was a learning experience for all involved. With a young team and a new coach, the cross country team counted this season as one of gaining experience.

First year coach, Jay Case, commented, "Our main goal this year was improvement, but the team can definitely look forward to successful seasons to come." This year's team consisted mainly of sophomores and juniors. The Argylls finished with a dual meet record of 1-4 and a seventh place CIC finish.

One goal the cross country team has is to improve its record in the coming seasons.

Wrestling

The 1984-85 varsity wrestling team finished its season with an 8-2 dual meet record. This was the team's best record ever. The team did well in the county meet by finishing second. In the sectional the wrestlers finished third, and placed second in the CIC.

Senior Keith Callahan finished first in the sectional. He then traveled to Muncie North High School for the regionals and finished second. Next, he traveled to Fort Wayne to finish second in the semi-state finals. Finally, Keith advanced to the state finals at New Castle where he was defeated in the first round. This was the first time any M-G wrestler went to the state finals.

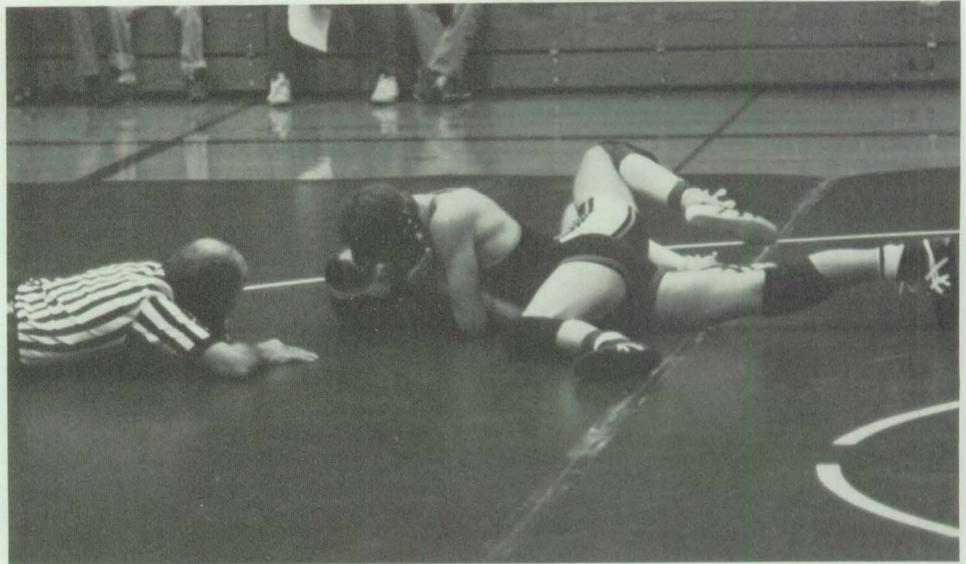

The reserve team had a very successful season also. It closed the season with a 9-0-1 record. Junior Christian Fox, at 138 lbs., went undefeated this season by pinning all his opponents.

Varsity Basketball

"This year's team was very exciting to watch," said Coach Terry Martin. And in fact, this was a very exciting season for the Argylls. The team went 12-8, the best record since the 1978-79 season. Although the Argyll team was small, it beat many taller teams using a strong fast-break offense.

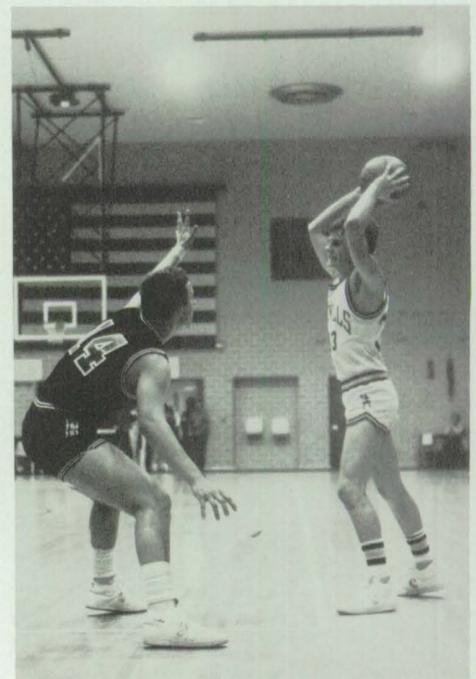

The highlight of the season was a comeback victory over county rival Oak Hill in the Marion sectional. This was the second straight year that the Argylls have made it to the finals at the Marion sectional.

Madison-Grant was led by county scoring leader Joe Schweitzer. Other players contributed greatly to the success of the Argylls. Randy Mathews played a strong all-around game throughout the season, and Tom Mack came on strong to become the best improved player for the Argylls. Both Mark Rogers and Tom Brunt were also consistent players and helped the team considerably all season. Randy Mathews and Tom Mack were also given Academic All-State Honorable Mention.

"Our players worked very hard this year and certainly earned all the success they achieved," said Coach Martin.

B-Team & Freshman Basketball

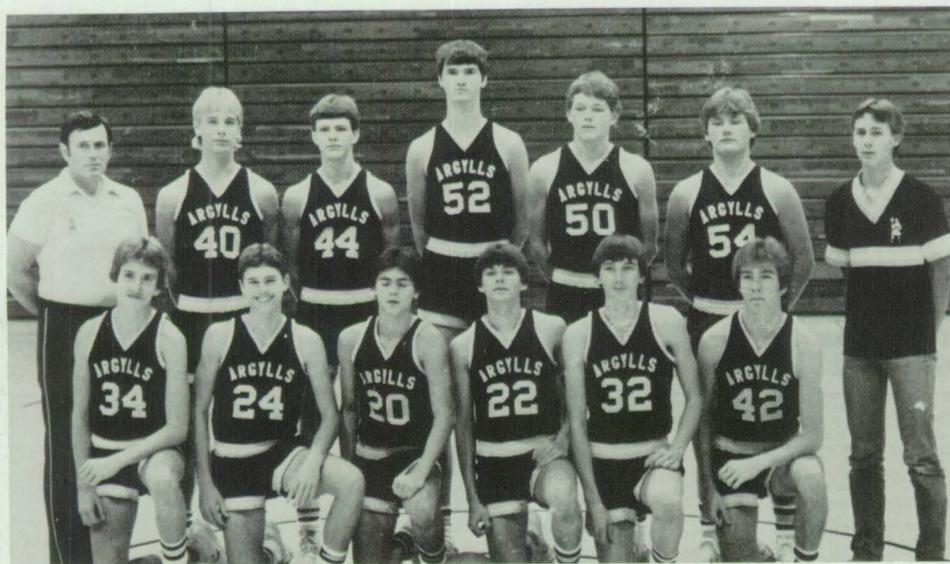

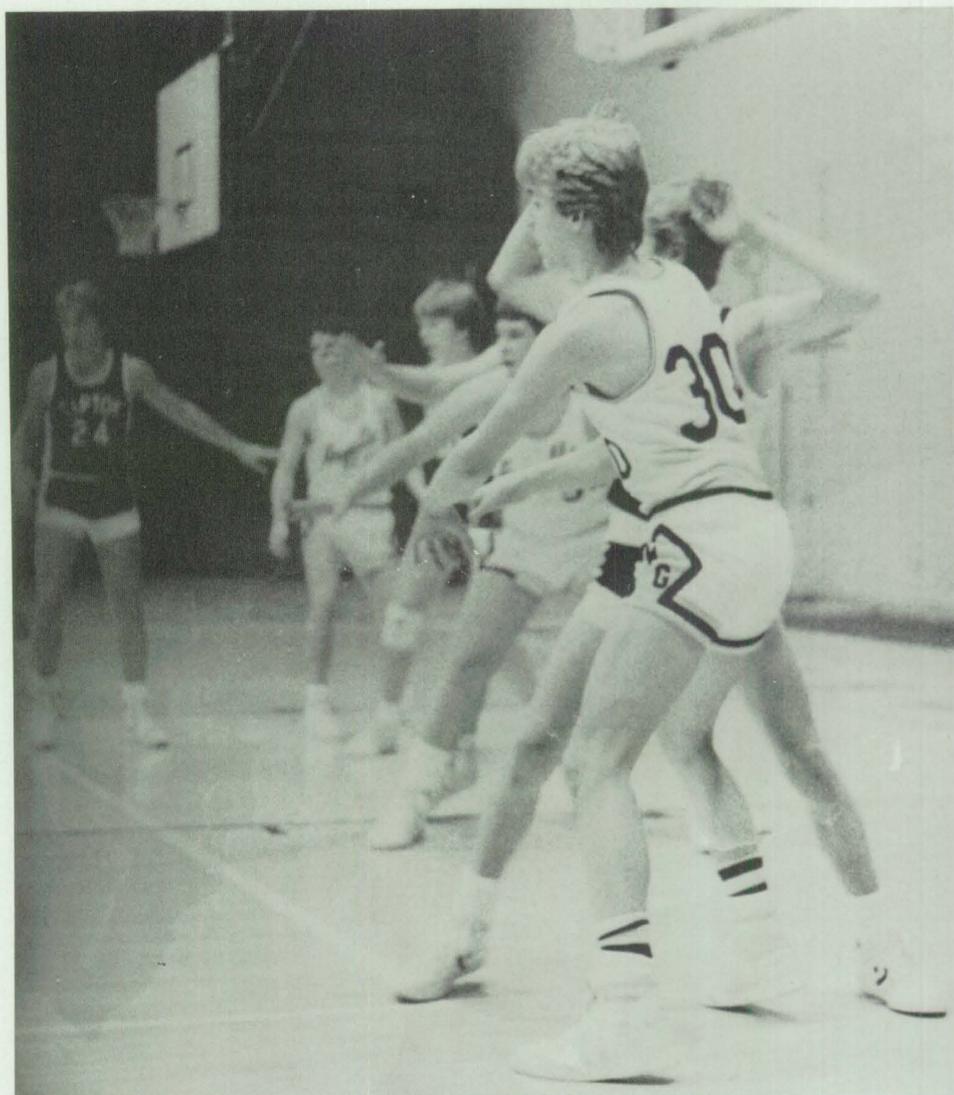

"Although a 6-9 record is not very distinguishing, I feel we had a good season," commented Coach Dave Strasemeier. The team played better than its record showed. The Argylls lost some close games by only one or two points. "Winning is more fun than losing, but on the jr. varsity level we sometimes sacrifice winning for playing time. The problem is that many times we have to look at how each player will be improved in one or two years and not where he is now," added Coach Strasemeier.

There were a couple of JV players who saw varsity action mid-way through the season. Overall the team played very well and can look forward to many exciting seasons to come.

"We accomplished some goals, found out what our strengths and weaknesses were, and gained valuable experience and confidence," Strasemeier concluded.

The freshman team, coached by Brian Kirkwood, had a somewhat disappointing season ending the year with a 6-9 B-team record. But with the talent at the freshman level, the Madison-Grant basketball program has a solid future.

Girl's Basketball

The 1984-85 girl's basketball team was one of the most successful in Madison-Grant's history. The girls under Coach Bob Holloway, took a 9-7 record into the sectional and returned champions. The Argylls advanced to the finals at the Marion Sectional and defeated the Marion Giants girl's team 57-55. The girls performed well at the Huntington Regional, but they were defeated in the first game.

Team leaders this year were seniors Kim Grose and Shelley Smith, and sophomores Robin Scott and Robin Nelson. These individuals carried the team through the season and into the Marion Sectional. Grose, Smith, and Scott were all chosen for the CHRONICLE TRIBUNE all-sectional team, with Scott being named MVP.

TENNIS

The Madison-Grant girl's tennis team had a rather discouraging season this year. The lady Argylls ended with a 4-9 regular season record.

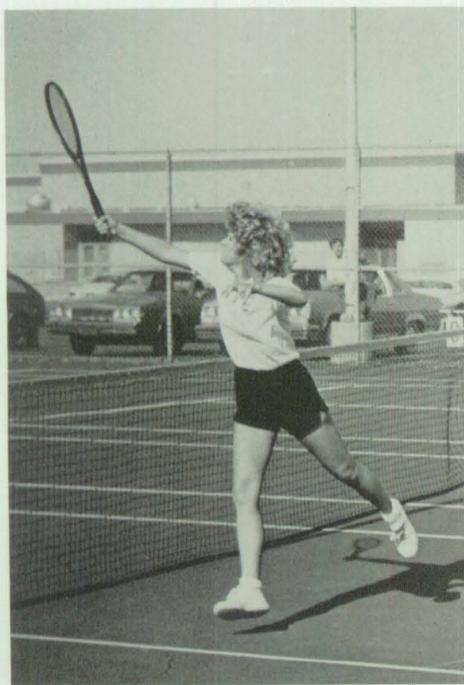

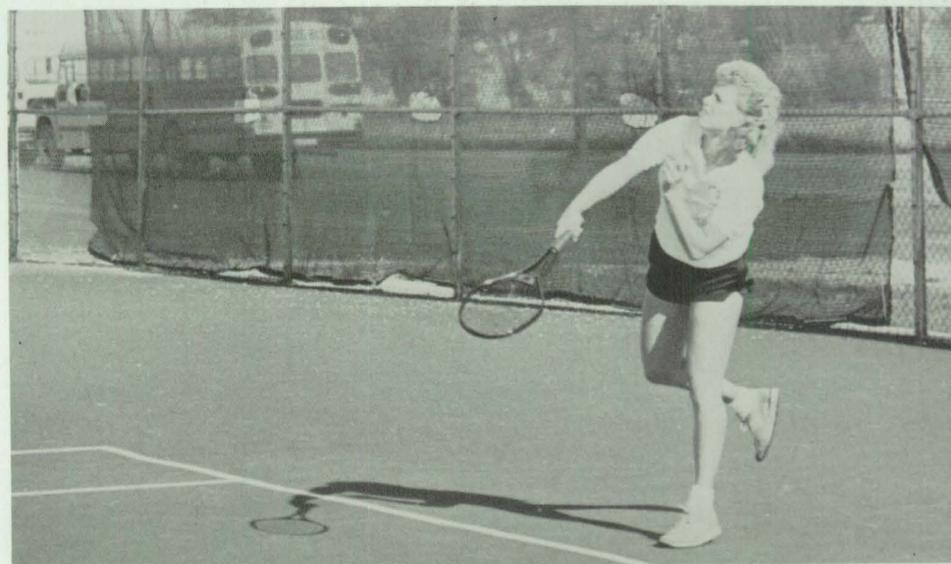

With only two seniors on the team, Madison-Grant had a very unexperienced team.

Despite the final record, there were some bright spots for the Argylls. The Argylls tied for third place with Mississinewa in the Central Indiana Conference. Charisse Fox and Shelley Smith at the number one doubles spot had a good season with a 10-6 record. Charisse and Shelley also shared the teams Most Valuable Player award.

With such a young team, the Argylls should have many successful seasons, as they are losing only two seniors.

Boys Tennis

The 1984-85 Agryll tennis team concluded with a very successful season, setting a new school record with a 12-5 season finish. This finish broke the record set by last year's 11-6 team.

"We had a good season over all, but the CIC was a disappointment," said number one doubles player, Curt Monts. Despite the disappointing CIC tournament finish, the Argylls ended with a 5-1 CIC record. The Argylls were also runners-up in the finals of the Marion Sectional for the second straight year. "Since it was our senior year, we were really hoping for a better CIC tournament finish," said number one singles player, Matt Hurt.

The future looks promising for the Argylls. The B-team ended its season with a strong 10-4 record and a 6-1 CIC finish.

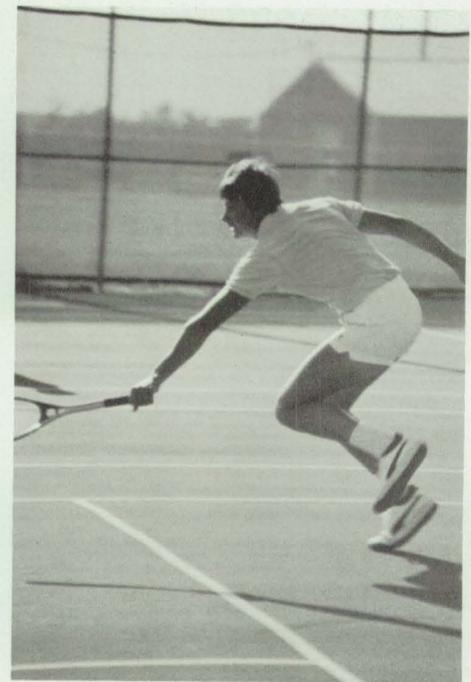

The varsity was led by number one singles Matt Hurt, number two singles J.D. Hunt, number three singles Chad Warren, number one doubles Andy Hoppes and Curt Monts, and number two doubles Ed Bosworth and Tad Guyre.

Gymnastics

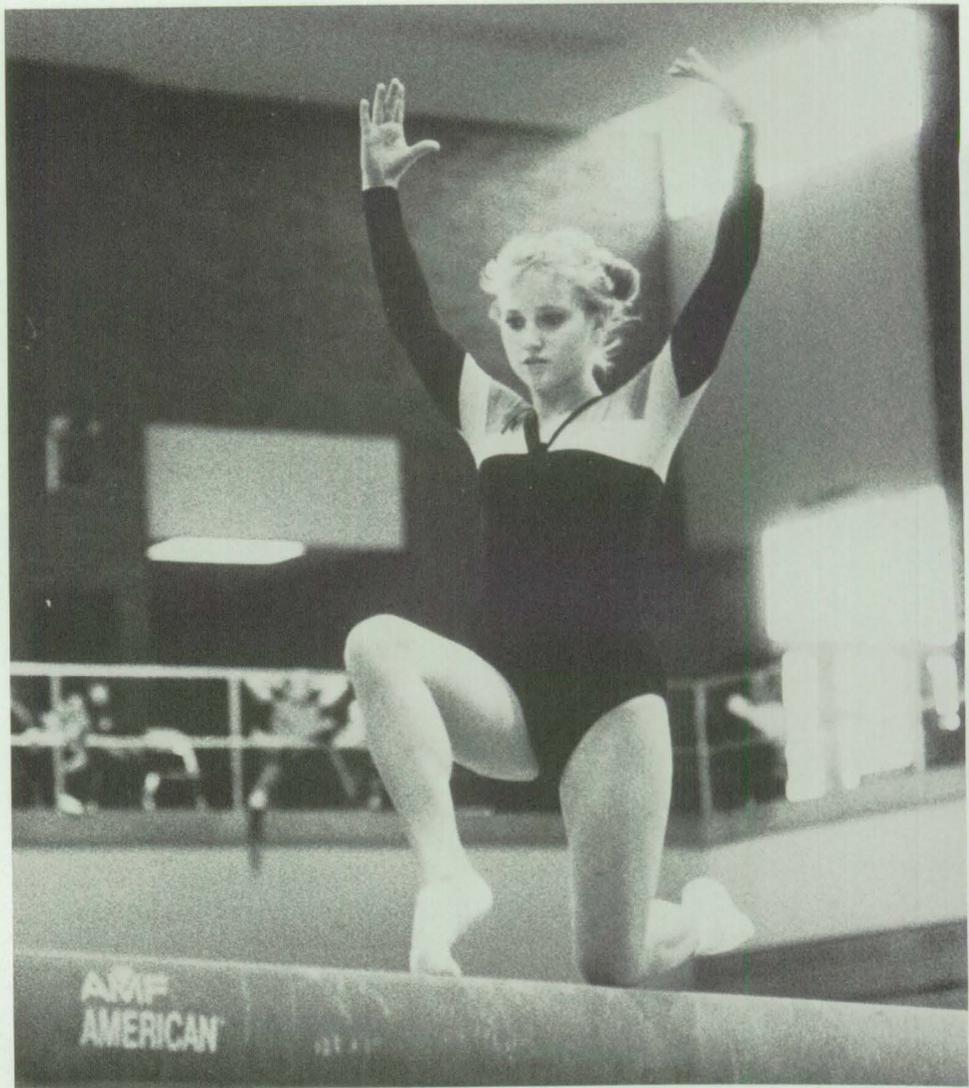

The Madison-Grant gymnastics team had a very encouraging season finishing 3-3 at the intermediate level and 4-2 at the optional level.

"This is probably the strongest optional team Madison-Grant has ever had. With the trend in gymnastics moving towards the optional level, we emphasized competition at the optional level for as many girls as possible," said Coach McClurg.

The team over-all had a very good year, and individually, several girls excelled in different events. Senior Dawn Floyd was the best all-around gymnast for the Argylls. Dawn excelled in all optional events. Junior Annette Retherford had a very good season placing second in the sectional and advancing to the regionals. Annette was the team's number one gymnast at optional beam. Tina Underwood, another senior scored well throughout the year, but did exceptionally well on optional floor. Senior Carolyn Wright had a very good season at the intermediate level. Carolyn placed first in every season meet and intermediate floor.

With only three seniors graduating from this year's team, the Madison-Grant gymnastics team can look forward to an exciting season next year.

TRACK

The 1985 track season was a rather disappointing season for the boy's and girl's track teams.

The boy's team had a record of 0-14 and had a 7th place finish in the CIC meet. The Argylls were very young this year, with only four seniors on the team. When asked about the 1985 season, Coach Kurt Hackney commented, "We improved steadily over the season and with more participants and more maturity, this team will improve."

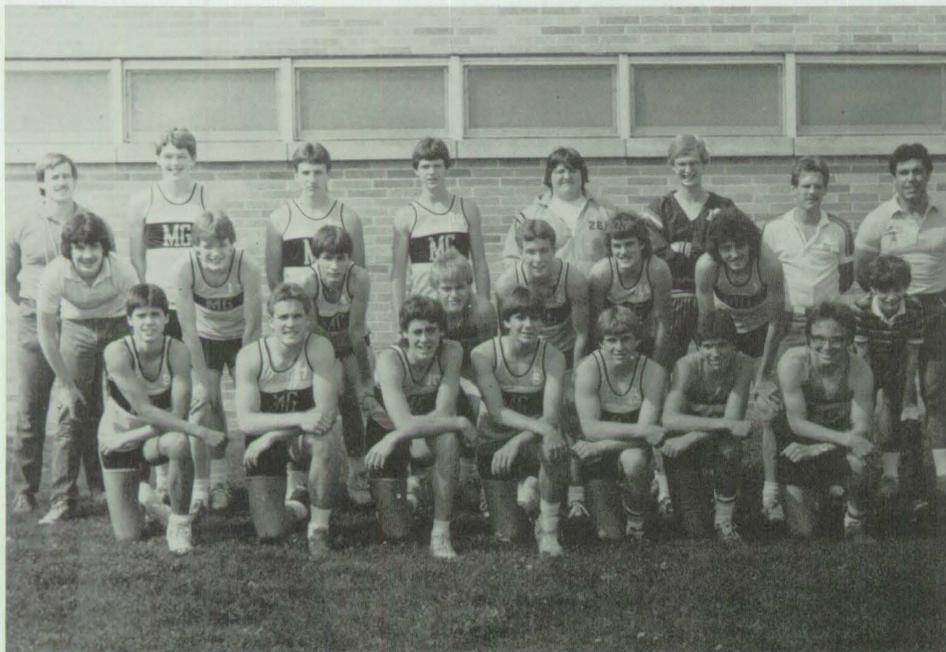

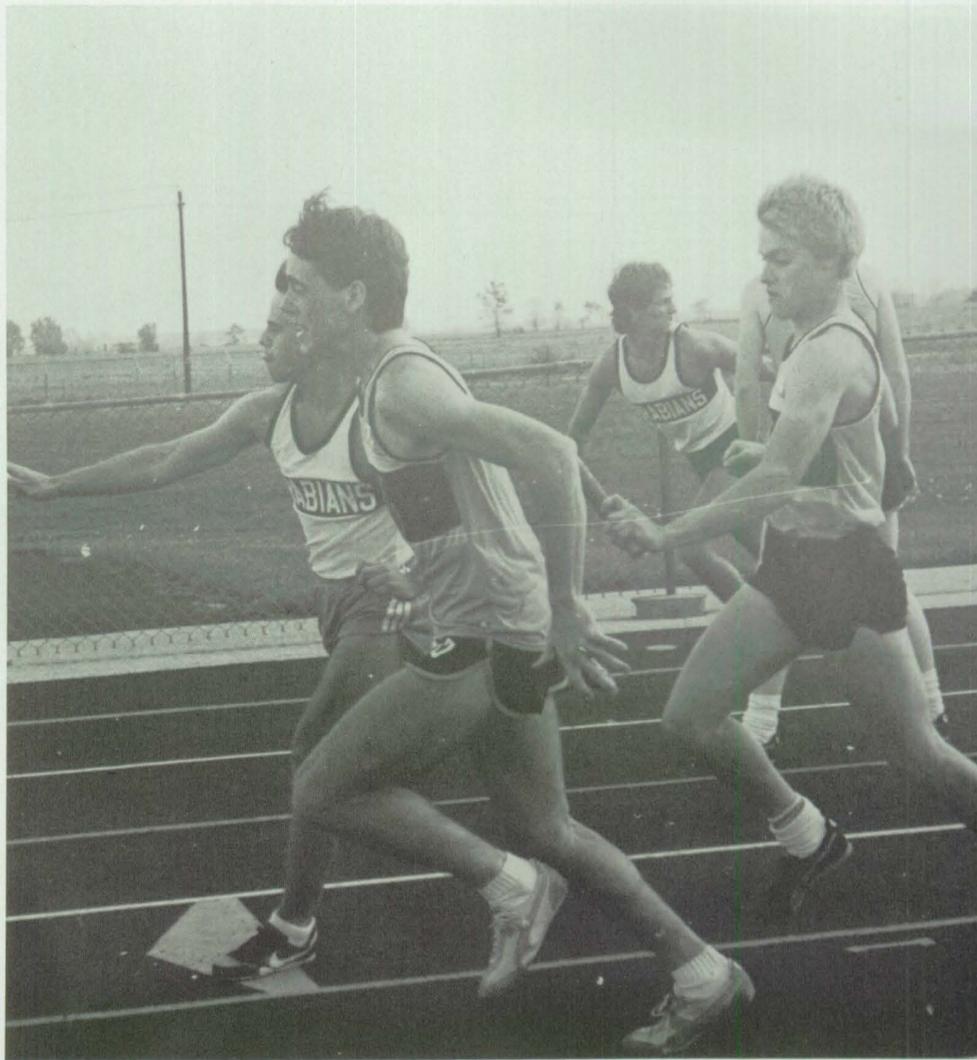

The leading point winners were junior Scott Craw, seniors Scott Tubbs and Joe Small, and freshman Greg Beeson.

The girl's track team had a better year ending the season with a 7-11 record. The highlight of this year's season was a 3rd place finish in the CIC meet. Several girls placed high in the meet to give the Argylls the 3rd place finish.

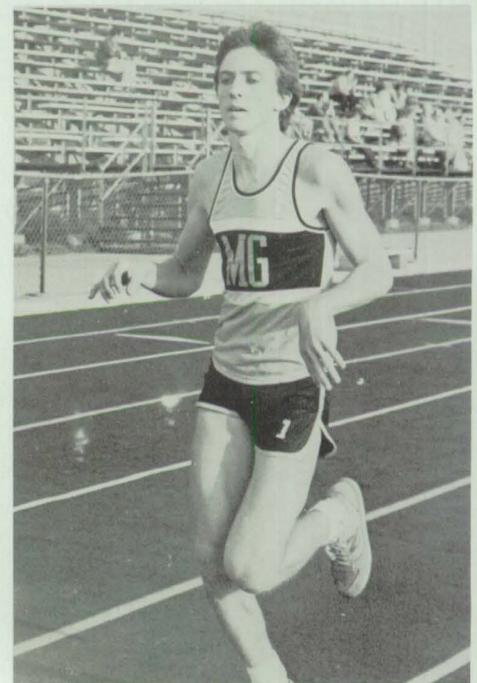

Seniors Sherry Stitt, 300 meter hurdles, and Shelley Smith, 400 meter dash, and junior Jill Kelich, discus and shot, were the leading points scorers for the Argylls.

"Although our field events were strong, we lacked team depth," said Coach McClurg. The girls also had a young team with only four seniors as well.

The future looks bright for the Argylls as Coach McClurg predicts improvement with maturity over the next few years.

VARSITY BASEBALL

The varsity baseball team travelled to the northern edge of Tennessee to play baseball during the "Spring Break". The Argylls played five games in four days, losing four and winning one. The won-lost record was not that important because all of the players played every game. This year's record was 11 wins, 14 losses, and 1 tie.

This year's team has made some big improvements from the first of the year. The pitching has improved to the point that they have not allowed an earned run in 23 consecutive innings. Joe Schweitzer (1.85 era), Matt Hurt (3.41 era), and Gary Frye (2.60 era) have been our most consistent pitchers.

The highlights this year were victories over Blackford and Mississinewa. Mississinewa was ranked 17th in the state when the Argylls beat them.

Dewayne Collins (.389) has been consistent in batting and fielding. Greg Gibson (.371 four home runs) is our big RBI man along with handling the catching duties. Gary Frye (.293 and 14 RBI's) has helped with the bat as well as pitching. Mark Rennaker (.391), Bill Robbins (.356), Charlie Williams (.358), and Tom Brunt (.353) have put this team in a position to rank among the all time teams in batting average (.313)

Cheerleaders

This summer all cheerleading squads from Madison-Grant attended camps.

The freshman squad attended an All-Star Cheerleading Conference. The squad received many ribbons and a first place finish in the final competition.

Junior varsity cheerleaders did very well at an ICF (International Cheerleading Foundation) camp at Notre Dame. During their one week stay, they received twelve ribbons for a variety of accomplishments. The girls also received the Grand Champion award for a dance routine and Grand Champion in the final competition.

The varsity squad traveled to Cincinnati, Ohio to attend an ASCC camp. The girls received a first place award for their performance in the final competition. The varsity squad also received the over-all spirit award and the Grand Champion award. Kathy Brown won the title of Miss All-Star at the camp and Dawn Floyd was recommended for staff next year.

The j.v. and varsity squads teamed up this year to be the varsity football cheerleaders. They entered the Indiana State Fair cheerleading contest and won third place out of 58 state-wide squads. This combined squad also entered a contest sponsored by Greenwood Park Mall and Q-95. M-G cheerleaders were chosen as one of the final four to compete at Market Square Arena.

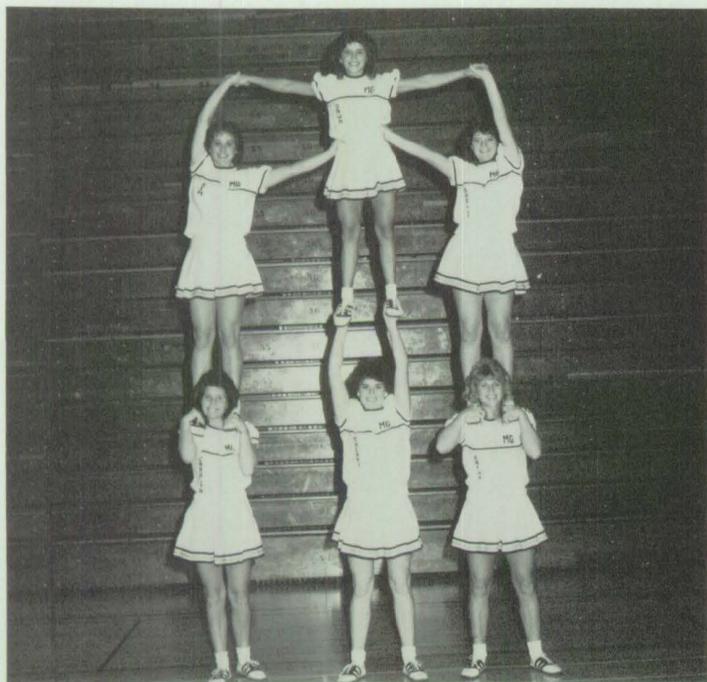

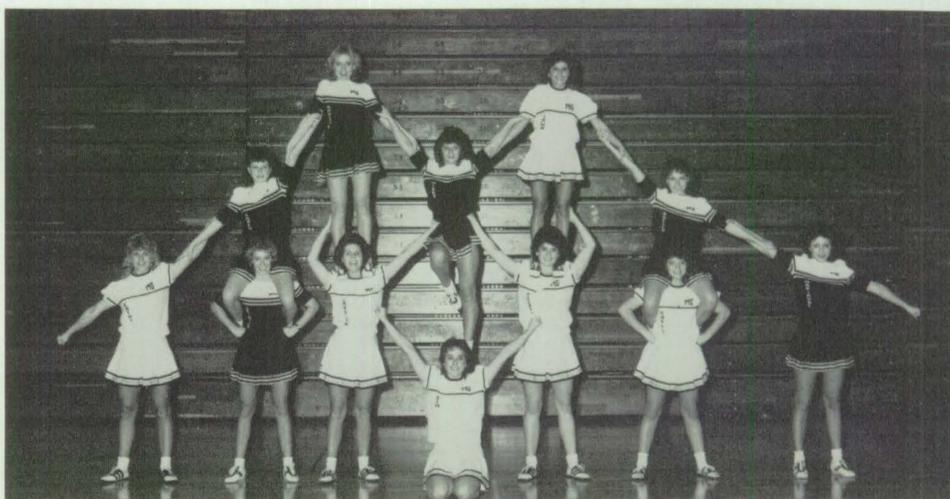

At this final competition, the M-G cheerleaders won first place.

The M-G Matmaids consisted of a group of girls who traveled with the wrestling team to support the M-G wrestlers.

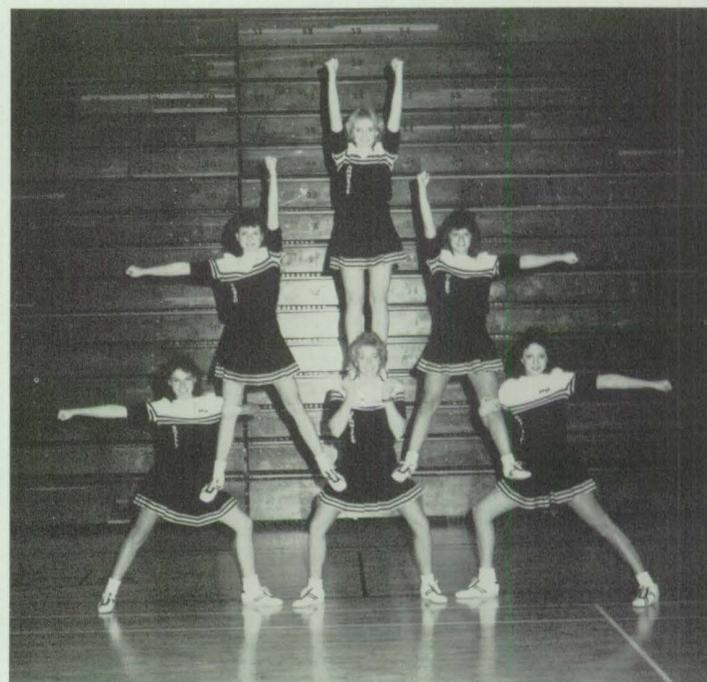

Outside of cheering for the Argylls, the Matmaids had other tasks. At home meets the girls were responsible for assembling and disassembling the wrestling area, making announcements, and taking statistics.

Varsity Football

The 1984 Varsity Football team ended its season with a 3-7 record. Coach Badger felt that teamwork made up a very unified team. The most outstanding game was the Homecoming game against Peru. The Argylls, 26-7 in the fourth quarter, scored three touchdowns to beat the Tigers 27-26. After being asked what seemed to spur the team on during the fourth quarter of the Peru game, Badger said, "The team members seemed determined to prove what they were capable of doing. They have worked hard to earn the school's and communities' respect. This hard work, determination, and desire truly paid off in this tremendous victory."

Chosen to the All-County first team offense were seniors, Rodney Kibbey, Brian Stevens, Thad Shelton, and David Short. Juniors were Charlie Williams and Bill Robbins.

This year's team captains were seniors Thad Shelton and John Rogers, and junior Mark Rogers.

The Academic All-State title winners were Roger Meisner, special mention; Randy Mathews, honorable mention.

Freshman Football

The freshman Argyll football team had a very successful season. It missed an undefeated season by only one point with a loss in an exciting game against a strong Eastbrook team.

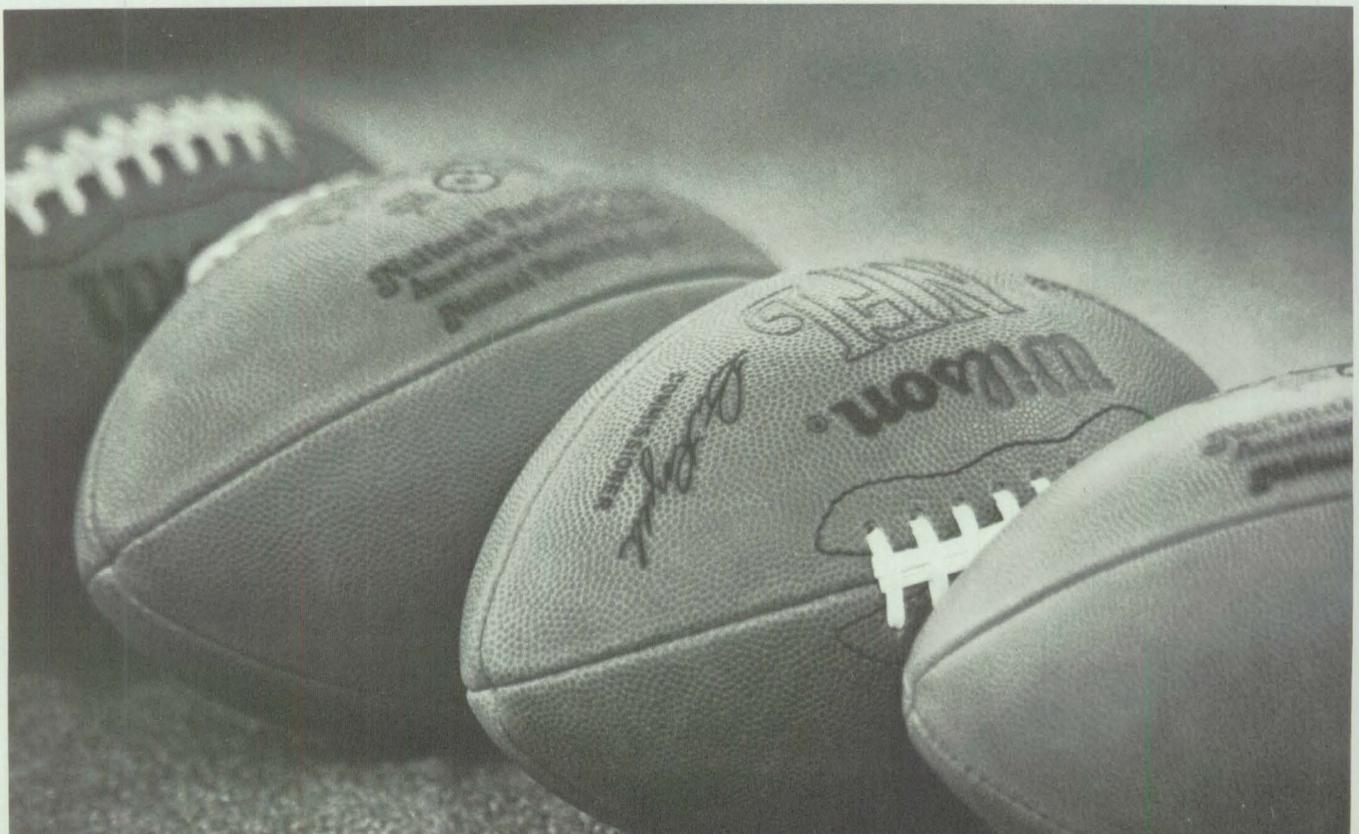

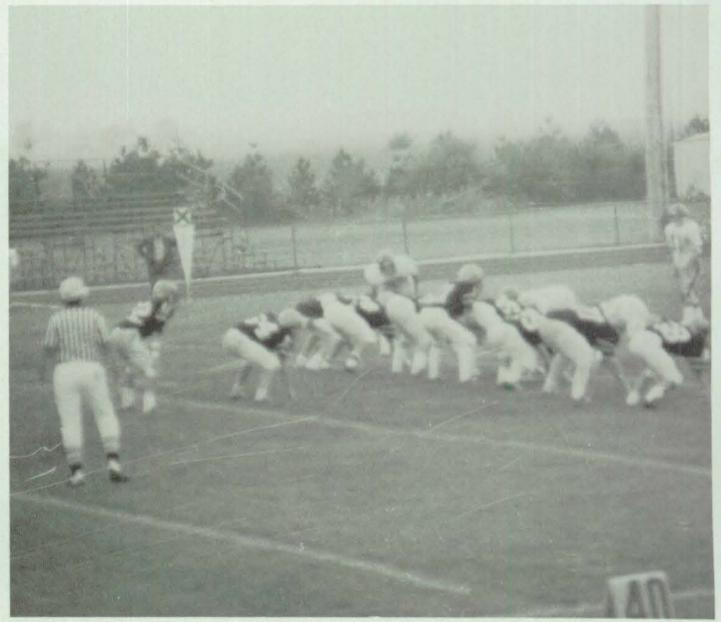

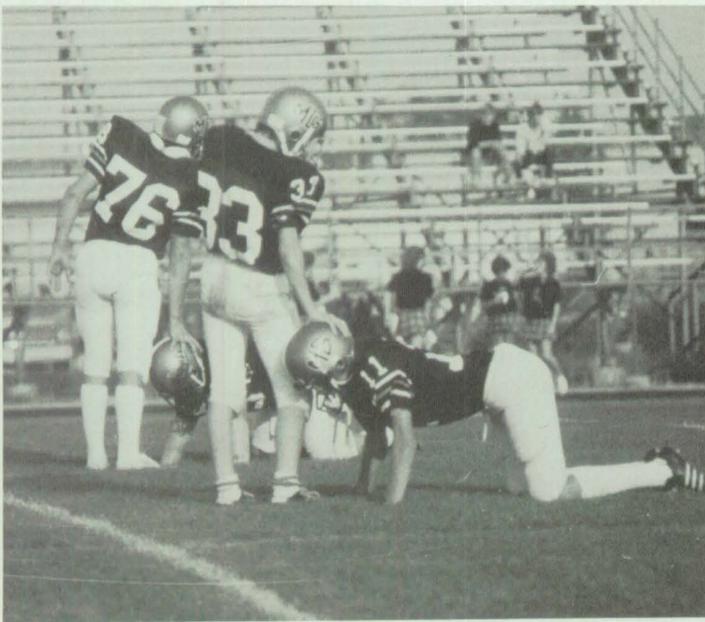

The coaching staff felt that the team earned its success with hard work and practice. The freshmen are expected to contribute greatly to the Argyll varsity team in the next few years.

Under Construction

The building of the new junior high is now underway.

The cost of the junior high building, Park elementary classroom additions, high school roof, elevator, and auditorium is estimated at 6.6 million dollars. The money for the building project comes from the school corporation cumulative building fund, interests earned on investments, and $4 million bond issue. Principal Martin comments that this will not affect teachers' wages.

The junior high should be ready in August, 1986. Some areas will be completed sooner.

Three major changes could happen. First, the high school and junior high could change from a six to a seven period day. Second, high school teachers could share teaching responsibilities. Third, the high school and junior high could share facilities with one another.

Over the next two years, the construction project might bring about some inconveniences.

Mr. Martin stresses that, "With everyone's practice, understanding, and cooperation, this project will be a success."

SUPERINTENDENT, Don Inglis, and other board members break the first ground for the new school.

Spring Break

Spring break was spent in a variety of ways by M-G students. Traveling was part of many vacationers plans this spring break. Most students traveled with friends, family, a church or school organization.

Once again Campus Life went to Florida. While in Florida students enjoyed a day at Disney World, the beach, St. Augustine, and the Wet-n-Wild waterslides. Students spent most of their time at Lake Swan Camp where they went swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, laying out in the sun, attending meetings, and making new friends.

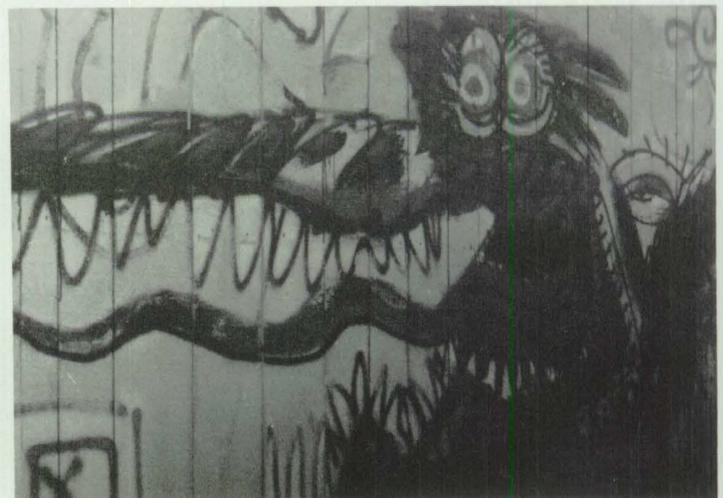

Other M-G students traveled with Mrs. Herring and Mrs. Jackson to Europe. While in Europe, the students visited the Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame, Versailles, and the Palace of the Popes in Avignon. The group also saw the French Riviera, and the Italian and Swiss Alps.

J.D. Hunt and Ty Seward traveled to Mexico with Marion, Lafayette, and Oxford, Ohio Schools. They toured Mérida, Uxmal, Chichénitza, and Cancan.

Other students stayed at home, relaxed, and spent time with family and friends.

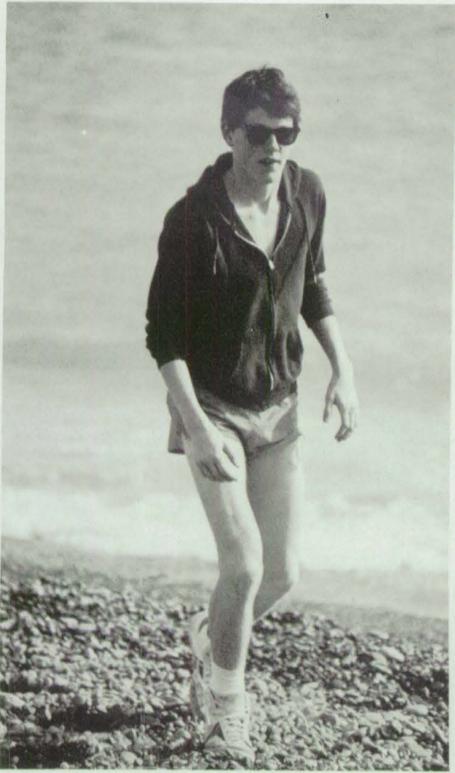

SOME of the girls from M-G relax after a busy and exciting day in St. Augustine.

WHILE on the French Riviera, Sam VanNess takes a stroll on the rocky beach.

SOME students that went to Europe dip their toes in the icy cold Mediterranean Sea.

Inspiration

The words "You're the Inspiration" meant a variety of things to each couple at the 1985 Jr./Sr. Prom that was held at the Marion Inn in Marion.

The evening of dancing, talking and just being together, started at nine o'clock. Tables were decorated with candles, balloons, booklets and napkins for the couples, around the pool area. Mints, nuts, cake and punch were furnished for everyone to enjoy. Pictures were taken by Bill Meyers Photography and the music was once again provided by D.O.C. Entertainment of Anderson.

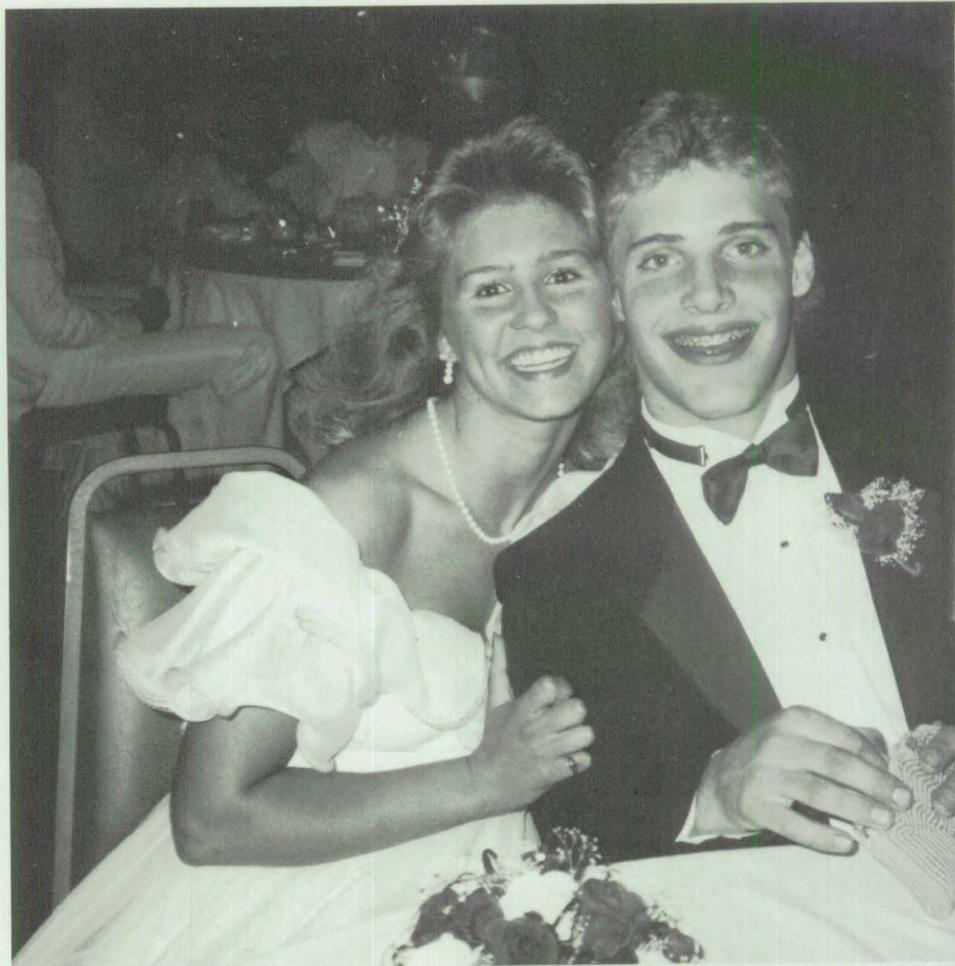

Joel Hunt, Junior class officer welcomed everyone to the prom and wished everyone an enjoyable evening. Jane Huntzinger gave the invocation. Junior class president Mark Rogers presented the prom to the senior class on behalf of the junior class.

Senior class president, Shelly Matchett accepted the prom.

Prom Queen candidates were Jamie Eastburn, Dawn Floyd, Charisse Fox and Julie Hensley. Prom King candidates were Keith Callahan, John Rogers, David Short, and Brian Stevens. Charisse Fox and Keith Callahan were crowned 1985 Prom Queen and King.

The Senior class sponsors were Mr. Robert Bach, Mrs. Joyce Burnett, and Mrs. Melody Hull. The junior class sponsors were, Mrs. Sally Herring, Mrs. Jill Miller and Mr. Robert Palmer.

BRIAN Stevens and Julie Hensley enjoy a great evening at the prom.

Twelve Years Finally Completed

On May 24, 1985, one hundred and fifty-one tassles were proudly shifted from left to right.

Tears filled the eyes of graduates, families, and underclassmen that attended. There were tears of happiness and sadness; a new beginning and a traumatic end.

As the band performed "Pomp and Circumstance," the seniors knew they had to start making some definite decisions concerning college, careers, and goals that would affect them for the rest of their lives.

"It is really scary to wake up and realize that you are expected to make adult decisions and the crazy times you have in high school are over," was Brenda Martin's sentiment.

The graduates know that every good thing must come to an end, which may include the security of school. Even though many students anticipated this night, it was still difficult to leave the school and memories behind.

Graduation is just another turning point in life. It is what we strive twelve years to achieve.

GRADUATION

Night of Honor

MR. Bach awards Garin Gough with the outstanding Algebra I award.

Madison-Grant students were honored on May 15, 1985, for excellent academic achievements. Principal Larry Martin opened the Awards program by welcoming everyone and commending the students on their hard work.

Shelley Smith received the School Good Citizenship Award. Dawn Hendricks received the Madison-Grant Classroom Teachers Scholarship Award. Jane Huntzinger and Joel Hunt were the recipients of the I Dare You Award. Mrs. Adeline Nall presented Brian McGee with the James Dean Award.

The 1985 Today's Teens shown in the CHRONICLE-TRIBUNE, were Kim Coder, Kristy Hamilton, Dawn Hendricks, Greg Gwaltney, Michelle Matchett and Brian McGee.

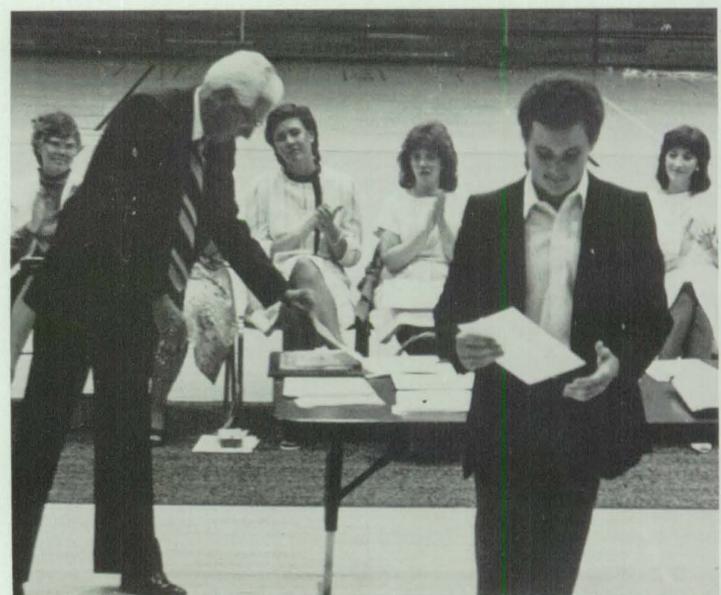

Many scholarships were presented to seniors at the program. Michelle Hannah received the Byron & Mary Traster Scholarship. Leah Patton received the Edith Hull Scholarship. Hoosier Scholarship recipients were Dawn Hendricks, Brian McGee, Diana Davis and Kristy Hamilton. Brian McGee was also the recipient of the National Merit and the Dwight D. Eisenhower Scholarships.

The Merrill E. Holloway Scholarship was given to Shelley Smith. John Rogers received the Max Leisure Scholarship. Kristy Hamilton and James Bragg were the recipients of the T. Stanton Gaby Scholarships. Kim Coder and Tom Mack were presented with the Lydia A. and James H. Blair Scholarships.

On that special night there were a lot of awards given to many deserving, hard-working students.

LORRA Zumbum receives a Certificate of Excellence for painting.

JIM Bragg walks away with the Marion Exchange Youth Award.

MR. Earnest presents the Biology I award to Alice Gibson.

AMY Simpson receives a Health Occupations Education Scholarship.

MR. Martin and Mr. Eversman take a great interest in the awards banquet.

Yearbook

Looking through a book with print, pictures, and artwork may mean little to some people, but a yearbook requires more than these few characteristics. A yearbook should signify patience, hard work, determination, talent, friendships, and most of all memories that will last a lifetime. This yearbook was not put together out of duty, but out of those six major qualities. As you open the covers of this book in the years to come, please remember that this book was made for you!

We worked hard making this yearbook, but thanks must go to those who helped in the very smallest of ways. We, the yearbook staff, would like to take this chance to thank Waters-Gayle Photography, Sports Hotline, CHRONICLE-TRIBUNE, and the many students and teachers who supplied additional pictures. A special thanks to Mr. Larry Glaze of Herff-Jones, for all of his help and expert advice, and to Miss Debra Harris, for her time, patience and hard work.

Most of all, we would like to thank the people, without whom there would be no yearbook. Those people are you: the faculty and student body of Madison-Grant High School!
